She gave a brief background of the aide program and explained how meeting individual student needs requires more than a single classroom teacher. As funds are cut and consequently aides, parents are needed as volunteers in the school, she explained.

Dr. Mitchell also emphasized the following: parents need to take the responsibility at home for helping their children with skills, parents must give time to children if they want them to succeed, parents must instill in their children the need to take responsibility for their own actions, and an atmosphere of discipline at home is reflected in school behavior.

Decisions Made On Funding For Food, Shelter

Local governments have made decisions on the use of $706,000 in one-time federal funds for the provision of emergency food and shelter assistance in Maryland, according to an announcement by Ruth Massinga, State Secretary of Human Resources. The funds are part of the Emergency Jobs Act (Public Law 98-8) enacted by Congress last March.

Allocations were made by DHR in June of this year to all counties and Baltimore City, according to a formula based on the unemployment rate, the poverty level, and the number of unemployed persons in each area. Community agencies in each of the political subdivisions will administer the funds. Local projects may include: emergency shelter programs providing short-term shelter, either directly or by voucher; emergency food programs using vouchers for the purchase of meals and groceries, as well as the provision of group meals; and limited rent and mortgage payment assistance in order to forestall eviction. The programs will operate only until local funds are exhausted.

Garrett County's allocation was $15,871, which will be administered by the Garrett County Community Action Agency.

Persons requesting emergency shelter must be homeless and without resources in order to be eligible. To receive emergency food assistance, persons must be without resources and be either unable to purchase food, have exhausted other food resources or have pending eligibility for other food programs, such as the Food Stamp program.

To be eligible for rent or mortgage payment subsidy, persons must be either: unemployed; recently employed without sufficient available wages to meet mortgage or rent payments; on a fixed income; or recently and unexpectedly without a second income. An eviction or mortgage delinquency notice must be furnished at application. Recipients may receive all or part of the delinquent rent or mortgage payment, not to exceed one monthly charge.

For additional information and to apply for assistance under these programs, persons may contact Garrett County CAC at 334-9431.

Evening Planned To Acquaint Youth With 4-H Program

An informational and recruitment program will be held in the cafeteria at Dennett Road School at 7 p.m. on Monday, October 24, and will be hosted by the Dennett Road Runners 4-H Club.

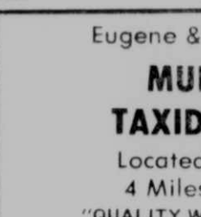
During the evening, a slide series explaining the 4-H program in Garrett County will be presented by Alice Hevner, extension agent, 4-H and youth. A project demonstration and a display of 4-H projects and literature will also be part of the evening program.

The event is planned to inform youth, ages 8-18, and adults what procedures are used to become a 4-H member in one of Garrett County's 21 community clubs or how to start a club in their own community.

For more information, persons may call the Extension Service at 334-2145.

Local Election Personnel Attend State Meeting

All members and substitute members of the Garrett County Board of Elections Supervisors were in Annapolis October 9 through 11 to attend a pre-federal election meeting.



Attending from here were Roscoe Swiger, James Brady and Ernest Spoerlein, election supervisors; and substitutes George Shawley and David Beard. Fred Sanders, election clerk-registrar, and Carol Paugh, election registrar, were among those learning of all changes in state and federal election laws.

FFA Region I Update Meeting Held Oct. 10

The FFA Region I Update Meeting was held October 10 at Clear Spring High School. Many points of business were brought up by the Maryland State Officers, who presided over the meeting.

Organization is being started for a Maryland FFA Foundation. There will be a Board of Trustees and a Regional Sponsoring Committee, both involving an active FFA member.

WINNING FIRST PLACE in the recent Region I FFA Land Judging Competition was the team representing the Oakland FFA Chapter. Team members included, left to right, Ted Evans, Richard Lee, Lee Green, Troy Liller, and Steve Paugh. The team now advances to the State Land Judging Competition, which will be held this Saturday, October 22, at Linganore High School.

Cost and activities were discussed concerning the National FFA Convention held in Kansas City, November 8-13. Some guest speakers will include Zig Zigler, Charlie Pride and Willard Scott.

The membership voted to keep the Dairy and Poultry Judging Contest at the National Level. Those contests may be dropped in 1985.

An amendment to the National Constitution was voted on by the chapters represented. The amendment, concerning FFA membership, threatened to make some members ineligible. The amendment was voted down.

Many important dates of FFA activities were outlined by Leonard Custer, state vice president from the Oakland Chapter. Oakland Chapter members in attendance included: Charles Friend, Barry Beachy, George Snyder, John Evans, Lee Green, Chuck Fitzwater, Patricia Hamilton, Karen Hamilton, Criss Kepple, Ann Lohr, Wendy Beitzel, Marsha Custer and Sherri Wilt.

Milk Production Statistics Noted

Dairy farmers in Maryland continued to increase their milk production and herd sizes.

Monthly milk production for the month of September totaled 138 million pounds. This output is a 10 percent increase from September 1981. The number of milk cows increased by 1000 for the second consecutive month to 124,000. Production per cow averaged 1,110 pounds, an increase of seven percent from two years ago.

Farmers fed an average of 15.5 pounds of grain and concentrates per day per milk cow, a slight increase from 1982. The cost of that feed was up sharply, however, totaling $9.35 per hundred-weight compared to $8.00 per 100 pounds a year earlier.

Milk production for the July-September quarter was up five percent from 1982, totaling 413 million pounds.

Winterize Your Ornamental Landscape Plants

Now is the time to start preparing your outdoor plants for winter. Over the years I have had a lot of people tell me that their plants froze to death. Actually, in most cases they died of thirst. Although the physiological process of a plant slows down considerably in cold weather, they still must have water to live. This is particularly true with evergreens such as rhododendron, yews, holly, etc. When the ground freezes and the winter winds blow across the plant, the water leaves or evaporates faster than the roots can provide for. The end result is a damaged or dead plant. So, what can you do? First of all make sure that your plants have a good supply of water in the root zone ares. This is particularly important this year due to the dry conditions. Don't be afraid to water your plants frequently during a cold open winter. Secondly, for sensitive plants, protect them from the winter winds. Three methods I usually recommend are: (1) Wrap the plants with burlap. Use one layer tied with soft string. Do not use any type of plastic material for wrapping. (2) Construct a windbreak in front of the plant. (3) Spray with "Wilt Pruf" in November when temperatures are above freezing. This material forms a plastic coating which cuts down on water loss from the plant. Caution—this material may cause a blue spruce to turn green for a year or so. Snow on top of the plant also serves as a good insulator; however, excess weight can cause breakage.

List Of Eligible Voters For ASC Elections Posted

A list of the names of all known eligible persons to receive ballots in the upcoming annual ASC committee election is available in all the county ASCS offices, reports William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Farmers began nominating candidates for the ASC election on October 6.

ASCS, an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is responsible for farm program administration. On the local level, ASCS operates under a farmer-elected committee system. This year's elections will be by mail ballot between November 25 and December 5. Voters may also get ballots at their County ASCS Office.

Anyone who meets the following requirements is eligible to vote in these farmer committee elections: any individual of legal voting age with an interest in a farm as owner, tenant, or sharecropper who is eligible to participate in any ASCS program.

Several general provisions relate to ASCS voter eligibility. A wife who operates a farm with her husband can vote if her name is on the deed of conveyance. Any person under legal voting age can vote if he or she runs a farm, a legal guardian who runs a farm for a child can vote for the child. No person can be denied the right to vote because of race, sex, age, color, religion, or national origin.

A person may cast a ballot in any county in which he or she is an eligible ASC voter, but she cannot vote in more than one community in the county. If an eligible voter has separate farm interests in more than one community in the same county, special care will be taken to see that only one ballot is issued to that voter.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our mother and grandmother, Etta C. "Kate" O'Brien who passed away one year ago on October 19th. Safely home, I am home in Heaven, dear ones; Oh, so happy and so bright! There is perfect joy and beauty in this everlasting light. All the pain and grief is over, every restless tossing passed. I am now at peace forever, safely home in heaven at last. Did you wonder I so calmly trod the valley of the shade? Oh! but Jesus' love illuminated every dark and fearful glade. And He came Himself to meet me in that way so hard to read, and with Jesus' arm to lean on, could I have one doubt or dread? Then you must not grieve so sorely, for I love you dearly still. Try to look beyond earth's shadows, pray to trust our Father's Will. There is work still waiting for you, so you must not idly stand, do it now, while life remaineth, you shall rest in Jesus' land. When the work is all completed, He will gently call you home, Oh the rapture of that meeting, Oh, the joy to see you come!

Sadly missed by her sons daughters, grandchildren and great grandchildren

Chemical People Program Slated, Panel Selected

Parents and community leaders are organizing in Garrett County and throughout the state for a head-on confrontation with drug and alcohol abuse among school-age youth.

Following the guidelines of a White House endorsed, national project known as the "Chemical People," citizens will gather in town meetings on the first two Wednesdays in November. They will watch hour-long public television programs designed to inform viewers of the scope of the substance abuse problem and to instruct them in how to approach the problem locally.

Over 150 town meetings will assemble statewide to view the programs on Maryland Public Television and, with the assistance of specialists in the fields of education, law enforcement and/or substance abuse, will organize into local task forces to accomplish specific goals in their communities. In Garrett County, residents are invited and encouraged by local coordinators to meet in the Tiffany Green Room of the Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake, to view the programs which will air on Oakland channel 36, Maryland PBS; channel 13, WQED, Pittsburgh; and channel 24, WWVU, Morgantown, on November 2 and 9 at 8 p.m.

Members of the coordinating panel in Garrett County are: Ed

Judge Thayer Sentences Four

Judge Fred A. Thayer handed down three jail sentences while suspending a fourth during Circuit court preceedings held on Thursday, October 20, in Oakland.

Timothy David Ford, 23, of Crellin, was sentenced to the Department of Corrections two years for robbery and one year for battery, which will run concurrent with the robbery sentence.

According to reports, Ford and a juvenile accomplice attacked and robbed Joseph Trout of Terra Alta, W.Va., on the night of January 31, 1983.

Trout was walking along Route 39, near Zack's Grocery, after his vehicle had been disabled.

Ford turned himself in to sheriff's authorities on February 2. He was charged with robbery and assault and served 79

Oakland Police Investigate Theft At Classie Car

Members of the Oakland Police Department are continuing their investigation into a breaking and entering and theft at Classie Car Company which netted the thieves nearly $3,000 in cash and car stereo equipment.

According to a report filed by Officer John K. Sines, the incident occurred between 1 and 7 a.m. October 21. Entry was made through a rear door off an alley adjacent to the business. After gaining entry, the thieves kicked in the door leading to the room containing the cash register. Approximately $300 was taken from the register, and then the thieves removed $400 from the safe.

Before leaving the building the thief or thieves removed $2,179 worth of car stereos, amplifiers, equalizers, and cassette players.

There were no signs of forced entry at the rear door, the cash register or the safe, according to Officer Sines.

Total loss was estimated at $2,929.75, according to the police report. Assisting with the Market Analysis Planned On State Lands To Determine Tourism Potential

Requests for proposals for a market reconnaisance and analysis to determine whether or not sites on state owned forests and parks in the county would be suitable for development of a tourism/recreational complex will soon be sent to four major mid-eastern cities.

The advertisements will appear in Baltimore, Washington, D.C., Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia newspapers after notification is entered in the November 11 edition of the "Maryland Register."

If any counsulting firms are interested in compiling a study of potential opportunities for tourism/recreational development on Department of Natural Resources land here, they have 30 days to respond.

Development could mean a hotel or motel with conference center, a ski lodge, or anything that would bring tourism and revenue.

According to Harry Hunter, director of recreational and leisure services for the Capital Programs Administration of DNR, the tentative schedule requires that completed proposals be back to DNR by January 3, and the actual study be completed in an additional eight weeks.

A similar study of potential at Green Ridge State Forest in Allegany County has already been completed.

Funding for such studies will be provided by the state, and findings presented to private business entrepreneurs who may desire to construct tourism/convention complexes at a feasible site. The county where such a complex would be located would receive a percentage of the gross receipts of the business.

This is the system used by Prince George's County with the Capital Center, which was built by a private businessman on a National Park commission site.

Rabid Raccoon Found Dead In Farm Pigpen

The county recorded its 17th case of rabies late Tuesday when a raccoon found dead in a pigpen near the King-Wildesen Road was confirmed as rabid by the state health department laboratory in Baltimore.

According to Rodney Glotfelty, rabies prevention coordinator for the county health department, the raccoon was found last Friday in a farm pen housing two sows and approximately ten piglets. Dr. F.D. Custer, field veterinarian for the Maryland Department of Agriculture, said Wednesday that he will keep close observation on the farm livestock for signs of rabies even though preliminary examinations did not disclose puncture wounds on any of the pigs.

Dr. Custer said that in cases of possible farm animal exposure, animals are monitored carefully and the owners take special precautions in the feeding and handling of the animals until enough time has passed to show whether rabies had been contracted. According to national compodium on animal health, the owner may butcher suspected animals within seven days without adverse affects.

Dr. Custer also pointed out that there is no vaccine truly effective with swine, and the cost of inoculating all farm animals is prohibitive for most farmers.

The raccoon was found on the Herbert Wildesen property but no human exposure occurred in the case. This is the 16th rabid raccoon discovered in the county and there has been one rabid house cat reported.

Tonight is the final rabies clinic for house pets. Cats and dogs will be vaccinated against rabies from 5 to 6 p.m. at the Oakland Armory.

Oakland Slates Halloween Parade For October 31

Oakland's annual Halloween parade, sponsored by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, is scheduled next Monday, October 31, at 7 p.m.

Paraders should assemble in front of the Garrett Community College Oakland Center at 6:30 p.m.

Prizes, donated by Oakland merchants, will be awarded at the Oakland fire hall after the parade, and treats will be presented to all children age 12 and under. The treat distribution will take the place of the annual trick or treat which was prohibited by the town council this year.

A bingo, cake walk, games and other entertainment, including music by the local German oompah band, will also take place. The winner of a 19-inch Panasonic color television will also be chosen during the party following the parade. Tickets for the television are available from all Lion's Club members.

All proceeds will benefit the Oakland volunteer fire department.

Contributions to defray the cost of the treat are being accepted at city hall through today, according to Linda Hamm, town clerk.

Open House Set For November 5 At Health Dept.

The public is invited to attend Garrett County Health Department's Open House on Saturday, November 5, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. to celebrate the recent opening of the facility located next to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Persons will be given the opportunity to tour the health department's new clinic rooms and offices that provide Garrett Countians professional services in child health, home health, adult health, mental health, family planning, and maternity. Vital statistic information is also provided. Each of these programs will host a display of its services.

Free screening for blood pressure, glaucoma, vision and hearing will be available after the tour. Persons may also participate in the "Help Yourself to Better Health" exhibit in the new auditorium. There people will determine, with the assistance of computer questionnaires and health department personnel, how their physical health is affected by lifestyle and habits, and how to improve one's health. Refreshments will follow the exhibit in the auditorium.

Persons who have questions about Garrett County Health Department's services may call 334-8111 or 895-5050.

Bradley Manor May Be Vacated By January '85

Bradley Manor, a subject of local controversy for the past two years, may be totally vacant by January 1, 1985 or even earlier, Duane Yoder executive director of Garrett Community Action, said this week.

The families occupying the low-income housing complex outside of Oakland are to be moved out one by one under a new low-income housing program which will use Section 8 housing certificates allocated by HUD.

In July, HUD officials said 100 Section 8 housing certificates have been set aside to the Garrett Community Action Agency for its low-income housing program.

The certificates, about 100 less than the county wanted, have not yet been sent to the county. When they arrive, there will be 35 Section 8 existing housing certificates and 65 mod-rehab.

Yoder said the Bradley Manor residents, down to about 47 families now, will be given first priority and will be kept on a separate list from other applicants for the low-income housing program designed to help low-income families acquire affordable and decent housing.

HUD officials have stipulated that Bradley Manor residents are to be out of the housing complex by 12 months after the county receives the housing certificates.

Community Action staff are now working on a relocation strategy for the Bradley Manor residents which must be approved along with an annual contributions contract before the certificates are awarded, Yoder said. Tenants will be made fully aware of the strategy once developed, he added.

What happens to Bradley Manor after the tenants are out is still a little vague, Yoder indicated, however he has been told one solution would be that the units will still belong to Oakland Associates, the current complex owner, but the land will be turned over to HUD.

Families Await Word On Loved Ones Stationed In Lebanon

Rumors abound throughout the county about Garrett Countians known to be in Beirut, Lebanon, during Sunday's bombing, but no official word has been received about any of them, The Republican learned this morning after contacts to servicemen's families.

Cpl. Glen E. Frazee, son of Dale and Ruth Frazee, Deer Park, is thought to be safe and to have been on helicopter duty away from Beirut at the time of the bombing, but his wife, Teresa Frazee is not ready to believe that word from a "key wife," the spouse of a higher ranking Marine Corps officer who serves as a liaison between wives of lower ranking Marines and officers.

Mrs. Frazee said this morning her sister-in-law contacted a hot line to the Pentagon where she was told Frazee was either in a different barracks or on a boat at the time and was considered to be safe, but Mrs. Frazee still is waiting for more definite word.

Another countian, Earl J. "Moose" Clark, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clark, Sr., Red House, is not thought to be anywhere near Lebanon as some rumors had it early this week. His father said this morning that they just received a card from him yesterday, dated October 11, saying he was near Japan.

"Chances are," said Mr. Clark, "he was not in Beirut Sunday." His son, who has served in the Marines for about three years, is with the air wing section of the Marines under a special classification which he cannot even tell his parents.

The Clarks had not heard from their son for over a month and recently contacted the Red Cross to help them locate him. The Red Cross could provide them with little information other than a message Friday that he was safe. The Clarks have to wait on word from their son and hope that he was still near Japan on Sunday.

Another countian, MM2 Mark E. Edmiston, son of M/Sgt. and Mrs. Jack Edmiston, Friendsville, has been stationed off the coast of Beirut, Lebanon this summer in the naval ship the USS Virginia. Mrs. Edmiston said this morning she was sure her son was still off the coast and was safe. She added that in his last letter of October 12, he wrote their ship would be changing assignments in the next few weeks, so he may even be located somewhere besides Lebanon now.

Persons with any information of servicemen from Garrett County who are in Lebanon are requested to contact The Republican to report any news.

County Gets 2.85 Inches Of Much-Needed Rainfall

Garrett County received a much-needed 2.85 inches of rain during the past seven days, making a start on helping the parched farmlands and water supplies. It has rained every day since last Wednesday, according to Weber's weather station.

Friday brought a deluge of 1.04 inches of rain. The week's high temperature was 54 degrees on Monday, and the overnight low was a chilly 38 degrees both last night and last Thursday night.

High last Wednesday was 51 degrees and there was .44 of an inch of rain. High Thursday was 50 degrees after the previous night's drop to 41. Thursday brought .23 of an inch of rain.

Friday had a "high" of only 43 degrees after the preceding night's low reading of 38, and dropped 1.04 inches of rain.

Saturday continued rainy skies, bringing .92 of an inch of rain along with a high of 45 and the Friday night low of 40. The overnight low Saturday was again 40 degrees and high Sunday was only slightly warmer, topping the thermometer at 53 degrees. Sunday's misty rain amounted to .07 of an inch.

Rain continued Monday, bringing only an additional .05 of an inch. High Monday was 54 after the Sunday night dip to 49. Tuesday's precipitation amounted to .03 of an inch and the high was 49 degrees after the previous night's low of 45.

Overnight low was 38 degrees and an additional .07 of an inch of rain fell.

Search Continues In Finzel For Murder Suspect

A massive search of the Finzel area continues today as authorities search for Dennis Leroy Crowe, 34, who is wanted in connection with the shooting death of a Frostburg man Sunday night.

Authorities began the thorough search Tuesday in the Finzel area after Crowe's Ford pickup was found abandoned there. The search began again this morning at 9 a.m. and includes some 20 Maryland State Police officers from Garrett and Allegany counties; police officers from neighboring Pennsylvania; two K-9 state police units; northern fire and rescue personnel, county deputies, and Department of Natural Resource personnel.

The search is being coordinated by Lt. W.R. Presly of the Allegany barracks of the state police. Local fire companies involved today are Bittinger and Grantsville, while Assistant Chief Deputies Harland Tichnell and Paul Pratt and Deputies D.W. Tucker and Philip Buckel are also aiding in the search.

Warrants have been issued by the Frostburg Police Department charging Crowe with first degree murder, use of a handgun in commission of a felonious crime, assault with intent to murder, attempted murder and use of a second count of use of a handgun in the commission of a felonious crime.

The first call concerning the shooting was received at 11:45 p.m. Sunday when it was reported that William Walter Eichorn, 47, Allegany Street, Frostburg, had been fatally shot in the head at his home. Mrs. Lois Faye Crowe, Crowe's estranged wife, was wounded in the head and stomach and remains in "critical" condition in the intensive care unit at Cumberland's Memorial Hospital. A .45 calibre handgun was used, police reported Monday.

Crowe is described as six feet, three inches tall and weighs about 190 pounds.

Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg, is in charge of arrangements for Eichorn but there will be no visitation at the funeral home. Services will be conducted at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Frostburg, Thursday at 1 p.m.

Local Resident Injured In Fall

Joni J. Miller, 65, of the Pleasanat Valley area, is listed in "fair" condition today at the West Virginia University Medical Center after falling approximately 12 feet through a hayloft.

According to Garrett Central Alarm the accident occurred Saturday at about 3:46 p.m., in Miller's barn located along the Paul Friend Road.

Miller reportedly suffered head and chest injuries and was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad.

He was later transferred to the WVU Hospital in Morgantown.

PT WEEK — At their meeting on October 25, the Garrett County Commissioners signed a proclamation declaring the week of November 1-7 as Physical Therapy Week in Garrett County. This coincides with Physical Therapy Week in Maryland, which is a yearly event proclaimed by Governor Hughes to urge the people of Maryland to become more familiar with the purpose and profession of physical therapy. The American Physical Therapy Association is the professional organization that represents over 36,000 physical therapists nationwide. Physical therapy professionals provide specialized services through evaluation, treatment, education, and research in the restoration of lost bodily functions, as well as prevention or reduction of pain and/or disability. Physical therapists have also assumed a major role in the treatment of musculo-skeletal injuries and neuromuscular diseases. The Physical Therapy Department at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital will be sponsoring an open house on Wednesday, November 2, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The public is invited to attend and have an opportunity to tour the department, view demonstrations of electrical stimulation, evaluation of knee strength on the orthotron, and have an opportunity for free abdominal muscle strength testing. Free brochures will be available on body mechanics and on careers in the physical therapy field. In the photo with Commissioners Ernie Gregg, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey, are, left to right, Ann Devine-King, R.P.T., director of physical therapy at Garrett Memorial; Theresa Stevens, R.P.T., staff therapist; and Helen Taylor, physical therapy aide.

Sanitary Board Has No Quorum

There was not a sufficient number of members present for a quorum of the Garrett County Sanitary Commision October 18, so those present heard a status report on Deep Creek sewer progress before adjourning.

Tom Lash, engineer for Rummel, Klepper and Kahl, told those present of options for the Glendale Bridge sewer line construction, and Jeff Gilbert, project inspector for Greenhorne & O'Mara, gave details on the status of construction.

The commission's next meeting is scheduled November 8 at 8 p.m. in the Grand Jury room of the Garrett County Courthouse in Oakland. Present for last Tuesday's meeting were Harry M. Filemyr, chairman, Lawrence Groves, treasurer, and Wendell Beitzell, sanitary district administration.

Mt. Lake Park Seeking Grant For Sewer Rehab

The town of Mt. Lake Park, through municipal coordinator Wendell Keaton, is seeking a $7,250 grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission to assist with costs of an Environmental Protection Agency project for sewer line repair and replacement.

Total estimated cost fot the project is $145,000 for the project which includes repair or replacement of 4,000 linear feet of collector line, installaton of five manholes and various other repairs. These include patching breaks and manholes as necessary.

Franklin Associates has now been retained by the town to design the sewer rehabilitation, and is expected to complete design by February 28, 1984. Once plans and specifications are approved by the town, the design will be submitted to the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene for approval. Keaton is hopeful the project can be let for bid in early spring of next year.

The contract for design was $5,000, with the town responsible for 12½ percent, or just under $600 total.

EPA, which earlier had indicated the project could not be funded this fiscal year, later determined that since several high priority projects elsewhere had been dropped, Mt. Lake would get some $109,350 in funds for rehabilitation. The town will be responsible for a total local share of approximately $18,000 while the state is expected to provide an equal amount.

According to Keaton, the town anticipates no problem producing the local share although monies were not budgeted for this fiscal year. He said that by the time the construction work in contracted, the town should be in a new fiscal year, and if not, the present budget could be amended to provide the needed funds. The $7,250 sought from ARC would be used to help defray the local cost share.

Seek State Grants

The town is also seeking a grant for the state health department for aid with failing septic systems. Phases I and III of the project have been completed because of the immediate need for the work, but the state had already turned down applications for assistance with these projects. The town officials maintain that they had assurance that state aid would be forthcoming if the work was started before funding was finalized.

Phase II, which will extend the service line along Broadford Road to the Sanders property, has not been started as yet.

If the grant is awarded, the state could provide up to 87 percent of the total costs and the town would be responsible for the remainder.

Town funds were used to correct problems along Broadford Road, at a cost of $10,000, and connection of Youghiogheny Plaza to the town's sewer lines. The latter project was designated Phase III, and cost was over $27,000, according to Keaton.

Man Arrested On Unlawful Use Of Telephone Charges

State Police at the McHenry detachment reported a 19-year-old Garrett County resident was arrested and charged with three counts of unlawful use of the telephone.

Douglas Calvin Soloman, McHenry, was charged by Tfc. Gary Berkebile. He is being held in the Garrett County jail in lieu of $1,500 bond, but has since been released.

Reports indicated Soloman is charged with calling the home of Gary Friend, Friendsville, several times between September 20 and October 7; calling the home of William Spiker, McHenry, between October 7 and 18; and calling the home of Joseph Spiker on October 17. During each incident, police said, the suspect is alleged to have made lewd and indecent suggestions.

Police are also investigating several breakings and enterings in the area.

A breaking and entering and theft occurred at the residence of Gerald Freeman Chambers on the Dave Dixon Road, near Friendsville.

The culprit went through a window and removed two 26" bike wheels and a fishing rod and reel.

A juvenile has since been charged.

Tfc. C.M. Miller was the investigating officer.

The Friendsville Volunteer fire hall was entered on October 23.

Reported missing were two boxes of shotgun shells and four bags of potato chips.

A juvenile was arrested in connection. Tfc. C.M. Miller was in charge of the investigation.

Ralph's Richfood reported the theft of 240 empty soda bottles during the early morning hours of October 23.

There are no suspects in the case. Tfc. L.R. Rosage is continuing the investigation.

Kevin Allen Mickens, McHenry, has been charged by police with assault and battery.

According to police, Mickens allegedly struck John David Parks, of McHenry, about the face resulting in a double fracture to the lower jaw.

The incident occurred on October 20 at a party in the Inlet Motel, also in McHenry.

Tfc. L.R. Rosage was the investigating officer.

The theft of a 1976 Suzuki 250 motorcycle was reported by John David Collins, Oakland.

According to reports, the bike was pushed away from the Collins' property on October 22.

Tfc. L.T. Tracy is the investigating officer.

Destruction of property was reported on October 14, concerning a 1981 Chevy Luv pickup, owned by Wayne Leon Swiger of McHenry.

Swiger found scratches on the side of his vehicle resulting in $340 worth of property damage.

The investigating officer is Tfc. L.T. Tracy.

Oakland Man Charged With CDS Possession

A phone call to Oakland police alerted them to obtain a search warrant and one man was subsequently arrested for possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

According to Oakland Police Officer Ron Beeghly, Curtis Bradley Ridder was arrested about 9:30 p.m. Monday after Officer John K. Sines obtained a search warrant for his living quarters from District Court Judge Jack Turney.

A search of the premises yielded a small amount of a controlled dangerous substance and Ridder was jailed until payment of $100 bond later that night.

Others assisting Roger Lewis in the investigation were Randy Durst, State's Attorney investigator, and AssistantChief Deputy Paul Pratt of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

New Education Boosters Group Is Organized

A new organization in Garrett County, known as the Public Education Boosters, has been created to promote quality education.

So far the group is composed mainly of parents of school children; however, it is open to anyone who is interested in public education in Garrett County, according to a spokesman for the group.

The group wishes to develop dialog between students, parents, educational staff, the Board of Education, other county officials, and the business and civic sector. It is a goal of the group to assure that the county schools are student oriented, the spokesman said.

The board of education has recognized the group and its goal of helping to maintain or improve the quality of education in county schools.

The group has met separately with Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, both high school principals; middle school principals; and six elementary principals. Other elementary principals responded with letters or phone communications to the group. During these meetings principals shared the positive things that were happening in their schools as well as needs.

The Public Education Boosters' next meeting will be on November 8 at 7:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College, in room LC 155, in an effort to encourage county-wide attendance. The school board members have been invited to share at this meeting.

Two One-Acts To Be Performed On GCC Stage

The Garrett Community College Theatre Department will present two one-act plays entitled "Anti-Clockwise" and "If the Shoe Pinches" November 3-5 in the college auditorium.

The case is comprised of Jana Harshman, Paula Nealis, Phoebe Wiley and Camille Wolfe.

Stage manager is Emily Georg while direction and designing are handled by Ben Sincell of GCC's Theatre Department.

A 12:15 p.m. matinee will be held on Thursday, November 3, in addition to the 8:00 p.m. performances that evening and Friday and Saturday.

Admission is free to GCC faculty, staff, students and children under six years. Admission for the public will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students.

Southern Band Wins More Honors In Field Events

The Southern Garrett Band of Southern High School experienced another highly successful road trip this past weekend while competing in two western Pennsylvania field events on Saturday.

The band traveled to Waynesburg, Pa., Saturday morning and competed in the double-A division of the Red Raider Invitational against bands twice the size of Southern. The local band usually competes in the single-A division.

Despite their smaller size, the Southern High marchers took second place overall in double-A and first places in rifles and silks.

The band moved on to the East Allegheny Field Show Competition near Pittsburgh Saturday afternoon and won first place overall in single-A that evening, firsts in rifles and silks, plus best drum major.

Southern will wrap up its competitive fall marching season this Saturday, October 29, in Latrobe, Pa., by participating in the Pennsylvania PCJ Championships. Preliminary competition will get underway at 9 a.m., with Southern slated to perform at about 10:15. The finals will begin that evening at 7 p.m.

According to band director, Richard Clever, Southern expects its stiffest competition will come from Richland Park and Carrick high schools.

Choreographer for the Southern Garrett Band is Robert Thomas.

Police Report Auto Accident

Maryland State Police investigated an early morning accident which occurred Sunday, October 23, at approximately 2:10 a.m., injuring a Pennsylvania man.

Richard Lloyd Anderson, 21, Markleysburg, Pa., was northbound on Route 42, north of the Green Gables Road, when his vehicle ran off the left side of the roadway, struck a C&P telephone pole, and went through four wooden guard rails and continued over an embankment for approximately 75 feet.

Anderson was transported to West Virginia University Hospital in Morgantown, W.Va. by the Northern Rescue Squad. He is listed in fair condition.

He was charged with negligent driving and speed greater than reasonable and prudent.

The investigating officer was Tfc. Gary D. Resh.

The McHenry Detachment also investigatged another early morning accident on Sunday.

Cathy Sue Chapman, 25, of Kitzmiller, was travelling south on Route 38 at about 4 a.m. when her car veered off the right side of the road, hit a telephone pole, and overturned.

Elk Garden ambulance, Southern Rescue Squad, Kitzmiller Fire Department and State Police reported to the scene. No one was transported.

The driver was charged with speeding greater than reasonable and prudent.

Tfc. L.R. Rosage was the investigating officer.

Destruction, Theft Incidents Checked

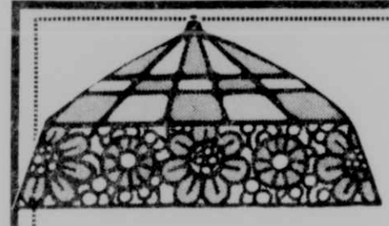
The Garrett County Sheriff's Department responded to several calls during the past week for property destruction and theft incidents.

On October 20, Franklin Elmer Wilt, Spring Lick Road, told Assistant Chief Deputy Harland Tichnell that his mailbox had been pulled from the ground and run over. Damage was set at $25.

Haven Darrell Chapman, Kitzmiller, reported the theft of four car stereo speakers from his 1978 Trans Am October 21. There were two Realistic speakers and two Audiovox speakers, having a total value of $250. The incident occurred while the vehicle was parked at Doc Holiday's near Oakland, October 21. Deputy William Thomas is investigating.

Theodore Uphold, White Church Road, reported that sometime during the evening of September 30, unknown persons forced open the basement door of his residence and removed a number of personal papers from his home. Uphold said he had not found any other items to be missing, according to the deputy's report.

Ruth E. Glass, Accident, told Deputy Philip Buckel that between October 21 and 23 someone had removed two hanging macrame flower holders from her front porch. Estimated loss was $40.



Richard William Helbig, Route 3, Deer Park, told Deputy Buckel October 22 that someone had battered his mailbox with some type of unknown object.

Making A Difference . . .

The loss of U. S. Marine lives in Beirut and now in the Carribean Sea has weighed heavily upon the hearts of all Americans this week. To many, these men have died in vain, fighting in areas of the world in which they believe we have no business sending our troops. To others, including the president, their presence in these areas is vital to world security and wellbeing. It seems that good arguments can be built on both sides of the issue, however individual American citizens seem almost powerless to change the situation.

There are other forces which are also destroying lives right here at home, lives which are without any doubt being lost in vain and about which we as individuals can do something to make a difference. Most of these lives are of young people also, just like the Marines.

We refer to the abuse of alcohol and drugs in our society. The facts are alarming. Studies show that nearly two-thirds of all Americans try an illicit drug before they finish high school; that the single leading cause of death among persons 15-24 years old is drunk driving; that 34 percent of high school seniors regularly abuse drugs and 41 percent regularly abuse alcohol; and that the average age that young people begin chemical use is 11-14 years.

A nationwide effort, known as The Chemical People program, is now underway to attempt to change these statistics. Health, education, church and law officials in Garrett County have made plans to coordinate the Chemical People project locally (see story on page one). Not only do we commend their efforts for spearheading this desperately needed effort, but we strongly urge parents and other concerned individuals to become involved in this project.

Abuse of alcohol and drugs can and does occur among many of our citizens, regardless of race, economic status, or level of intelligence. The abusers do not need or deserve punishment for their problem, but understanding and help. Let's all jump on the band wagon and make a difference.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

About four years ago an Oakland man was convicted on Welfare fraud. He was made to repay the money, plus pay a fine and court costs. Then placed on probation for three years.

Four months ago I reported to the Welfare Department of another case of welfare fraud, and because the people had relatives in the department, it wasn't investigated.

So I called to get the welfare fraud Hotline number and it was refused until I told them I would get legal help in getting the number.

I finally got the Hotline number and placed my call to them, but there still hasn't been anything done.

I just wanted to bring this to the attention of the taxpaying, working citizens of Garrett County that while this couple was getting welfare checks, food stamps and medical card. They were both working and not reporting their income to the Welfare Department.

The young man who was convicted four years ago was my own brother and I just don't think this couple is any better than anybody else.

So, you readers, beware. You're being ripped off!

To the Editor:

What happened to "Mommy"?

Where did "Mommy" go?

"Mommy" was good to us. She has raised us well. Now she is trying to meet our wants. Maybe "Mommy" was too good to us because we seem to have less self-esteem and when hard times come we can't stand on our own feet. We run to "Mommy" for all our wants and she is getting crippled digging her own grave.

Have you ever heard of a nation with so many government hand-outs? There is a funding for just about anything. When someone can't pay for something right away, the question comes, "Have you checked out this or that program, you might qualify for assistance, and, boy, does it get tempting!"

The welfare system started out helping those in need. Now after many years of misuse and abuse, it is giving to people in want.

Did not the communists say years ago they will take us from within, without our really knowing it until it is too late?

How long can we keep handing out? America cannot keep pretending. Our freedom won't be here for our children and grandchildren.

Someone called who needed more room in his freezer so he could keep collecting turkeys at the holiday season. Still they had money and room for their beer.

A lot of people would not need food stamps if they would raise a garden; and why so much allowed each month to families; they eat like kings. We are harming our health as well as our nation.

I do not begrudge anyone in need, but I do speak out against those in want. Everyone will give an account someday for their deeds done in this life. So please treat America with respect. Don't abuse her. I love "Mommy" too much to see her die.

To the Editor:

Before the 1980 elections there were over 350 KGB Agents working on Capitol Hill. Our government would not reveal who they worked for because "we do not want to embarrass the home state constituents."

There is no law in the State of Maryland which can prevent a communist from teaching in the public school system. In fact, the University of Maryland, Baltimore County received a $10,700 grant for a two-day celebration of the death of Karl Marx on April 15-16, 1983. This is all funded by your tax dollars.

Before Martin King's death he made a statement that he would bankrupt this country. Our own U.S. Senator not only sponsored a bill creating a national holiday in his honor, but on its passage states "we have overcome today."

A moron's vote counts just as much as a genius' vote. Now you know why people who depend on elections to stay employed often announce moronic policies.

Thank you,

To the Editor:

To all gun owners of the State of Pennsylvania and all three states surrounding the State of Pennsylvania:

Gun Control, Inc., and Senator Edward Kennedy of Washington, D.C., want to take our rifle and shotguns and handguns from us. We'll need our rifles and shotguns and handguns if Central America falls. This is just another Gestapo tactic. We paid good money for our guns and they would just enjoy themselves and love to have our American citizens disarmed. Let's stop this spread of this antigun stuff before it spreads across the whole country. Let's stand behind our rights, and join the Citizens Committee for the Right to Keep and Bear Arms. Gun Control, Inc., and Senator Kennedy do not have one good idea or one good reason why they are doing this to the American citizen. Then, the Constitution of the United States of America will be taken away from us and then we would have all of our rights taken away. Then we would be under the communist control and rule. Then we would really walk a straight line. We are really in grave danger of losing all our rights. The Governor of the State of West Virginia belongs to the Gun Control, Inc., and he is going to help take your rifles and shotguns and handguns from the citizens of West Virginia.

So write your Senator and Congressman in your own State and if they are for gun control, don't put them in office, and for those in office who are for gun control, vote them out of office, for you would vote your right away.

Here is the address to write to for against gun control:

Dear Friends and Neighbors:

Suddenly we find ourselves leaving Garrett County and have not been given enough time and/or the opportunity to say adequate farewells to so many persons who have come to mean so much to each of us. Consequently, we would like to take this means to say we are happy to have lived and worked and gone to school here; we are happy to have known so many nice people; and we are going to be saddened to leave you. For all those persons who have been a positive influence on our children in their most impressionable and developmental years, we say "thank you."

We hope this county and its residents continue to grow and prosper, and remember, if you ever decide to travel through the South . . . y'all come to see us!

Market Analysis

The study is being paid for through DNR Capital Improvement funds folliowing requests from Sen. John Bambacus and Del. George Edwards that Garrett County state-owned lands be included in such an enterprise-siting survey. The enterprise program is defined by Hunter as a search for private monies to develop facilities without cost to the taxpayer. If the study indicates great potential, then the state looks for private developers qualified to construct that particular facility. The developer is given a long-term lease on the land and the county and state would get a percentge of the profits.

Del. Edwards said this week that if the private business community is allowed to decide where the convention/tourist complex is to go, this will give Garrett an advantage because of the four-season opportunities here.

Del. Edwards also stated that instead of a tug-of-war with sister counties, the state should present the potential sites to the private businesses so that they can make the decision. This is the proposal he mentioned to Gov. Harry Hughes on the governor's recent visit here, and is an idea which has the full support of the three county commissioners.

Both Del. Edwards and Sen. Bambacus met in June with Department of Natural Resources Sec. Torrey Brown to ask that Garrett be included in the feasibility study for such a convention/recreation site.

In a letter to Secretary Brown, Sen. Bambacus noted the easy access to metropolitan areas from the county, and pointed out the county's designation of a labor-surplus area so "We have capable and willing individuals for both the construction and operations phases of a convention-type facility."

Del. Edwards pointed out the valuable economic boost such a center could provide, and concluded by saying "Overall, we have more of the right ingredients to offer than other areas of the state."

Legislators Report No Progress On Surcharge Impasse

Sen. John Bambacus and Del. George Edwards have not abandoned their plans for a committee to look at alternatives to the county's ten percent surcharge on liquor purchases by license holders. However, progress with the committee is presently stymied by lack of a chairman for the group.

When the study commission was formed, County Commissioner John Braskey had agreed to serve as chairman and had met separately with the group of three Special Class D license holders and with the liquor control board.

After meeting with the two segments of the committee, Braskey presented his suggestions and some alternatives offered by the license holders to both Bambacus and Edwards. In a press statement he said he was unable to obtain any suggestions from the liquor board, which is adamant that the 10 percent surcharge remain intact.

He further suggested that the commissioners and legislators take a look at possible elimination of the administrative officer's position for the liquor board, and look further at the salaries and benefits received by the liquor board members.

He was then criticized by the liquor board for trying to "provide a smokescreen for facts," saying information he presented was "misleading."

Braskey asked to be replaced as chairman but so far the legislators have not selected another chairman. Committee members in addition to Braskey are William Naylor, Brenda Butscher, and George Meese, liquor control board members; Joseph Wolf, administrative officer for the board; Robert Fousek, county clerk; and Roger Ruff, Ed Bosley and Roger Resh, Special Class D license holders.

Del. Edwards said Monday that he and Sen. Bambacus are taking another look at the situation and expect to make some decision regarding the commission as soon as their review is complete.

The "Chemical People" project marks the first time that public television has taken such a comprehensive, active role in working with communities to combat a social problem which adversely affects the quality of life in every neighborhood.

Modeled on a successful pilot project in the Pittsburgh area, The Chemical People is being supported by First Lady Nancy Reagan as well as several prominent television and sports personalities who appear on the first two programs. Funding was provided by the Richard King Mellon Foundation and the Metropolitan Life Foundation.

A third program produced by Maryland Instructional Television, entitled "The Chemical People: The Maryland Effort," will air on November 16 at 9 p.m. on channel 36. This program will report on the statewide progress of The Chemical People project and discuss state and private organizations available to assist parents and community leaders in substance abuse work within their community.

days in the Garrett County jail. Those days will be deducted from the two-year sentence.

A 30-day sentence was given to Harold E. Faidley, Sr., 37, and his wife, Mary I. Faidley, 37, both of Finzel.

The Faidleys were arrested on February 5, 1983, by Tfc. Gary Berkebile of the Maryland State Police and charged with aiding an escape in November 1982 at the Backbone Mt. Youth Center, Route 135.

The two were convicted of offering transportation from the camp to one of their sons and another teenager who have been committed to the center by the court. They also provided shelter after the escape.

According to testimony, Mrs. Faidley has not seen her son since the morning after the escape.

Mrs. Faidley's term will have work release privileges.

John Paul Kurilla, 47, Oakland, was found guilty of driving while intoxicated, fined $500 plus court costs, given a one-year suspended sentence, with supervised probation.

Tried earlier in district court, he was fined $500 and sentenced to 30 days incarceration. He then appealed to circuit court.

Mr. Kurilla must perform 240 hours of community service during that time, continue to receive counseling and refrain from any alcoholic consumption when driving is necessary.

Health Systems Governing Body Meets Locally

The Governing Body of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland met on October 19 at the Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake. Mrs. Nancy Russell, vice chairman, presided at the meeting.

The Governing Body approved the following committee recommendations:

•Approval to extend public hearing for hospice and home health care plan sections until the November 16 meeting.

•Approval for staff to explore what the HSAWM can do to achieve more unity with Maryland's Health Services Cost Review Commission on issues of rates in Western Maryland and to increase public awareness of the rate-setting process.

•Approval of the Annual Implementation Plan with additions.

The Annual Implementation Plan concentrates on ambulatory surgery, public education, and heart disease prevention. In adopting the AIP, the staff pointed out that while the plan is locally developed, it is also written to be consistent with state health policy. Long interested in the development of ambulatory services as an alternative to inpatient surgery, the HSAWM has two objectives: to assist the Maryland Health Resources Planning Commission in formulating a statewide ambulatory surgery need projection and to perform a feasibility study for such services in Western Maryland's six acute care hospitals.

HSAWM staff pointed out that of the region's six hospitals, ambulatory surgery represents only about three percent at Frostburg Community Hospital and four percent at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, while the remaining hospitals are doing between 17 and 28 percent ambulatory work of all surgical procedures.

Also part of the AIP is the prevention of heart disease, primarily by introducing a wellness program in a major Allegany County industry which employs at least 100 persons. According to staff, Allegany County has the highest incidence of heart disease of any of the four Western Maryland counties and thus has been selected as a target county to begin the project.

Also, over three hours of the HSAWM volunteer group's energy was devoted to examining segments of a 75-page abstract on a new State Health Plan, which is slated for adoption next February and would establish far-reaching health care policies, touching areas ranging from cost containment to nurse-midwifery, and the newly emerging hospice services. Members were asked to submit any further comments by November 6, after which time the HSAWM will submit a single agency position on the State Health Plan.

Members from Garrett County were Dr. David L. Bolinger, James E. Cuppett and John S. Parker.

Deputies Nab Car Theft Suspect

A search for a man suspected of stealing a car in the Dry Run area was successful October 14, according to the Garrett County sheriff's department.

A car operated by Tracy Riley and owned by Donald Riley, Pleasant Valley, was parked near Route 495 where the younger Riley was working. After the car disappeared, Carl Spiker, a resident of the area, noticed a "suspicious person" in the vicinity and called the sheriff's department.

Assistant Chief Deputy Harland Tichnell and Deputy William Thomas responded but were unable to track down the person.

Later reports led the deputies to Mayhew Inn Road, and another call directed them to the North Glade area where they arrested 22-year-old Brian Christian Merkle, formerly of California. That arrest was made about 9 p.m.

Merkle was charged with theft and remained in jail until payment of $1,000 bond October 17.

Tax Credit Deadline Noted

Friday, October 28, is the deadline for the 1983 Maryland homeowners' property tax credit program, according to Jerry Moyer of the county assessment office.

The credit is based on previous year income so the credit probably will not assist recently furloughed workers unless state law is amended.

Officials say the credit should benefit them the next year, however.

According to the spokesman, applications are available from the local office of assessments and taxation which is located in the Garrett County court house.

Progress Noted For Several Area Open Space Parks

Work on several Program Open Space projects proceeded during the past summer season, according to John Nelson, local POS coordinator.

At the Accident park, located adjacent to the library and Town View Village, the picnic pavilion has been completed and water and sewerage extended to the site.

Land for the Mt. Lake site at L Street and Philadelphia Avenue has been purchased with POS funds, and the town officials recently approved plans calling for playground equipment, a multi-use court, a pavilion, picnic tables and restrooms.

Grantsville applied for and received approximately $8,000 in additional funds to pave walkways and construct another picnic pavilion for its park.

At Southern High School, work is nearly completed for this construction season except for fencing the ball fields. Grading for the field track has been completed, and Frank Arnold Contractors has completed installation of the drainage system. Next spring Mattingly Builders, LaVale, will asphalt the track. The tennis courts will also be started in the spring, according to Nelson.

The completed SHS site will contain the track, two softball fields, a baseball field and parking lot on the lower level, and a double tennis court and all-purpose court on the upper level.

Who are the Lutherans?

Lutherans trust in Jesus Christ as God and Savior. The name comes from a great leader, scholar, and theologian, Martin Luther.

Through years of spiritual struggle, after long hours of prayer and searching Bible study, Luther concluded that the truth spoken by Christ had been tragically distorted during the centuries.

Luther's concern that pure New Testament truth should again be known gained wide attention when he nailed 95 theses or statements for debate to a church door in the university town of Wittenberg, Germany, on October 31, 1517.

Within twenty years Luther's rediscovery of New Testament Christianity had set hearts aflame throughout the western world. His unveiling of long forgotten Christian truth was accepted across most of northern Europe.

Today around the world Lutherans number millions of people of every race and language on every continent and island.

Largest of all Protestant churches with over seventy million adherents, the Lutheran Church continues to proclaim to all persons that Christ is the Way, the Truth and the Life.

Would you like to know more of this confessional and ecumenical church? A cordial welcome will be yours.

Rally Winners Are Announced

Forty-four cars participated in the 1983 Autumn Glory Road Rally held on Sunday, October 16. Registration began at the Appalachian Center and cars left the starting line at Southern Middle School. This year's Garrett County route took the ralliers to the Bloomington Dam, the Savage River Dam, and past the New Germany Dam, ending in Oakland.

"This year's Rally was known as the Dam Rally," said Charlotte Griffith, rally planner. "The route was approximately 79 miles long and took about three hours to complete. The weather was the best we ever had. We took the ralliers past some beautiful sights, and it was a photographer's delight."

Winners of the rally were determined by their actual mileage and answers to questions they were asked about things they saw along the way. Car #4, Linda Janes and Bonnie Swyter, took first place winning $20.00 worth of gas at Oakview Motors; Car #39, Tom and Mary Shrout captured second place winning a case of motor oil from Oakland Oil Company; Car #1, Bob Sutton, Amy Sutton, and Angiz Skundrich won third place and $15.00 worth of gas at 135 Amoco; and fourth place and $10.00 worth of gas at Lakeview Exxon was won by Mary J. Sliger and Mary M. Sliger. Janes, Sutton and the Shrouts were past winners in previous Road Rallies held at Autumn Glory.

Bell Brothers and Shaffer Ford donated prizes of oil funnels, key chains, and ice scrapers which were given to participants who answered and turned in a questionnaire about handicapped parking.

Souvenirs for each vehicle included a "survival pack" from the Country Oven Bakery which contained a pizza roll, brownie, donut and cookie, and imprinted 1983 Autumn Glory Matchbooks from the Appalachian Workshop. This year's rally was sponsored by the Appalachian Parent Association, Inc., which is a local private, non-profit group which operates training and employment programs for handicapped adults in Garrett County. Appalachian Parent Association, Inc., through its Advisory Board of Directors also operates the Appalachian Center and the Appalachian Workshop.

Deputy's Cruiser Slightly Damaged

A Garrett County sheriff's department cruiser was slightly damaged early October 23 when a deer ran into the side of the vehicle.

According to a report filed by Deputy Philip K. Buckel, he was enroute to Friendsville about 2:28 a.m. to assist Maryland State Police. As he topped the hill on Route 219 near Hawkinson Tread Service, he saw six deer in the roadway.

There was on oncoming car in the southbound lane and a vehicle immediately following the cruiser, so the deputy swerved to the right onto the berm.

However, one of the deer struck the side of the car, damaging the grill and left front fender. Damage was not severe enough to delay the deputy's departure for Friendsville as soon as he notified the dispatcher of the mishap.

One other deer was killed by the southbound car, which failed to stop at the scene.

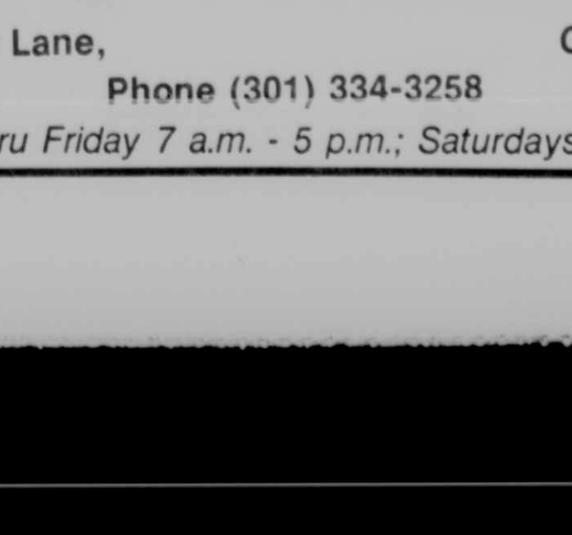
JENSEN—Built to Heat Your Whole House Comfortably and Efficiently.

The Jensen Add-On or Independent Wood/Coal Furnace, is designed to heat your entire home independently or as an add on to your present forced air furnace, (doesn't alter your present furnace). The Jensen Furnace connects easily into your existing hot air plenum. As the automatic wall mounted thermostat calls for heat, clean wood or coal heated air is forced by the 1300 CFM distribution fan into the present duct system, heating every room. When burning wood or coal, your existing furnace is on standby. However, if you cannot tend to the wood or coal fire, your existing furnace automatically takes over your heating requirements. Burning harvested wood can save you up to 100% on your present heating bills.



1) Standard 12" diameter heat outlet. Ductwork fits into existing up flow gas or oil furnace plenum.

2) Furnace Control Center automatically monitors the draft fan (controlling fire intensity), and the 2 speed distribution fan (forcing warm air into home). Electric rheostat operates manually, set to the condition of the solid fuel, wet/dry wood, hard/soft coal. Also houses the transformer and relay switch.

3) Manually Operated Secondary Combustion Chamber with Bypass. Helps reburn secondary gases, provides more efficient heat. Does not allow heat to escape up chimney.

4) 10 gauge steel weldment with laser cut and polished edges, for trouble free long life usage. Double rear wall of weldment enlarges heat exchange area providing more efficiency.

5). Pressure relief flap is a safety feature keeping flames from door area just prior and during opening. Extra heavy rope lined cast iron feed door assures safer operation. Smoke shield reduces smoke back-puffing during loading.

6) Manual air draft spinner helps lazy chimney draw. Reduces smoke puffing during feed door opening. Heavy air tight cast iron double width ash door, with open end ash dump pan.

7) Firebrick lined sides and heavy cast iron front and rear heat baffles provide extra long life firebox durability.

8) Extra heavy cast iron dual width shaker grates provide easy trouble free operation and work with both wood and hard/soft coal.

9) 72 CFM draft air fan stimulates fire automatically when more heat is required. Eliminates fire maintenance, helps reduce chimney creosote buildup by producing hotter fire.

10) 1300 CFM two speed hot air distribution fan. At 115° provides 650 CFM, for normal operation. At 135° automatically increases to 1300 CFM. Acts as additional safety overheating device, cooling furnace for normal operation. Filter box standard equipment on models 24-AC, 36-A only.

MODEL 24-AC

•Water Tube optional

Note: All Jensen furnaces are pre-wired. Attach furnace control box (pre-drilled holes). Snap on junction box. Fasten 5 wires with wire nuts, (all color coded). Fasten two wires for thermostat and electric installation is completed.

AUTOMATIC DISHWASHING AND SAVING ENERGY

The amount of energy a dishwasher uses is very small. It's the use of hot water that accounts for the main operating cost. Here are some suggestions from the Soap and Detergent Associates that will help to minimize energy consumption and still obtain good washing results:

*Start with the proper water temperature, a key factor in dishwashing performance. The temperature should not be lower than 130° F. at the dishwasher. As the temperature is reduced, the removal of greasy and oily soils becomes more difficult, spotting and filming may occur as well as improper drying. Some dishwasher models feature a cycle that automatically heats to the proper temperature before washing begins. In this way, satisfactory results can still be achieved in spite of a reduced temperature setting at the water heater.

*Operate dishwasher only when a full load is accumulated. Avoid overloading that prevents proper water circulation over the dishes.

*Use the "rinse-hold" or "rinse" cycle to hold partial loads before washing.

*Dishwashers use from 9 to 13 gallons of hot water per load, depending on the cycle selected. Use the shortest cycle that will remove the soil from the load

*Prerinsing dishes is not necessary. Simply scrape off large food particles and bones. Dishes and casseroles with baked-on foods will probably need soaking or prescrubbing.

*Load dishwasher correctly to avoid rewashing. Be careful not to block the spray arms or the detergent dispenser.

*Use the recommended amount of automatic dishwasher detergent.

*Skip the drying cycle whenever possible. When there is no "energy saving" cycle that eliminates heat during the drying time, simply advancing the dial after the final rinse to the "off" position will accomplish the same thing. Use of a rinse agent will promote drying.

*Keep the dishwasher in top operating condition. Clean the filter regularly.

*If necessary, insulate water heater and delivery pipes to avoid heat loss between the supply and the dishwasher.

Also on the program will be two local athletes who are moving up the professional baseball ladder, Sam Perlozzo and Leo Mazzone.

Perlozzo managed Lynchburg to the regular season and playoff championships of the Class A Carolina League and Friday night was honored in St. Petersburg, Fla., as Manager of the Year in the New York Mets' system.

Mazzone is minor league pitching coach for the Atlanta Braves.

A number of individual and team awards will be presented, highlighted by the Most Valuable Player Award and the league trophy to Everett, which won the Northern Division championship and defeated Southern Division titlist Tri-Towns in the postseason playoffs.

The event is open to the public and tickets for the dinner, dance and floor show will be $15 per person and $25 per couple. Admission to the dance and floor show only is $5 per person.

Tickets are available at the Sports Shoppe, 170 North Centre Street, or by calling Hillebrecht, 729-1850 or 777-1500, or Terry Helbig in Oakland, 334-3343.

Raiders Win YFL Title By Blanking Rams

The Oakland Raiders defeated the Thomas-Davis Rams Saturday night in a downpour at Southern High School by a 14-0 score to capture the 1983 Mountain Top Youth Football League Championship.

Because of the running of Zack Gibson, two quarterback sneak touchdowns of Chris Helbig, and a strong Raider defense, the Rams dropped their first loss after four straight wins.

The Raiders' first score came on Helbig's one-yard quarterback sneak at the 1:16 mark of the second quarter. The score was set up on runs by Gibson to the one. Gibson also ran for the point-after to give the Raiders a 7-0 halftime lead.

Pressure by the Raider defense resulted in a blocked Ram punt at their 22, recovered by Steve Wotring, which set up the game's final points with Helbig scoring on his second sneak with 1:38 to go in the game. Gibson's point-after run completed the scoring.

Leading the Ram defense were Jim Drenning and Rob Bush.

The Raiders' coaching staff praised their players for a "total team effort."

Bowling Club Holds Tourney

The Western Maryland "600" Club held its Fall Tournament at the Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland on Sunday, October 16, with 53 members bowling, the largest turnout ever.

First place was won by Marolyn Johnson of Oakland, with a 604 series, bowling games of 189, 232, and 183. Her 183 game was also an all-spare game, for which she will receive an award from the WIBC.

Second place went to Bernice Tichnell, Keyser, with a 598, followed by Linda Ellifritz, Keyser, 589; Gladys Baker, Cumberland, 574; Betty J. Often, Keyser, 571; and Pat Filsinger, Oakland, 564.

Miss Johnson will receive $35.00 in cash, a shirt, a small trophy and will keep the Angela Parker Memorial Trophy until the Spring Tournament.

Gladys Baker, president, presided at the business meeting. Reports were given by Marge Anderson and Shirley Bittner.

Chaplain Lillian Fazenbaker displayed the white Bible that had been purchased and engraved as a memorial for a past member and officer, the late Hilda Stafford.

A Certificate of Appreciation was received from the Maryland Bowling Council for the monies sent to the Scholarship Fund last year.

An award will be given to Bernice Tichnell, Keyser, for having the most 600 series in a year (11) and the highest 600 series, 684.

LAND USE RESTRICTIONS

The matter of land use restrictions and controls with regard to real estate is quite interesting. Hundreds of years ago when private controls were usually in effect, property owners sometimes sold or gave away land with unusual and humorous restrictions. The seller might say that cows could only graze on the rear portion of the land! Or, he might specify that any building erected on the property and subsequently sold could only be sold to people who abstained from alcoholic beverages!

The landmark year for subdivision restrictions was 1848, when developers could set up restrictions regarding types of homes that could be built on their lots. Courts upheld these restrictions to the extent of allowing lot owners to get court orders preventing other lot owners from going against those restrictions.

Gradually, private controls gave way to public controls, and in 1926 the U. S. Supreme Court effectively made zoning ordinances valid. These zoning ordinances serve the public welfare and protect homeowners from offensive use of adjoining property.

Rams Roll Over Tucker County, 28-0; Class C Showdown Set With Bruce

The Southern Rams held on to their number one ranking in Region I Class C action Friday evening by recording a suprisingly easy 28-0 win over Tucker County in a Potomac Valley Conference matchup on the West Virginians' gridiron in Parsons.

Tucker County		Southern
3	First Downs Rush	11
3	First Downs Pass	1
6	Total First Downs	12
16	Passes Attempted	6
6	Passes Completed	2
0	Passes Intercepted By	2
54	Yards Passing	20
25	Net Yards Rushing	335
4-36	Punts-Average	2-34
4-27	Penalties-Yards	3-25
2-1	Fumbles-Lost	4-0
79	Total Offense	355

Behind the running and scoring efforts of Dave Terrant and Tim Tharp, the Rams scored all of their points in the first half, while the Southern defensive unit limited the Mountain Lions' offensive performance to 25 yards rushing and 79 yards overall.

Terrant led the Rams with 148 yards on 22 carries, while Tharp netted 58 yards on 17 attempts and a pair of touchdowns.

The win was the sixth in seven starts for Southern, having faltered only at Musselman, and Tucker County dropped to 1-6 on the campaign.

Tharp opened the scoring for the Rams by capping a 69-yard drive on their first possession with a two-yard dive into the end zone. Terrant added the two-point conversion run.

The only real scoring threat by the Lions came early in the second quarter on a field goal attempt, however the kick was blocked and Southern's Jeff Beeman grabbed the ball out of the air and raced 80 yards for the Rams' second touchdown. J.R. Gibson's pass for the two-point conversion fell incomplete.

Midway through the same quarter the Rams engineered another drive which also ended with a two-yard scoring run by Tharp. The pass for the conversion again failed.

Gibson put the game out of reach when he kept the ball on a one-yard quarterback sneak and then ran for the two-point conversion just before halftime.

The Rams put together another drive in the third quarter, only to have it stall on downs at the Tucker County four-yard line.

A final scoring opportunity presented itself in the last moments of the game, however Gibson simply fell on the ball on the Lions' two-yard line.

Southern finished with 355 yards in total offense.

"We were truly surprised that we were able to dominate the game like that," Coach Tom Woods stated. "We feared this team as much as anyone on our schedule because they are much stronger than their record indicates."

Woods said that going into the contest he believed the Rams might be able to gain an edge with their speed around the corners. "Fortunately, that proved to be the case," he said, noting the effective option play of Gibson and Terrant, plus the blocking efforts of Dave McLaughlin, Steve Bennett and Jim Freeman on the sweeps.

"We also had our best defensive performance since the Central Preston game," he said.

Woods is hoping for a similar effort by the Rams this Friday evening when a fired-up Bruce team, hot on the tail of the Rams for the Class C title, comes to Oakland for a critical game for both teams. It will also be a key Highland Football Conference contest, for a loss by Southern would put them in a first place tie with Bruce.

The Bulldogs sputtered early in the season and lost close contests to Northern and Keyser, but have come on to win four straight, including a 30-22 double-overtime victory over Beall last Friday night in Frostburg.

"This is one of the best Bruce teams in the last 15 years," Woods said. "They are starting nine seniors both ways and have a lot of confidence and momentum right now."

Bruce is led offensively by senior tailback Harry Wilhelm, 5-5, 140 pounds, one of the leading rushers, and probably the quickest, in the area. Woods compared his talents to those of Sean Hill of Keyser, who utilizes fakes extremely well, but he said Wilhelm is stronger.

Other offensive standouts are Tim Ahern, a 6-0, 180-pound senior fullback; Dan McGinnis, senior halfback, 5-10, 170; quarterback Billy Davis, 6-0, 185-pound senior; and Troy Miller, senior center, 5-10, 155.

The Bulldogs run from T-formations and multiple-I sets.

Their 6-2 defense is anchored by Miller at linebacker; Ahern at defensive end; T.C. Moran, 6-0, 200-pound senior guard; and sophomore linebacker John Bradley, 5-10, 160.

"Bruce is primarily a running team," Woods said, "just like we are. They have a very aggressive defense and they are well-coached under Tom Oglebay."

Kickoff is slated for 8 p.m.

Garrett Lakers Whip Hagerstown, Gallaudet, FSC

In volleyball action last week Garrett Community College dropped a match to Potomac State, but rallied to score three wins at the expense of Gallaudet College, Frostburg State College and powerful Region XX rival Hagerstown Junior College.

In the match with Potomac State, the Lakers lost the first game, 15-6, and took the second one, 15-13. In the match game Garrett held a 10-8 advantage only to fall to a 10-10 tie. Following three missed serves by Garrett, Potomac State gained the advantage to take the match.

Christy Fratz was largely responsible for what offense the Lakers could muster, scoring six spike points and five serve points. Mary Dougherty tallied 12 assists and Sue Snyder recorded six digs.

According to Laker Coach Mike Friend, this loss was the low point of the Laker Season. "Frankly, with our injuries, we shouldn't be playing at all," he said. "Our leading hitter has a shoulder injury. One of our setters, Kathy Baker, has a week-old hand injury and we lost Lani Dailey in the third game. Sue Snyder is still hampered with a knee injury.

"However," he continued "the most depressing thing that night was not our physical problems but rather our lack of mental concentration as evidenced by failing to get the serve for three rotations. We allowed Potomac State to play their game at our expense."

Garrett had defeated Potomac State earlier in the season.

Against Gallaudet College Garrett won two games 15-5 and 15-6, the offensive attack was still a struggle. Gwen McBee, substituting for the injured Baker, scored five service points and Snyder led Laker hitters with five spike points. Karen Holyfield scored six times from the serve position to lead the Laker offense.

Returning home on Saturday the Lakers faced a real test in Hagerstown and Frostburg. Hagerstown had previously defeated Garrett and the Frostburg vs. Garrett match record was tied at one win each.

Hagerstown opened the match with a clear-cut victory, 15-6, as Garrett seemed unequal to the challenge. Game two was the turning point as the Laker women roared to a 15-2 win. The third game was a classic struggle for advantage with Garrett finally prevailing, 15-12.

Coach Friend said, "We've gone in one week from the low point of our season to perhaps the high point of the season. This is our first win over Hagerstown in the five years I've coached here. We respect their program a great deal and it means a lot to us to defeat them."

Sue Harper, still nursing a sore shoulder, returned to form with 12 spike points and Kathy Baker returned to action with 10 assists. Mary Dougherty also recorded 10 assists and Christy Fratz scored five serve points. Fratz also paced the defense with eight digs, tying her own personal record set earlier this season.

Garrett wasted no time in dealing revenge to the FSC squad. The Lakers won easily by scores of 15-10 and 15-2. Harper connected on 11 spike points and Dougherty scored four service points.

The Laker record now stands at 15 wins against six defeats with six matches remaining. This week Garrett travels to Frederick and Howard Community College before returning home Saturday to host Alderson-Broaddus and Hood College, closing out the 1983 home match schedule. Game time Saturday is 2 p.m.

Huskies Edged By Black Knights In Final Moments Of Fourth Period

After finally breaking back into the win column the previous week, the Northern Huskies faltered once again this past Friday night by dropping a Highland Football Conference heartbreaker to visiting Valley, 12-7. The Black Knights won with less than two minutes remaining in the game when quarterback Dave Hawkins raced into the end zone from four yards out to move ahead of the Huskies who had led 7-6. It was the fifth setback in seven starts for Coach Jack Settle's team which has been riddled with injuries this season.

6	First Downs Rush	2
0	First Downs Pass	5
1	First Downs Penalty	0
7	Total First Downs	7
8	Passes Attempted	13
1	Passes Completed	7
3	Passes Intercepted By	0
3	Yards Passing	65

4-32	Punts Average	3-31
4-30	Penalties-Yards	1-15
0	Fumbles-Lost	1-0
174	Total Offense	210

Valley opened the scoring in the second quarter as Larry Muir, who finished with 65 yards rushing, carried the ball to paydirt from the six-yard line. The attempt for the conversion failed.

A four-yard scoring strike by Northern's Greg Diehl in the third quarter and Dave George's kick for the extra point put the Huskies on top; however Hawkins' touchdown with about one minute and 40 seconds remaining in the fourth period iced the win for the Knights, their third in seven starts.

Diehl led all rushers with 125 yards on 26 carries, to record his fifth 100-yard-plus game this season. He also turned in an outstanding defensive performance, assisting on 12 tackles.

Leading the Huskies' defensive charge, which sacked Hawkins several times, was Ron Stark with 15 tackles.

Hawkins completed seven of 13 passes for 65 yards. Several more attempts to pass were thwarted by pressure from the Northern defensive linemen.

Valley led in total offense, 210 yards to 174.

"This was a tough loss for us," Coach Settle stated. "I felt that our secondary did a good job against one of the best passers in the area, but we executed poorly against the run."

Settle said he was pleased with the blocking efforts of his offensive linemen—Jeff McClintock, Bill Friend, Bill Laird, Dave George and Jeff Eggleston—which allowed Diehl to gain over 100 yards. "It's tough to continue to gain over 100 yards when you're losing," he said.

Every senior on the Northern team with the exception of Diehl has been injured this season and has missed one or more games. Jim Swauger was out of the lineup against Valley with fluid on his knee. Diehl has been nursing a nagging thigh injury for several weeks, although he has not missed a game.

It appeared on Monday that every senior was once again healthy and would play this week, until in practice yesterday, in a freak incident, center and place-kicker Dave George accidently caught the sod in a kick-off drill and injured his knee. He is now listed as doubtful for Friday evening's game against Chestnut Ridge. Swauger is listed as probable.

The Huskies could be in for its toughest contest of the season this Friday when they travel to Chestnut Ridge in New Paris, Pa. The Pennsylvanians are sporting an 8-0 record with wins over previously undefeated North Bedford, 32-0, last week, and an earlier win over previously unbeaten Shade. They have been averaging over 30 points per game and are led by 14 returning lettermen.

"This is obviously the best Chestnut Ridge team in years," Settle said. "They have an excellent quarterback, a lot of experience and a well balanced running and passing game."

Chestnut Ridge utilizes a multiple offense, especially double slot formations with a man in motion. They also use multiple defensive formations, such as a 5-4, 5-2, 5-3 and 4-3.

"Working on the fundamentals and attempting to have some fun in practice is our approach right now," Settle said. "Our injury situation has really hurt us, especially on offense, but the kids are still showing a great attitude at practices. We can't ask for more than that under the circumstances.

"One bright spot for us," he continued, "is that a lot of our younger players are getting a lot of experience which should help us next year."

The passing game of the Huskies is the greatest concern of Settle and his staff right now, so a concerted effort is being made in this area this week also.

"One advantage we will have against Chestnut Ridge is that we have a nothing-to-lose attitude which makes you go all out and gamble a little bit with our offense; short of insanity, that is," Settle stated.

Persons wishing to go to the game, which is set to get underway at 8 p.m., should follow Route 220 to Bedford and beyond and take Route 56 west toward Johnstown. Chestnut Ridge High School is located about one mile past the junior high school in New Paris, about a 15-minute drive after turning on to Route 56.

VIEWS ON DENTAL HEALTH
By Ted Reeder, D.D.S.

To many people, gum disease or pyorrhea as most people call it, is a mystery. They wake up one morning and as they are brushing their teeth, they notice that their gums are bleeding. Assuming that they are brushing too hard, many people slack up a little in their brushing only to find that now their gums are sore and somewhat puffy looking. Since the gums are sore now, they start avoiding the area near the gums with their toothbrush for fear of hurting them. This sets up a vicious cycle that may end with receding gums and loosened or lost teeth.

Gum disease is no mystery. One of the principal causes of it is called plaque, which is the same thing that causes tooth decay. Plaque contains bacteria capable of causing infections in the gums and of also destroying the bone around teeth. If it is not removed from the teeth every day, it can calcify into a gum irritating substance called calculus. Gum irritation (swelling, redness, tenderness) plus bacteria = infection.

The most effective way to counteract this is to periodically remove the calculus and daily remove the plaque. Only a trained person can properly remove calculus once it is formed. Most people however can learn to remove the plaque for himself and significantly reduce the incidence of gum disease. How to accomplish this will be our next topic.

Garrett Display Part Of Showcase At State Meeting

Garrett County was among 12 of 24 jurisdictions in Maryland chosen to present a display in a showcase of exemplary projects at the September 28-30 convention for the Maryland Association of Boards of Education held in Frederick.

Garrett's display featured the county's gifted and talented program and was entitled "The 'CHEMISTRY' of a Program of Excellence" and involved showing viewers how each element of the program is vital to the program's overall success.

The elements of the program were policy/philosophy, leadership, continuity/consistency, articulation and parental involvement.

County gifted and talented resource teachers decided on the idea for the display this summer with the assistance of Robert Rodeheaver and Charleen Evans-Thomas, instructional supervisors for the county school system. The resource teachers involved were Marianne Green, Wes Lovelace, Patty Rice, Rosetta Rodeheaver, Cherie Rettel and Sheila Russell. They travelled to Frederick on the day the display was to be presented during the convention.

The display, designed by Ben Sincell, Garrett Community College theatre instructor, was comprised of a large beaker which bubbled and through which slides were shown. Above the beaker were the elements of the program named on individual test tubes which appeared to be pouring into the beaker.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county school superintendent who attended the convention along with county Board of Education members Clarence Stem, Anna Mary Fratz, Beverly Murphy and Dr. Leo O'Neill, said he believed the display was well received by others at the convention.

Rodeheaver noted the amount of time spent on the project is evidence of the resource teachers' dedication to the gifted and talented program. They spent much time throughout the summer devising the project as well as many evenings and weekends in September on the finishing touches.

PRESENT GIFTED AND TALENTED PROJECT — Garrett County's seven gifted and talented program resource teachers presented a display featuring the county's gifted and talented program during the September 28-30 convention for the Maryland Association of Boards of Education held in Frederick. The theme of the display was "The 'CHEMISTRY' of a Program of Excellence" and was one of 12 displays in a showcase of exemplary projects at the convention. Pictured are, left to right, kneeling, resource teacher Marianne Green and student Bobby Bernard who was part of the display; standing, resource teacher Cherie Rettell, technical assistant Charles Pariseau, resource teacher Patti Rice, school superintendent Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, resource teachers Rosetta Rodeheaver, Wes Lovelace, and Sheila Russell.

The county's gifted and talented program, fully implemented in the county's elementary and middle schools in the fall of 1980, is serving 200 elementary students, 140 middle students and 87 high school students this year. High school students in the English honors program were included in the gifted and talented program in the fall of 1981.

Rodeheaver noted the county gifted and talented program has been successful because of the staff's commitment to goals and philosopy of the program, continuous staff development, articulation among staff members at all levels, continuity of teachers in the program, parental support and involvement and state targeted aid funding for the program which for this year was set at $117,607.

The display is now available for viewing by groups throughout the county, Rodeheaver said. The Garrett County Council of PTAs is to view a portion of the display, the slides and narrative, during its October 27 meeting at Bloomington.

Persons who helped in constructing the display besides Rodeheaver and Sincell were Gregg Carrico Barry Domenick, Gene Coddington, Charleds Pariseau and Stephen Russell.

Sarbanes' Backers Host Reception Following Parade

After presiding as parade marshal for the Garrett County Autumn Glory Parade, October 15, U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes took a breather from his hectic schedule and attended a reception for his supporters held at the home of Bill and Doris Goldsborough, Broadford Road.

Approximately 50 persons attended the reception, including Senator John Bambacus, county commissioner John Braskey, and Maryland Public Service Commissioner Wayne Hamilton.

Sarbanes spent about 15 minutes talking with reporters addressing several issues including unemployment, U.S. - Soviet relations and the Lebanon situation.

Concerning unemployment in western Maryland, Sarbanes said he and other officials tried to move as quickly as possible to provide a professional and technical assistance team to industries in western Maryland experiencing furloughs of employees as well as to regional economic development offices.

Sarbanes also mentioned the Tri-County Council could be receiving money through the federal Title IX grant program to finance capital improvement projects.

Another way Sarbanes has worked for economic development in this area is by supporting continuance of the Appalachian Regional Commission, the agency which has funneled federal money to western Maryland and other areas in the Appalachian region for economic development. Sarbanes said he is committed to the completion of the national freeway through western Maryland.

He noted that although extension of unemployment benefits is a short-range aid to the unemployed, he did not believe it to be the answer to western Maryland's unemployment problem. "The answer is jobs," he said, indicating government should concentrate more on economic development than on short-range solutions.

On another issue, Sarbanes discussed United States–Soviet relations saying that although he believed the United States should continue seeking areas of agreement with the Soviets, he believed American negotiators had to be shrewd and not blind to the fact that the Soviets intend to extend their influence throughout the world.

Of the situation in Lebanon, Sarbanes said American armed forces had been in Lebanon too long and that the United States should use a cease fire as a time to withdraw. He did not believe U.S. olfficials are thoroughly thinking through the reasons U.S. troops are in Lebanon.

Turning to U.S. politics, Sarbanes announced at the beginning of the reception he was backing Walter Mondale as the Democratic nominee for the presidency in the next election.

AUTUMN GLORY PARADE MARSHAL Senator Paul Sarbanes rides in style during the parade, October 15, as he waves at the crowd of spectators. The Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council estimated about 40,000 people attended the parade. Sarbanes rode through the parade in a 1931 Rolls Royce convertible, courtesy of Tom Schroyer, Grantsville.

Sarbanes Rep To Visit Oakland

Senator Paul Sarbanes has announed that a member of his staff will be in Oakland on November 7 to seek citizens' views and assist with problems relating to the Federal Government.

"I have asked Mrs. Nina Conway, my Western Maryland representative, to be available in the Garrett County Commissioners Meeting Room, Court House, Oakland, on Monday, November 7 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. so that she may report to me the concerns of Garrett County residents about current national issues and the difficulties they may be having with Federal agencies," said Senator Sarbanes.

Rotary Presents Outstanding Youth Exhibitor Award

This year, the award went to John H. Leininger, son of Rev. and Mrs. Verne Leininger, Deer Park, who accumulated over 600 points by entering a large variety of exhibits, activities and demonstrations during Fair week.

Deputies Check Theft Incidents

Three incidents of theft and a destruction of property report were among cases filed with the Garrett County Sheriff's Department during the past week.

Thomas U. Cuppett, Oakland, told Sheriff's Deputy Richard Kutchman that someone had removed a Homelite 360 chainsaw with a 16 inch bar and a black plastic carrying case from a construction site along Bray School Road approximately the middle of September. Also taken was a five-gallon gasoline can. Total loss was estimated at $440.

Sometime between October 15 at 6 p.m. and October 16 at 8 a.m., someone removed four sheepskin vests from a display at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College. The vests were on exhibit by Donald Anderson, Williamsport. Estimated loss was $328, according to Deputy Kutchman's report.

A 15-inch Kelly-Springfield tire and a rim were removed from the back of a pickup owned by Jerry A. Cline, Oakland, October 15. Also taken was a homemade log turner. Deputy Russell Drenning estimated the loss at $125.

Edward Myers, Oak Street, Oakland, reported that someone had broken the window on the driver's side of a car belonging to his mother, Beverly Ann Myers, October 15. The incident occurred while the vehicle was parked near the Southern High School football field. No estimate of damage was given by Deputy D.W. Tucker.

Religion and the Family

You'll find in the Sixty-eighth Psalm a remarkable statement: He setteth the solitary in families. The Bible is saying that the family as a social institution was designed by God.

Obviously for a purpose. His purpose! The family has long been the center for sharing and strengthening religious insights and convictions. The effectiveness of the Church in teaching and inspiring souls is generally dependent on the support and encouragement of the home.

But the ancient text says something more! It says God is concerned about those who are alone! He wants them to discover that we are all part of HIS FAMILY. The Church can be instrumental in helping the lonely find life rich in warmth and caring.

Whether next Sabbath you'll be with the family—or alone—God is expecting you!

JUST BRUSHING IS NOT ENOUGH

It stands to reason that if a foundation is not secure then what is built upon it could have future troubles. You must have healthy gums to have good teeth.

Even frequent brushing of your teeth is not enough if it is done incorrectly. A good brushing should take around three minutes with a good part of this devoted to the gums. Your dentist will explain to you the best method and equipment to use. We have all the products that he will recommend in our complete dental care section. Let your dentist check your gums.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

IF IT FEELS GOOD

October 30, 1983

Background Scripture: Exodus 19:3-6; Jeremiah 3:31-34; Hebrews 8:6-13
Devotional Reading: Jeremiah 31:31-34

A new commandment has been given to us: "If it feels good, do it."

Well, we've been "doing it," but I'm not sure just how "good" we're feeling about it. Oh, individually, we may think it "feels pretty good," but as a society we seem to sense a great void in our moral climate. On the one hand, we wildly celebrate the lifting of all the old restraints, while on the other we mourn the loss of our foundations. We like the new moral freedom for ourselves, but we're disturbed about what it's doing to our neighborhood.

THE OCCASION

In a sense, this same ambivalance haunted the Christian Jews of the early church. They recognized that the old covenant of Judaism was not enough. At the same time, they couldn't feel secure without it. The writer of the epistle to the Hebrews says, "For if that first covenant had been faultless, there would have been no occasion for a second" (8:7). He acknowledges that the new covenant in Christ is "more excellent than the old and was enacted on better promises."

Actually the "new morality" of whether "it feels good" is built on the perception that the old morality based on rules and regulations is not adequate. Just as in Jesus' day, the people had become too dependent upon rules, so in our own times we had become perhaps too dependent upon the written covenants. The admonition to "do it" if it "feels good," was an attempt to take the responsibility for our lives away from written rules and place it within our own hearts. In a sense, this is what the prophet Jeremiah had prophesied: "I will put my laws into their minds, and write them on their hearts" (31:33). No wonder it seemed so "right" to regard the old rules as obsolete. The writer of Hebrews himself had said of the written covenants: "In speaking of a new covenant he treats the first as obsolete. And what is becoming obsolete and growing old is ready to vanish away" (8:13).

But, the new covenant is not something less than the old, but something more. It is not a lower standard of morality, but a higher one. It is based upon, neither what someone else says is right or what I think is good for me, but upon what I believe God says is good with him. To be sure, it is harder than the old way; it places more responsibility upon each of us: "And they shall not teach every one his fellow or every one his brother, saying 'Know the Lord,' for all shall know me, from the least of them to the greatest."

MY LAWS

In our zeal to have done with the old rules, we have tended to misread God's intention. It was never that we should replace the old laws with our rules, but that the laws of God would be written on all our hearts: "I will put my laws into their minds and write them on their hearts." So, it is not a matter of something feeling "good" to us, but of "feeling good" because it is perceived by us as being good with God.

'Buffalo Bill' waits for NBC's 1st casualty

By Peter Meade

The baseball season may be over but NBC has their top pinch hitter waiting in the on-deck circle. His name is "Buffalo Bill" and he's waiting for the next NBC half-hour series currently in the lineup to strike out.

"Buffalo Bill," starring Dabney Coleman in the title role as an acerbic talk-show host, first appeared as a mid-season replacement last season. The 11 episodes that aired were met with critical praise and noteworthy ratings, but when the new season's shows began production last summer "Bill" was not in the lineup scheduled to begin in late September.

"Probably the earliest we would get on would be November," says Joanna Cassidy, who plays Buffalo Bill Bittinger's director, JoJo White. "We've kept two shows from last year and they're ready — we just have to wait."

So while she waited Miss Cassidy used three weeks of the summer to do a European promotion tour for her movie "Under Fire," which also stars Nick Nolte, Gene Hackman and Rene Enriquez of "Hill Street Blues." She plays a journalist, and although she enjoyed the role because it was "so real," she says comedy is more of a challenge.

"I have no preference as far as comedy vs. drama," she says. "I only have one thing to say on that: Comedy is more difficult."

Miss Cassidy has honed her

Joanna Cassidy

theory after roles on "240-Robert," "Family Tree" and a six-show stint on "Falcon Crest" last season.

"I'm the most comfortable with JoJo," says Miss Cassidy. "It's me, but so far we've only seen quick bits of me. The new shows will focus more on the other individuals on the show, instead of seeing things just through Bill's eyes."

There's no way of seeing where "Buffalo Bill" will pop up, but Miss Cassidy is optimistic that fans of the series will follow to whichever evening it is destined for. One thing is for sure; when the series returns it will do so without a laugh track.

"It's always a fight with the network," says Miss Cassidy. "They think the audience must be told when to laugh. It has become so traditional and now it's computerized, so NBC was brave to do this."

Connie and Gil mix marriage and career

By Peter Meade

Having played Apollo Creed in the "Rocky" movies," Carl Weathers knows a knockout when he sees one. So when the actor boarded a New York to Los Angeles flight with his friend, Connie Sellecca, he introduced the dark-haired beauty to another actor, Gil Gerard.

After that meeting, the rest of the story of Gil and Connie sounds like the best fairy tale Hollywood can offer. Eight weeks later they became Mr. and Mrs. Gerard, two years later they had a son, and next month they will celebrate four years of marriage.

In an era where show business marriages should be measured in dog years, the Gerards have managed to maintain theirs, a baby, and their busy acting careers. It has not been without effort.

"After 'The Greatest American Hero' ended," says Miss Sellecca, "the pilot offers came in, but I was going through a guilt and conflict period. I didn't want to leave my family."

She had taken her son, Gilbert Vincent (nicknamed Gib), with her during the filming of "Hero," which sometimes involved 12-hour days on locations miles from home. It would have been impossible to continue this arrangement with a new series.

"I was suffering from the super-woman syndrome," she explains. "I wanted to be the perfect mother, perfect wife, perfect actress. Then I realized I couldn't do everything."

Along came producer Aaron Spelling offering another of those pilot scripts. It was for

Connie Sellecca

"Hotel," based on the Arthur Hailey novel of the same name. Best of all it was being filmed at Warner-Hollywood Studios, a short drive from their home.

"I said to Connie, 'How can you turn down this role?' " says Gerard. "A series is the only thing that keeps you in the public eye."

The former "Buck Rogers" is also taking his own advice about a TV series. Gerard is currently in development for a series after recently turning down the lead for the pilot based on the movie "Blue Thunder." He felt the "one-man 'A-Team' in the sky" concept just wouldn't fly.

The Gerards are also interested in producing and starring in a TV movie together. Gerard says they are trying to find stories like "The Thin Man" or "Pat and Mike."

His wife is equally excited about working with her husband. "Then I could use pillow talk to get my way," she says.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

I would like to know if anyone has ever written a book about Roger Moore. Where can I write to him? — D.B., Jamestown, N.Y.

There's been no book written about Moore, but he has appeared on interview shows, revealing a lot about himself. Write him in care of his agents, Chasin Park-Citron, 9255 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles, CA. 90069.

My favorite detective show was "Mannix" and someone told me that Mike Connors, who played Mannix, had died. Is this true? — J.D., Anna, Ill.

Not true. Mike is alive and well and at work on post-production details of a film he financed, produced and starred in. Now the trick is to get it ready and find a distributor.

Mike Connors

I have been watching "The Price Is Right" and heard Bob Barker thank viewers for cards sent when his wife died. When did she die? It seems as if it was just recently that she was sitting in the audience at the show. — S.C., Jamestown, N.Y.

You have been watching reruns. Bob's wife died of cancer over a year ago. In reruns, they don't necessarily run the shows in the order they were produced. So, she could have been in the audience very shortly before you saw the show in which Bob mentioned her death.

Bob Barker

Who plays Frannie Hughes on "As the World Turns" and where could I write to her? — T.D.R., McMinnville, Tenn.

Terri Vandenbosch is playing Frannie, having recently taken over the role. It is her TV debut. Skilled in gymnastics, like the character, having trained at the State Univeristy of New York in Albany and at Juilliard, she played leads in several regional theater productions before joining the cast of "As the World Turns." Write her in care of the series at CBS Television, 51 Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

FRIDAY

Duke (Keenen Ivory Wayans, r.) wants Sgt. China Bell (Yaphet Kotto) to train him to be an All-Army boxer but is afraid he will find out he cannot read in "Learning Experience," on NBC's "For Love and Honor," airing Friday, Oct. 28. (Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

STARVIEW

Christmas is early for a merry few

By Elaina Thompson

The neighborhood printer says I came to him too late to get my greetings processed in time for this Christmas. In case Santa is similarly pressured about stocking something for everybody on the Dec. 24 sleigh, here are some homes he can fly by. Other Santas came earlier, with major goodies.

He can skip the new New York apartment of Regis Philbin. Last year, Regis starred daily on NBC in his own series. And he had a big steady job to fall back on, co-hosting a talk show with Cyndy Garvey on KABC-TV in Los Angeles.

Then his past and present boss, Bill Fyffe, now the veep general manager of ABC's flagship station WABC in New York, lured Regis back to the Big Apple (lured Cyndy, too, keeping the team together). But in the meantime, Regis, his wife and kids had been living in California in a big house, with a pool and no snow. Big bucks tied to his WABC package inspired him to migrate.

From the moment it was published, Alan Ebert's novel, "Traditions" (now in its eighth printing as a Bantam paperback) has been hailed as a natural to evolve into a television miniseries. It deals with nice, and not so nice, people on the Hollywood-to-Europe glamour circuit and readers who have cast it mentally see the likes of Tom Selleck and John Travolta as the male leads. But Ebert, a worrier, didn't want to let his creation move off the book pages until it drew a top producer. Well that's come true. David

Regis Philbin

Susskind has not only pacted to bring "Traditions" to television, but also its sequel, which won't even be published until next spring.

Santa can also skip over the rooftops of Pat Mitchell and Bonnie Strauss, the former and current co-hosts of "Hour Magazine."

Miss Mitchell, who wanted to produce, as well as host, her own show with entire half-hours devoted to women's problems and issues, got the break she needed when Golden West Television stepped in to bankroll Pat's creation, "Woman to Woman" and syndicate it around the country.

For Miss Strauss, who had been covering breaking news stories and compressing her views to three minutes on news shows, Miss Mitchell's vacated "Hour" slot was just what she wanted. Now she can do a diversity of interviews and have enough time, "up to 11 minutes if I need it, to get in the human values of a story."

Diana Ross is one of the many superstars from the illustrious Motown past who are on hand for "Motown 25: Yesterday, Today, Forever," the Emmy Award-winning 25th anniversary celebration saluting Motown's contribution to the world of popular music, to be rebroadcast Suday, Oct. 30 on NBC.

Braeden is Gudegast; Damion to cut record

By Kimberly Redmond

On "The Young and the Restless," the man who plays Victor Newman looks and sounds like the German officer on the old "Rat Patrol" series. Is it possible they are the same person? — B.R., McMinnville, Tenn.

You're absolutely right. Eric Braeden (Victor on "Y&R") did star in "Rat Patrol." Braeden portrayed Captain Hauptman Hans Dietrich, although at the time Eric was working under his real name, Hans Gudegast.

My daughter is a fan of Michael Damion (Danny Romalotti) on "The Young and the Restless," and somewhere I read he had a record album available. Can you tell me where we can buy it? — R.F., Sandy, Utah.

Michael has been working on an album that he had hoped to release this past summer. The album was slated to contain original songs written by Michael and his brother, Larry Weirr. To get further information on his recording career, you can write to Michael in care of "Y&R" at CBS-TV, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90036.

Kate Jackson

My friend and I are having an argument over a character on "Guiding Light." My friend says that Eve McFarren was blind at one time; I say she wasn't. Can you help us out? — K.J., Spokane, Wash.

Eve suffered a bout of hysterical blindness when her romance with Ben McFarren went on the rocks. Eve, played by Janet Grey, was written out of the "GL" plot line several months ago, however, when the soap's new producer, Gail Kobe, did some swift cast house cleaning.

I've heard that Kate Jackson (starring in the "Scarecrow and Mrs. King") once acted on a soap opera. Can you tell me what show she appeared on? — B.H., St. John, Wash.

Kate appeared on the popular Gothic soap, "Dark Shadows," now in syndication, as Daphne Herridge.

A new look

Peter O'Toole

Public television's Emmy Award-winning home remodeling series has a new look and title this season. "The All New This Old House," with host Bob Vila and crew, has already broken ground on the construction of a new, energy-efficient solar home from the ground up in a weekly 26-part series. Completion of the house, located on Boston Edison-owned land in Brookline, Mass., is projected for the spring of 1984.

"This will be the first time ever that viewers can get an in-depth look at contemporary architecture and construction. It's a radical departure from previous seasons because we don't have an existing, dilapidated home to look at and tour. We're starting off with a piece of land and a concept," says Vila, a Boston businessman specializing in residential remodeling and design, who was spotted for the series, now in its fifth season, by producer Russell Morash, who was exited about the potential of a program on home rehabilitation.

'Kim' classic for TV

Peter O'Toole, Bryan Brown and screen newcomer Ravi Sheth will star in "Kim," a three-hour made-for-television motion picture adapted from Rudyard Kipling's classic novel, now filming on location in India for broadcast late this season on CBS.

Sheth, a 15-year-old Bombay resident whose father is Indian and mother is American, will portray the title character of Kim, an English lad who is orphaned at an early age and raised in the streets of India as a native.

O'Toole, star of such theatrical motion pictures as "Lawrence of Arabia," "Becket," "The Lion in Winter" and "Lord Jim," portrays the Indian holy man whom Kim aids in his quest for a sacred river.

Australian actor Brown, star of the miniseries "The Thorn Birds," portrays Mahbub Ali, the dashing horse trader who Kim follows on a road of high danger and intrigue.

NEW YORK — Victoria Principal is following her fitness and fatness book, "The Body Principal," with one on the care and feeding of your teeth, hair, skin and chins, called "The Beauty Principal." Will Victoria ever do an autobiography and reveal what fun she got out of that body and beauty? "Someday," she says. "I'll call it "The Living Principal."

That on-again, off-again Roone Arledge marriage is finally finished. Mrs. Arledge, an ex-Miss Alabama, tells even non-friends that the marriage is kaput... Republican Tom Horton, a Richard Nixon supporter in the 1960 election, is producing "America Remembers John F. Kennedy," the syndicated TV special. On the program Arthur Schlesinger recalls JFK asking him to join the White House after the inauguration. Said Schlesinger: "It's not quite clear what I'll be doing." Replied Kennedy: "It's not quite clear what I'll be doing either."

Paul Anka will play Joey Madison, a down and out singer making a comeback on an upcoming episode of ABC's "The Fall Guy." The character sings three songs, written specially for Anka who's taking a deep dive into acting... Cosmetics lady Mary Kay, a great grandma, admits in "Woman's Day" that looking beautiful doesn't come easy anymore: "I go to bed Elizabeth Taylor and wake up Charles deGaulle."

Seventh Grade Students Study At Camp Hickory

A three-day Resident Environmental Education program for the seventh grade students in the Garrett County schools has been held at Camp Hickory during the past four weeks, according to Joseph L. Winters, coordinator of Camp Hickory.

Approximately 200 students from the seventh grade science classes at Northern middle, Bloomington, and Yoder schools plus two classes from Southern Middle were in attendance. The remaining eight seventh grade science classes from Southern Middle will be participating in a similar program in the spring with their teachers.

During their stay, students were involved in activities dealing with the soil, water, and forests as well as collecting and studying weather data. These activities correlated with a unit in the county-wide seventh grade science curriculum which emphasizes the life sciences. The unit entitled "The Environment" focuses on the needs, role and environment of living things. A study tour dealing with coal and its formation was taken one morning during their stay.

Additional programs of interest were presented by Al Bourgeois and Ernie Mets of the Maryland Forests, Parks and Wildlife Service along with James Ross, Sr., of Friendsville.

Instructional staff during the program included Jay Rice, Southern Middle; Cheryl Glotfelty, Jeff Jackson and Dana Thoman of Northern Middle; Carolyn Dooley, Yoder School; Russell Yocum, Bloomington School; Linda Martin, instructional aide at Camp Hickory and Winters.

Also assisting in the program were selected 11th and 12th grade students from Northern and Southern High schools who served as resident counselors. They were: Criss Kepple, Lori Cooley, Susan Wright, Fred Ridder, John and Verne Leininger, of Southern High, and Stella Steuber, Janell Esser, Barb Friend, Rodney Frazee, Bret Friend, Ray Kearney, David and Seth Brandes, Dwight Emory, Kim Habel, Kim Moore, Barb Taylor, Regina Canan, Kate Klotzbaugh, Chip Frank and Brad Brenneman, of Northern High.

Keith Harvey, a teacher at Broad Ford Elementary and Linda R. Martin were the adult night counselors in residence.

In addition to this program, day and overnight classes dealing with various nature study topics are scheduled by the classroom teachers throughout the school year at Camp Hickory.

Resume Writing Workshops Slated

The Homemaker Career Opportunities Program of Garrett Community College will continue to hold free Resume Writing workshops during the month of November every Thursday afternoon except November 24.

Resumes are an important part of a successful job search, according to Barbara Frey, director of the HCO Program, and many people fail to get job interviews due to improperly prepared resumes or incomplete presentation of their skills and abilities to a prospective employer. Each one-hour workshop is designed to aid participants in writing resumes that can assist them in seeking and securing employment.

Participants are asked to bring to the session a complete list of previous employment along with their educational background. Assistance is also available in writing the appropriate letter of introduction to accompany a resume.

These workshops are held each Thursday afternoon from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. in Room 306 of the Oakland Center of GCC. The scheduled dates for the workshops are November 3, 10, and 17. For further information or to pre-register persons may call 334-9184.

Treatments For Flu Offered By Health Officials

Influenza shots can protect against the flu, but there are other viruses which cause illness quite similar to the flu, according to the Garrett County Health Department. For these viruses and those who contract the flu, there are a few treatments recommended by the Center for Disease Control.

Flu is spread through droplets of moisture produced when persons sneeze, cough, or talk, so people are advised to: stay away from others as much as possible; rest in bed to help the body recover; drink fluids to loosen secretions in the respiratory tract and replace fluids lost through fever; try a cough suppressent if needed to ensure a good nights sleep; use a humidifer to decrease the discomfort of dry cough; keep warm to conserve body heat; eat wisely, because nutritious meals help build strength; and take aspirin or aspirin substitute at four to six hours intervals to relieve pain and fever.

Antibiotics are not effective against flu but may be required if complications occur. Antihistamines are not effective against flu and may cause bronchial complications. Persons are advised to contact their physician and follow his/her instructions if flu symptoms are severe, if they are persistent, and/or if the condition worsens.

The last local flu vaccine clinic is Monday, October 31, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Garrett County Health Depratment, Oakland.

Halloween Safety Alert Issued By Dept. Of HMH

William M. Eichbaum, Assistant Secretary for Environmental Programs, Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, recently issued a safety alert to parents and guardians whose children go trick-or-treating on Halloween.

Eichbaum reminds parents to warn their youngsters not to sample treats before returning home. All treats should be carefully and visually inspected for hidden hazards. Packages that look suspicious should be discarded. Eichbaum especially advises parents to allow their children to trick-or-treat only at familiar homes and neighborhoods.

To help assure a safe Halloween; the following precautions should be observed:

•Costumes, masks, beards, and wigs should be labeled "Flame Resistant." Although this does not mean they won't catch fire, such labeling indicates that they will resist burning and should extinguish quickly. Flimsy materials, or baggy and billowy outfits should be avoided.

•Costumes should be short enough to prevent trick-or-treaters from tripping.

•Trick-or-treaters should wear reflective tape and be equipped with flashlights.

•Masks, disguises and hats should not restrict breathing or vision.

•If carried, accessories or props should be of soft, flexible material.

•Young trick-or-treaters should always be accompanied by adults.

•Children should not carry lighted candles, or plastic or cardboard jack-o-lantern candles inside them.

•Adults should remove all obstacles from steps, lawns and porches. Jack-o-lanterns should be kept away from steps or draperies.

Consumers wishing further information should call the Division of Product Safety at 387-2757.

ONE OF A SERIES OF ADS ABOUT THE CHANGES IN YOUR PHONE COMPANY

HOW TO READ YOUR NEW PHONE BILL.

STARTING OUT SIMPLY

When you open your bill, the first page you see is a summary page. It lists total charges for local area service, long distance, and phones you lease. And shows you the amount due.

After the summary is a page that lists charges for your local service. Pages for leased phones and long distance service follow. Each page gives you phone numbers to call for questions about that specific service.

SEE EXACTLY WHAT YOU'RE PAYING FOR

Some of the items on the pages call for more details. Like itemizing long distance calls. Or leased phone charges. These are explained on Backup pages.

PAYING THREE COMPANIES CAN BE AS EASY AS PAYING ONE

Even though you could get services from three separate companies, you'll still have just one monthly bill. From C&P. And just one check to write.

Your phone bill is changing because your phone company is changing.

And your phone company is changing because C&P will be separated from AT&T on January 1st.

When that happens, we will still provide you with your local service.

AT&T will lease phones and offer long distance service.

So if you haven't bought a phone or switched your long distance company, your new bill will include charges from other AT&T companies.

We'll be changing your bill format in October to help you get used to it.

And we're doing all we can right now to make changes like your new bill format easier. With ads like this. And monthly bulletins in your phone bill.

Watch for them. And keep them.

You can count on us to help you understand the coming changes in your phone company.

WE CAN HELP.

Important: The bills shown above are SAMPLE bills only. Refer to your bill for actual charges.

OUR COMPANY IS CHANGING. IF YOU WOULD LIKE TO KNOW MORE ABOUT HOW THOSE CHANGES WILL AFFECT YOU, CALL US AT 1 800 555-5000.

Bratcher-Frazee Couple Married In Double-Ring Event August 20

Wedding vows were exchanged in a candlelight ceremony on August 20 by Barbara Jo Bratcher and Douglas Alan Frazee. The double-ring event took place at Bethany Church of Christ, McMinnville, Tenn., with Rev. Richard Bost officiating. Mr. Lester McNatt was the vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Bratcher, McMinnville. Mr. Frazee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Frazee, Deer Park.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of Victorian-style of candlelight ivory lalique satin. A yoke of lace netting with a scalloped bertha ruffle coming to a V in both front and back formed a cape effect over the shoulder. Long, full puff sleeves of sheet tiered lace lined with net were gathered to French cuffs. The scalloped cuffs were closed with miniature pearl buttons. The full gathered skirt of the dress was a lace overlay and featured a scalloped hemline. Her ivory fedora was covered with ivory veiling caught in a bow at the back.

The bride wore a cameo brooch and heirloom from her late grandmother and a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

She carried a cascading bouquet of peach gardenias, blue Queen Anne's lace and ivory roses, tied with peach and blue ribbons with long streamers ending in love knots.

Miss Melissa Fulks served as the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Janet and Susan Dudney. Jennifer Mitchell, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Serving as best man was Richard Frazee, Deer Park, brother of the groom. Ushers were Stanley Todd, cousin of the bride, and Joseph Bratcher, brother of the bride. Bryan Frazee, Deer Park, and Jared Kessel, Ridgeley, W. Va., nephews of the groom, were ring bearers.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Tracy Bost attended the guest book.

Following a brief wedding trip the couple established residence in Nashville, Tenn.

The bride is a graduate of Warren County Senior High School and is presently a senior at David Lipscomb College in Nashville, Tenn.

The groom is a graduate of Southern High School and Nashville Auto Diesel College and is presently employed at Nixon Detroit Diesel in Nashville as a diesel technician.

Attending the wedding from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Frazee and son, Bryan, Deer Park, and Jerry Steyer, Oakland, and Ms. Darlene Kessel and son, Jared of Ridgeley, W. Va.

MM2 Mark E. Edmiston, son of M/Sgt. and Mrs. Jack Edmiston, Friendsville, has been awarded the Navy Expeditionary Medal.

His ship, the USS Virginia, and its crew received this recognition for their naval gunfire support off the coast of Beirut, Lebanon, during September. The ship and its crew are still stationed off the Lebanon coast as part of the multi-national peacekeeping force.

Edmiston, a 1977 Northern High School graduate, was awarded the Navy Good Conduct Medal in August "in recognition of faithful, zealous and obedient naval service."

Edmiston is qualified as an engineroom supervisor and serves as work center supervisor reactor mechanical No. 1 engineroom aboard the Virginia.

Edmiston has served in the U.S. Navy for four years.

Results Of Booth Festival Reported

The North Garrett Parish Booth Festival for the Burlington Children's Home was held October 16 at the Grantsville United Methodist Church.

Winning for the "most unique" booth award was Blooming Rose and Selbysport of the Friendsville Charge. "Best Food Display" was won by Emmanuel of the Grantsville Charge. "Follows the Theme Best" winner was Hoyes, McHenry, and Paradise of the Deep Creek Charge, "Best Variety Display" winner was Grantsville, State Line, and Jennings of the Grantsville Charge.

Judges for the booth display were Richard and Louise Kolb and Flo Tissue. Music and games were provided by John and Carla Zeigler. A film was shown by the Burlington Home about the children and activities of the Home. Refreshments were served.

Rightful Owners Of Unclaimed Funds Sought

"Ads running in newspapers throughout Maryland during October are one of the ways our office and Maryland businesses are looking for 5,236 people who are apparently the rightful owners of approximately $817,000 in unclaimed benefits and other funds reported to the State by insurance companies," State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said.

The Republican is publishing the ads the weeks of October 24 and 31.

But the Comptroller stressed that, in addition to placing ads in local newspapers, the Comptroller's Office has mailed notices to the owner's last known address where a complete address was available, "meaning the next two weeks are an especially good time to check the ad sections of the newspaper and watch your mailbox closely," he said.

"If you receive a notice from our office, it could bring you cash," Goldstein stated. "The notices will advise owners whom to contact. But if you spot your name or the name of someone you know in the ads, contact the Abandoned Property Section of our office and you will be told how to file your claim."

One common type of unclaimed insurance benefit is a matured endowment policy, often set up by parents or grandparents upon the birth of a child.

Other unclaimed property reported by insurance companies includes unclaimed wages and returned premiums or benefits. No time limit is placed on reclaiming the property. Rightful owners or heirs can reclaim the funds at any future date.

Slides, Skits Honor BPW Members As Women Of Year

Slide and skit presentations highlighted the October 20 meeting of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club as all members were saluted as "Women of the Year."

This year, rather than single out one member for her outstanding contributions to her place of employment, community and organization, the club's Woman of the Year chairman and committee agreed to honor all the club members. Wilma Calhoun was WOTY chairman, assisted by Pat White, Kitty Crowe, and Lucy Shorb.

The dinner meeting was also in observance of National Business Women's Week October 16-22. Mildred Wucik is chairman of that committee, assisted by members Helen Harman, Mildred Dunbar, Alice Smith, Eleanor Deal and Carol Canan.

Various humorous skits were given, with club president Leona Beckman and members Helen Harman, Lucy Shorb, Connie Trickett, Barbara Flinn, Jeri Jones Swartzentruber and Ann Wellham. Assisting with the readings about each member, her work and her first job were Pat White, Marci McClive, Leona Beckman, Mildred Wucik and Kitty Crowe.

Next month the club will honor the young woman selected by a panel of judges as Young Careerist. Pat White is chairman of the committee which is seeking candidates for the position. She may be reached at 334-4147. That meeting is scheduled November 10 at 6:30 p.m. at Will O' the Wisp.

Any woman interested in becoming a member of the BPW organization, which promotes the interests of working women, may call Leona Beckman, president, at 334-2385 or Marthe McClive at 387-4745 for more information.

Applications for the 1983-84 scholarship to assist a local woman in furthering her education are now available from any club member or by contacting Mildred Wucik at 826-8434.

Bambacus Calls DNR Focus To Yough Incident

In a letter last week addressed to Torrey C. Brown, secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Sen. John Bambacus expressed concern about an incident along the Youghiogheny River last summer.

The specific situation involved three DNR employees who were alleged to be found trespassing on the land along the river owned by Jeanne Frantz.

Bambacus began by saying that he fully appreciates that this is a sensitive and delicate matter, and that it is not his practice to write to the Secretary on this type of issue. However, the senator said "You will agree that the potentially explosive nature of this situation seems to demand careful attention."

The senator referred to an incident August 5, when Mrs. Frantz found three DNR employees in a DNR vehicle which was stuck on her private road. The landowner had the vehicle pulled out and advised the occupants that they were trespassing. Although the three said they had permission to be there, Mrs. Frantz had authorized no entry that day.

Sen. Bambacus concluded by saying he would appreciate Brown's consideration of the matter and noted, "It is perhaps this type of incident which has contributed to so much of the discord on matters surrounding the Youghiogheny River."

Man Sought For Battery Surrenders To Authorities

A Terra Alta man turned himself in to local authorities October 20 when he learned that a warrant for his arrest on assault and battery charges had been filed.

According to reports from the Garrett County sheriff's office, Alvin E. Murphy, 58, was being sought for assault and battery after charges were filed by Allen S. Paugh, Jr., Deer Park, following an incident which allegedly occurred at the Paugh home October 12. Murphy is free on $500 bond pending trial. Assistant Chief Deputy Harland Tichnell served the warrant on Murphy.

AG Census Shows Rise In Number Of County Farms

Preliminary reports of the 1982 Census of Agriculture show that the number of farms in Garrett County increased from 637 to 695, while the average number of acres per farm changed from 198 to 183 since the 1978 census. All land in farms totaled 126,973 acres in 1982. The Census Bureau defines a farm as any place from which $1,000 or more of agriculture products were sold or would have been sold.

Land from which crops were harvested increased to 39,662 acres, from 1978, a three percent change.

Garrett County farmers sold $17.5 million in agricultural products according to preliminary reports from the 1982 Census of Agriculture. The 1982 sales figure represents an average of $25,175 for each of the county's farms.

The census reports that $1.8 million or 11 percent of total sales were for crops, while $15.7 million or 89 percent of the total came from the sales of livestock, poultry and their products.

Preliminary data indicate that expenditures for feed for livestock and poultry were $4.5 million; total farm energy costs were $1.6 million; fertilizer costs were $919,000; and seed costs were $386,000.

Of the total farms in the county, 144 had gross sales of $40,000 or more; 434 reported sales of less than $10,000. Farms operated as sole proprietorships represented 91 percent of the total; those operated as corporations accounted for two percent. Women operated four percent of county farms in 1982, compared to six percent in 1978. In 1982, the average age of farm operators was 51.8 years. The proportion of operators listing farming as their principal occupation remained essentially unchanged at 51 percent since 1978.

Data in the report for 1978 and 1982 are directly comparable for acreages and inventories. Dollar values have not been adjusted for changes in price levels.

Preliminary reports can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Farming in Maryland

Number Of Farms In Maryland Also On The Increase

As in Garrett County, Maryland farms gained in numbers and decreased in size between 1978 and 1982, according to the Commerce Department's Census Bureau.

Preliminary reports just released for the 1982 Census of Agriculture show 16,184 farms, compared with 15,540 in 1978. Land in farms totaled 2.6 million acres, an average per farm of 158 acres, compared with 168 in 1978. Total sales of agricultural products amounted to more than $1 billion in 1982.

The average value of land and buildings per farm was $341,122, with a per acre value of $2,177.

Land from which crops were harvested increased to 1.5 million acres, a change of three percent, and acres irrigated rose from 28,467 to 38,677 in 1982.

The bureau defines a farm as any place from which $1,000 or more of farmproducts were, or normally would have been, sold in the census year.

The preliminary data indicate expenditures for livestock and poultry feed were $275.8 million; total costs for farm energy, $61.3 million; for fertilizer, $72.1 million; and for hired labor, $68.7 million. State farmers reported interest expenses of $58.5 million in 1982.

The sales of livestock and their products were $689.8 million, 67 percent of total agricultural sales. Dairy products amounting to $204.2 million were sold from 1,809 farms. The number of milk cows were up from 124,321 in the previous census to 128,183 in 1982.

The total cattle and calves inventory of 355,418 head on 7,002 farms was up from 328,598 in 1978. The 164,982 sold were down from 184,855 four years earlier.

An inventory of 179,149 hogs and pigs including 26,955 for breeding purposes was reported on 1,861 farms of which 67 farms had inventories of 500 or more and accounted for 54 percent of the State's total inventory. A total of 335,333 hogs and pigs was reported sold, of which 83,305 were feeder pigs.

Some 599 farms reported 21,797 head of sheep and lambs, with 16,427 shorn yielding 119,006 pounds of wool; 12,812 head were sold.

Sales of poultry and their products were $366.5 million. Some 1,926 farms reported an inventory of 4.4 million chickens three months old or older; 1,894 farms reported 3.8 million hens and pullets; and 1,378 farms reported 235.1 million broilers sold. In addition, 74 farms sold 105,038 turkeys compared with 64,821 sold in 1978.

The sale of crops amounted to $339.4 million. By harvested acreage, the leading crops were corn, with 62.8 million bushels from 620,201 acres; soybeans, with 11.3 million bushels from 413,138 acres; and tobacco, with 32.3 million pounds from 24,854 acres. Other crops were vegetables, 38,331 acres; wheat, 138,204 acres; and barley, 72,491 acres.

Agriculture census data for Maryland also reveal these facts:

*Of the total farms in the State, 2,770 had gross sales of $100,000 or more; 8,062 reported sales of less than $10,000.

*The average age of farm operators was 51.5 years; 2,119 were under 35, and 7,096 were 55 or older.

*Women operated 1,331 farms or eight percent of the State total.

*Fifty-four percent of the operators reported farming as their principal occupation, but 45 percent of all operators worked 100 days or more off the farm.

*Eighty-seven percent of the farms were operated by individuals or families; 1,544 by partnerships; and 519 by corporations, of which 88 percent were family held.

*Eighty-eight percent of the farmers owned all or part of the farms they operated; 9,927 were fully owned; 4,265 partly owned; and 1,992 were operated by tenants.

Data in the report for 1978 and 1982 are directly comparable for acreage and inventories. Dollar values have not been adjusted for changes in price levels.

Preliminary reports may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Survival Tips To Be Topic Of Conference

The winter of 1984 will follow the drought of 1983, and for many on the farm it will be tough. Those who use every bit of information—every idea, every tip and every opportunity—will probably endure, according to the Maryland Farm Bureau.

In consultation with several Extension agents, the Farm Bureau is providing one more opportunity for farmers to acquire information.

"Managing for Survival" is a one-day conference scheduled for November 4, at the Libertytown Fire Hall in Frederick County, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Libertytown is located 10 miles east of Frederick on Route 26.

Speakers will present nuts-and-bolts, no-frills information on financing, cash flow, machinery, feeding and fertilizer.

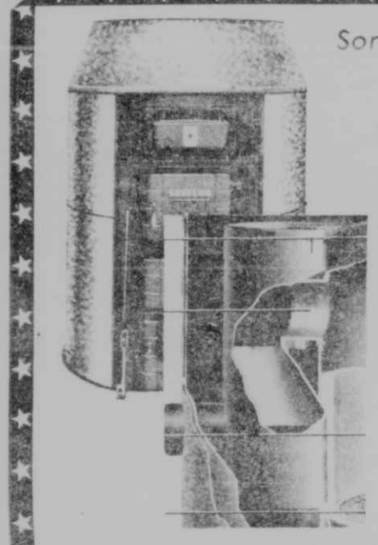
Representatives from Production Credit, Farmers Home Administration and a commercial bank will discuss financing opportunities. An Extension Agent, currently working with a group of farmers on their records, will cover cash flow based on experiences with a variety of farm operations. Another agent who has developed a dairy feeding program that is saving approximately 70 cents per day per cow for about 100 dairymen, will show how other producers could benefit from the same program.

Farm machinery and fertilizer are two other large cost items on most farms, and will be part of the agenda.

Speakers will include Don Rough, Terry Schultz and Max Buckel, representing the three financial structures. Walt Bay, Carroll County Extension agent, will cover cash flow, and Ken Wisner, agent in Frederick County, will discuss feeding dairy cattle. Maurice Gladhill, Frederick, will talk about farm machinery and equipment, and Dr. Allen Bandel, University of Maryland, will have the topic, "Saving on Fertilizer."

During the afternoon, farmers will have the opportunity to meet with the speakers in small groups for specific questions and discussion.

Lunch will be available at a cost of $4.



FFA Foundation Meets October 7

The Region I FFA Foundation organizational meeting was held Oct. 7 at the Casselman Restaurant. The dinner meeting was organized by the vo-ag teachers of the three vo-ag departments in the region with the North Garrett FFA chapter purchasing the meal. Various adults from the three areas who expressed interest in helping with the foundation were invited to the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting was to start the process for setting up a regional sponsoring committee for the Maryland FFA Foundation, which will accept money, gifts, land, etc. on behalf of the Maryland FFA Association.

Dr. Boyd Robinson, State Specialist in Agriculture-/Natural Resources, presented information to the group about the purposes of the foundation, and the process of organization. He answered questions from the group.

Those adults who attended the meeting were: Rex Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Collier, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Loughry from the North Garrett area; and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bowser, Tom Wildeson, Don Wilt, and Mr. and Mrs. David Boggess, from the Oakland area. Lee Heavner, Flintstone, brought with him Mr. and Mrs. Gary Teter, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Hardsock, and Dr. Boyd Robinson of the State Department of Education.

The program appears very informative. If you are interested in attending, call me for details. I will also coordinate transportation if necessary.

Treat Now for Cattle Grubs

Now is the time to plan and treat beef cattle and dairy heifers that have been on pasture for cattle grubs. There are a number of pour-on treatments available: Coumophos (Co-Ral), Crufomate (Ruelene), Famphur (Warbex), Fenthion (Spotton-Tiguvon), Phosmet (Prolate) and Trichlorfon (Neguvon). Pour-on treatments are easy to use and can accurately be applied based on the animals weight. Now is the only time to prevent cattle grubs. Next spring when you see the grubs coming out of the animals back, it is too late.

Sinbar Herbicide on Pure stands of Alfalfa

Sinbar can give good control of many of the annual weeds in your alfalfa. It can only be used on stands established for one year or more. Sinbar should be applied this fall after the alfalfa becomes dormant or in early spring before the growth exceeds two inches in growth. Do not apply on frozen ground which means that in the near future you should apply Sinbar if you're going to use it this fall. Also Sinbar cannot be used on alfalfa-grass mixtures. Sinbar can also be used between cuttings before the regrowth exceeds two inches. Make sure you read and follow recommendations on the label.

Avian Influenza Attacking Area Poultry Flocks

The Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) Office of Animal Health and Consumer Services reports suspected outbreaks of avian influenze in two poultry flocks located in central and western Maryland. Preliminary investigations are still underway in an effort to determine the source and seriousness of the problem.

The causative pathogen in avian influenza is a virus which is constantly mutating and changing through genetic recombinations in nature. Therefore, the damage which may occur to infected flocks is not highly predictable. Because of the recent discovery in Maryland, MDA has not yet had time to assess the virulence of the particular viral strain or strains which may be present in this State. Hence, it is recommended that poultrymen be on the alert and take necessary precaution to avoid unneccessory risk which might introduce the virus into their operations. This is especially important since there are no highly effective methods for treating the disease once it is established.

Owners of "backyard" flocks are urged to avoid the purchase of new birds until the situation has stabilized. In addition, since the virus may be transmitted by human traffic and wild waterfowl, it is recommended that visitors be kept away from birds, wild waterfowl be driven from the premises and the tracking of droppings and mud onto premises from waterfowl areas be avoided.

Flock owners should also report unusual depths, drops in egg production, or respiratory problems to the nearest MDA Animal Health Laboratory or to the local Extension Service office.

Special Haying Approved For Nine Counties

Severe drought conditions in Maryland prompted USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service to give farm program participants special permission to harvest hay or forage from their conservation use acres to feed their livestock, in nine counties. The nine counties currently approved are Baltimore, Cecil, Charles, Frederick, Howard, Montgomery, Queen Anne's, St. Mary's and Washington. Farmers in all other Maryland counties have been able to graze their conservation use acres as of October 1, which is the end of the six month nongrazing period.

Farmers interested in conservation use acreage haying and grazing should notify the county ASCS office.

PUBLIC NOTICE

In accordance with the mandate of 24 CFR 58.44 (b), the Board of County Commissioners hereby gives a combined Notice regarding the "Southern Garrett Industrial Park Phase III" Project which will consist of site preparation and infra-structure installation to provide a location for new manufacturing businesses and increased employment; the Project is to be Federally-funded at an estimated cost of $249,720:

(1) It has been determined that the request for release of the Federal funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the Board has decided that there is no need to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

An environmental review record documenting the reasons why such a Statement is not required is available at the Garrett County Planning Office, Old Courthouse, Room 307, Oakland, for public examination and copying, upon request, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

No further environmental review of this project is proposed to be conducted before the request for release of Federal funds.

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to the office of the County Commissioners (Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland 21550) on or before November 11, 1983; all such comments will be considered, and the Board will not take any conclusive administrative action on the project before that date.

(2) On or about November 15, 1983, the Board will request in writing that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) release the Federal funds reserved for this project through the FY83 ("Jobs Bill") Community Development Block Grant Program under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. Garrett County will be certifying to HUD that the Board, and Ernest J. Gregg, Jr., in his official capacity as Chairman, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to entorce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision-making, and action, and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification, upon its approval by HUD, will be that Garrett County may use the Block Grant funds that HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under NEPA. HUD will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only for the bases specified in 24 CFR 58.75, including: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Chief Executive Officer or other officer of applicant approved by HUD; or (b) that the applicant's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required decision, finding or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with HUD's requirements (24 CFR Part 58), and may be addressed to the HUD Area Office, 10 North Calvert Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21202. Objections to the release of funds on other bases will not be considered by HUD. No objection received after the fifteenth day following the receipt of the County's written request will be considered by HUD.

(3) This combined Public Notice is intended to meet two separate procedural requirements, and public comments should specify whether "Notice" (1) or (2) is being addressed.

By Order of the Board
Ernest J. Gregg, Jr.
Chairman

We've got a secret—and it's strictly classified information! We'll never reveal the identity of a Republican box holder. However, if you don't want your reply to go to certain companies, put your mind at ease! Just seal your reply in an envelope addressed to the box holder. Babysitting services will be provided, as well as door prizes and refreshments. All people interested in public education in the county are invited to attend.

Local Dancers Place First In Washington

The Appalachian Mountain Square Dancers brought home another trophy after placing first in the National Firemen's Parade in Washington, D.C. on October 8.

The two sets of dancers danced alternately through the parade on an 11 by 20 foot show wagon which was trailed by a small wagon carrying the figure caller and his wife. The wagons were decorated with red, white and blue skirting with matching rosettes on the railing and 20 small flags on top of the rails. A Liberty Bell carried the theme "A Salute to Firemen."

A donation from Raymond Ferguson, of Ferguson Construction Company, McHenry, made the trip possible for the local dancers.

Notice To Telephone Customers

Tariffs have been filed with the Federal Communications Commission to comply with Regulatory and Judicial decisions affecting the structure of the telecommunications industry and interstate telecommunications rates and charges. These tariffs are to become effective January 1, 1984.

Of interest to telephone customers are Access Service tariffs which provide new regulations, rates and charges for various types of interstate access service provided to End Users, that is, customers who obtain telephone exchange service from a telephone company's general and/or local exchange tariffs, and interstate telecommunications customers.

A customer provided with local exchange residence or business service by The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland or companies who have agreed to apply the rates in tariff FCC No. 3 will be charged for interstate End User Access Service as follows:

Type Service	Residence Rate/Month	Business Rate/Month
Individual Line or Trunk	$2.00*	$3.25
Two Party, Each Party	1.42	—
Semi Public Line, Each	—	3.25

*This rate also applies to Centrex Lines in place or on order as of July 27, 1983.

This rate also applies to Centrex Lines ordered after July 27, 1983.

A customer provided with local exchange residence or business service by a company not using the rates in our Access Service tariff, will be charged for interstate End User Access Service either in accordance with ECA Tariff FCC No. 1, or that company's tariff (which must be consulted to determine appropriate rates).

ECA Tariff FCC No. 1 rates are as follows:

Type Service	Residence Rate/Month	Business Rate/Month
Individual Line or Trunk	$2.00*	$6.00
Two Party, Each Party	1.21	3.64
Four Party Each Party	0.61	1.83
Eight Party Each Party	0.53	1.59
Ten Party Each Party	0.51	1.54
Semi Public Line, Each	2.00	6.00

*This rate also applies to Centrex Lines in place or on order as of July 27, 1983.

This rate also applies to Centrex Lines ordered after July 27, 1983.

These Access Service tariffs also provide regulations, rates and charges for switched, special and other access services that are generally associated with the origination and termination of interstate long distance and private line services. Because these services are generally designed for specific individual customer needs, the tariffs should be consulted for applicable rates and charges.

Your telephone company can tell you which tariff will apply to you and where a complete copy of that tariff is available for review.

Engineer Advises Against Repairs To County Bridge

In an effort to respond to recent citizens' complaints, the Garrett County commissioners met recently with state engineer James Duffey of Duffey, Montgomery and Associates to see whether any temporary repairs could be made to the Limestone Bridge along the Accident-Friendsville Road until the bridge could be replaced next spring, but received no encouragement from him.

The commissioners said last week the engineer called the bridge "extremely dangerous" and reminded them the bridge had been given a no load rating, meaning vehicular traffic in excess of 3,000 pounds should not be allowed to cross the bridge. Most vehicles weigh above that limit, the commissioners noted.

Duffey, whose firm had rated all county bridges two years ago, said in a letter to the commissioners, after their meeting on Oct. 19, that the bridge had been given its rating due to the severe deterioration of the bridge supports and deck.

He advised the commissioners against temporary repairs noting they would be extremely expensive and would not be cost effective, particularly since the bridge will be replaced in the spring.

The commissioners had to close the bridge to all traffic this year because of the engineer's recommendation to do so and because the county could be liable should an accident occur on the bridge.

Commissioner Elwood Groves pointed out that after the engineer's report was released two years ago, the com-

A PUMPKIN'S ALL RIGHT, I GUESS, BUT I'D PREFER A CADILLAC — So seems to be the gist of conversation between the dainty princess and the tiny green-faced witch at the Halloween festivites at the fire hall in Oakland Monday night. Goblins, ghouls and gorgeous girls flocked to the parade and party in record numbers this year, according to one town official. The young party goers above are cousins Candy Ashby, daughter of Willard and Crystal Ashby, and Ann Marie Ashby, daughter of Joe and Pam Ashby, all of Monte Vista road near Oakland.

Police Conducting Manhunt Near Deep Creek Lake

Maryland State Police and the Garrett County Sheriff's Department personnel are presently involved in a manhunt in the Mayhew Inn Road-Deep Creek Lake area.

Officials identified the man as Samuel Alexander Amerson, Jr., 29, who is wanted by officials in Greenbay, Wisc., for violation of probation and for a hit-and-run incident in Friendsville.

Amerson was paroled on October 7 from the Westville Correction Institute in the Fort Wayne, Ind. area. He had been serving time for child molesting but has also been convicted of rape.

He is described as being six feet, one inch tall, weighs 230 pounds, has sandy brown hair, blue eyes, a dark neatly trimmed moustache, and bears a scar on his left wrist.

He is believed to have stolen a car from the Fort Wayne area, eventually driving through Friendsville where he was involved in the hit-and-run accident. From that point he was pursued by police until he abandoned the vehicle near Deep Creek Lake and fled on foot.

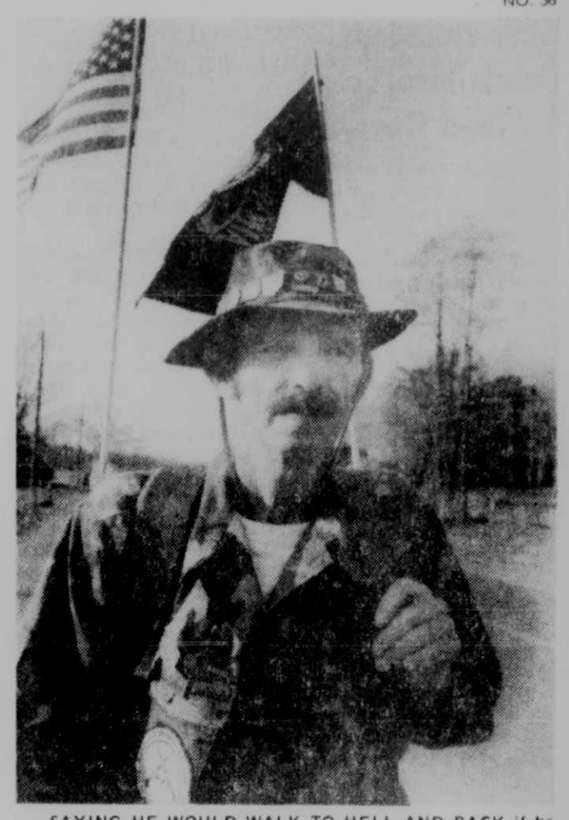
Police urge all citizens to be cautious as he may be armed. Ammunition and a knife were found in the vehicle.

The search is presently centering on the Mayhew Inn Road area as he has reportedly been seen by residents there.

Friendsville Man Critically Injured In Hit And Run

A Friendsville man, Gary Wayne Jenkins, 23, was critically injured in a hit and run accident that occurred at approximately 12:30 a.m., Saturday on the Friendsville-Addison Road.

According to a State Police Department spokesman, Jenkins was lying in the southbound lane where he was run over.



An 18 year old Grantsville man turned himself in to State Police Saturday afternoon after hearing about the accident. The alleged driver told authorities he observed something in the southbound lane, he tried to stop and as his vehicle slid over the object he thought it was a Halloween prank or dummy and proceeded on.

Two passersby, Michael and Barbara Finney, found Jenkins and Mrs. Finney went to a nearby home to summon assistance.

The Northern Rescue Squad transported Jenkins to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The medevac air unit was summoned, but was grounded due to high winds.

Jenkins was then transported to West Virginia Medical Center in Morgantown, where he is listed in critical but stable condition.

According to a police spokesman, no charges have been filed at this time.

SAYING HE WOULD WALK TO HELL AND BACK if he thought it could help his son missing in action in the Vietnam war, Homer Tutor, Jr., 55, of Deersville, Ohio, is walking to Washington, D. C. to publicize the 2,491 Americans still unaccounted for since that military action. Tutor is walking from Cleveland to Washington and passed through the county along Route 50 on Monday. He plans to reach Washington by Veterans Day, November 11, after a trek of 430 miles. Tutor, a machinist with Production Experts in Cleveland, carries an American flag and a "Prisoner of War—Missing in Action" flag in his knapsack to help alert the public to the possible plight of these men missing in the aftermath of the Southeast Asian conflict. His son, Rex, was reported to be killed in action in 1968 and he and his wife buried the remains of a soldier, but they feel the body was not that of their son. "The physical dimensions and the injuries did not match" those of his son, said Tutor, who harbors hope that his boy may be among the men still imprisoned in Vietnam. Tutor is also a member of the Veterans Vigil Society which maintains a constant watch at the new Vietnam Memorial at Arlington Cemetery, and has been to Washington several times for that mission. So far he and other Vigil members have obtained over seven million signatures to give to the Vietnamese U. N. delegation in hopes of speeding action to free the men still held. The dedicated father and former veteran of the Army engineers feels the POW issue is not being addressed properly by the government and that progress has been extremely slow on obtaining names of those held.

Applications For Fuel Assistance To Be Accepted

Local agencies throughout the state which administer the Maryland Energy Assistance Program (MEAP) are authorized to begin accepting applications for fuel assistance on Monday, November 14, according to an announcement by Shirley E. Marcus, acting director of the program, which operates through the Maryland Department of Human Resources, under provisions established by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

In a special outreach effort for handicapped and elderly persons, an advance application period of two weeks began on October 31, Ms. Marcus said. During this time, applications for fuel assistance are being taken from low income persons over 60 years of age and persons with non-ambulatory disabling handicaps.

"This year, the Department is making a special effort to accommodate the groups most vulnerable to the hardships of cold weather," Ms. Marcus said.

According to Ms. Marcus, local agencies are expected to begin actual payment of benefits on or before November 28. Approximately 82,500 households in Maryland are expected to receive fuel assistance grants through the program. The average payment will be approximately $272 she said.

Eligibility for energy assistance is established at 150 percent of the federal poverty level. For example, a family of four persons with a gross annual income of not more than $14,850 or a gross monthly in-

State Develops New Guidelines For Food Program

State officials have devised new eligibility guidelines for persons to receive federal commodities and although not ideal the guidelines are still better than the system used last time, reported Duane Yoder, executive director of Garrett Community Action, Tuesday during a meeting with the county commissioners.

The state system will be based on income eligibiltiy guidelines rather than on government program cards, Yoder said. Although the income guidelines are rather high, Yoder explained this morning the system will benefit the working poor and the elderly.

"There were too many inequities last time," Yoder said.

Although the state requires only that a person state his income, Garrett County officials will require persons wishing to receive commodities to fill out an application with proof of income. Community Action staff will check out all claims, Yoder said.

Applicants accepted will then receive a card which they will take with them to a distribution site where the cards will be punched. This system will insure that members of one household will not visit distribution centers more than once during a given commodity distribution.

Yoder said the income guidelines were calculated by multiplying federal poverty guidelines by 1.50 meaning that a family of four earning $14,850 annually will be eligible for federal commodities.

Yoder estimated that 2,500 to 3,000 households, or 40 percent of households in Garrett County were eligible based on figures in the 1980 census. He added that with recent high unemployment figures, more households may be eligible, maybe up to 50 percent of county households.

The next commodity distribution is scheduled for early December, Yoder said. He hoped to make applications available by Nov. 14 at the latest.

He added that the county Commission On Aging has indicated its interest in helping in the next commodity distribution.

In other commissioners' business, Dick Paugh of the Garrett County Fair Board stated the board has made a down payment to purchase the county fairgrounds from owner Charles Bowman, McHenry, but indicated terms of the sale were still under negotiation.

He declined comment on any of the sale terms.

Beck Appointed To Council On Rate Regulation

The president of Garrett County Memorial Hospital has been appointed to the Maryland Hospital Association's Council on Rate Regulation.

Lawrence M. Beck will join a panel of hospital executives, trustees, and financial experts from across the state on the committee which serves as MHA's chief policy advisory panel on matters dealing with the Maryland Health Services Cost Review Commission, which is the state agency which regulates hospital costs. The committee is chaired by Nick Rajacich, executive vice president of Memorial Hospital in Easton on the Eastern Shore.

The Maryland Hospital Association is a nonprofit, nongovernment group organized more than a dozen years ago as a vehicle for cooperation among the state's community acute care and special hospitals. Garrett County Memorial is an association member.

Beck, 34, was named president of the local hospital earlier this year. He came to the community from the post of associate director of Carroll County General Hospital in Westminster. He also has been an assistant director of Bon Secours Hospital in Baltimore. A graduate of Wayne State University in Detroit, he earned his master's degree in health care administration from George Washington University in Washington, D.C.

Beck resides in Oakland with his wife, Debbie and their two daughters.

Matthews Addresses 46th Annual Farm Bureau Membership Meeting

Jack Matthews, information director for the Maryland Farm Bureau, addressed the Garrett County membership at the 46th annual dinner meeting October 27 at the Grantsville Fire Hall.

Matthews spoke of the beauty and serenity of the area and asked that "residents never take the environment for granted." He also urged members to contact their legislators "because it is through this communication that they can know what the public is thinking and how to vote on issues so important to the agricultural community" and pointed out that "Your pocketbook is affected more by what happens in Washington and Annapolis than anywhere else. Your strength is in increased communication."

James Simms, Garrett County Agricultural extension agent, joined Matthews for a talk exchange, bringing out facts about commodities in the county and stressing the importance of farming, noting that each farmer today feeds an average of about 75 other persons.

Matthews also spoke of the water supply around the world and in this country, indicating that water is now a paramount issue as many states are already legislating use to businesses, farmers and others.

He then predicted that "approximately 10 percent of the nation's farmers will go bankrupt within the next year. Many are grasping for one idea to help them survive in 1984." He then invited everyone to attend a "Management for Survival" conference November 4 at the Libertytown Fire Hall.

Before concluding his talk, Matthews touched on the Chesapeake Bay controversary which he feels certain will affect the county sometime in the future.

At his conclusion, Matthews stressed the importance of Farm Bureau membership "because it is the most powerful group that can help the farmer solve the problems he faces today."

Nevin Umbel, Garrett Farm Bureau president, was master of ceremonies. Invocation was given by Rev. Oren Bender. Brooks Hamilton, member of the board of directors, read the proposed resolutions, which will be forwarded to the state resolutions committee for consideration at the Maryland convention December 1-3 in Hagerstown.

Local suggested resolutions include the following:

•That the state and county continue to support preservation of agricultural lands.

•That the state assume an equal proportion of cost associated with state-owned lands and no further acquisitions of land be made by the state in Garrett County.

•That control, growth and propagation of thistle and other noxious weeds (especially along banks and shoulders of public highways) be given priority by the Secretary of Agriculture and the State Highway Administration.

•That the state and county continue to upgrade and maintain bridges vital to the commerce of the county and its rural citizens.

•That commissioner terms be staggered so that at no time is the government left with three new commissioners.

•That legislation be passed requiring that beverage containers be made of recyclable materials and that sufficient deposit be charged to assure re-

Pennsylvania Man Given 13 Years

A Farmington, Pa., man was sentenced to a total of 13 years to the Department of Corrections.

During October 27 Circuit Court proceedings, Judge Fred A. Thayer handed down the sentence to Thomas William Rice, 42, on charges stemming from the theft of 16 drill bits from the Shaffer Rock Bit, Inc., Somerset, Pa. He had pled guilty to charges of theft, breaking and entering and a handgun violation during a July 28 hearing.

Two Brownsville, Pa., women, Carol Lynne Yocabet, 28, and Cindy Lou Popiesh, 23, were found guilty of stealing a Pa. car.

On July 16, accompanied by two male accomplices, they crossed the Maryland state line then abandoned the vehicle at Keyser's Ridge. Maryland State Police arrested them the same night.

Both women were given suspended one-year jail sentences, with credit for time served and supervised probation to be transferred to Pennsylvania.

Murder Suspect Apprehended After Extensive Manhunt

A Frostburg area man wanted in connection with two fatal shootings was apprehended last Wednesday, October 26, by Tfc. William W. Rice of the Maryland State Police, at the home of the suspect's parents in Finzel.

An extensive manhunt had taken place in the Finzel area prior to the apprehension involving local firemen, ambulance workers, Department of Natural Resources personnel and police.

Crowe was alleged to have entered the residence of William Walter Eichorn, 47, Frostburg, on October 23, and after a domestic argument, shot Eichorn and Crowe's estranged wife, Lois Faye Crowe, 34, also of Frostburg. Eichorn died that evening and Mrs. Crowe died later in Cumberland Memorial Hospital.

Crowe is charged with two counts of first degree murder in the deaths of Eichorn and Mrs. Crowe, and two counts of possession of a handgun with intent to kill.

FARM BUREAU INFORMATION DIRECTOR Jack Matthews addressed the 46th annual Garrett County Farm Bureau Convention, reminding those present of the importance of keeping the organization strong, because group cooperation provides much that cannot be done by individuals.

State Requested To Fund Sewer Line Relocation

Garrett County officials are attempting to prove to state officials why the Maryland Department of Transportation should pay for relocation of part of the Deep Creek sewer line when it replaces the U.S. 219 Bridge over Deep Creek Lake in 1986-87.

MDOT Secretary Lowell Bridwell said at a meeting in the county on October 20 that the state believes relocation of the sewer line should be the responsibility of the county, but the state might reconsider if county officials could provide information stating costs of the line relocation.

The Deep Creek Lake sewerage system is now under construction. Plans are to run the sewer line across the existing bridge.

The commissioners said last week that an engineer's estimate would set the price of relocation at $154,000 which would mean an extra cost of $15 per year for system users, unless the state picks up the tab. The cost would represent an increase of five percent on each user's fee.

Besides the Deep Creek Bridge, other items discussed during the meeting included the completion of U.S. 48 in Allegany County. Secretary Brid-

Over 2,190 Pets Receive Protection Against Rabies

Some 63 more cats and dogs were inoculated against rabies last Wednesday in Oakland at the final rabies clinic of the year sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department. A total of 34 were vaccinated the preceding day at Bittinger.

The total number of animals vaccinated in the clinics held this year is now 2,195, according to Rodney Glotfelty, rabies prevention coordinator for the health department. Glotfelty noted at the conclusion of the clinics that rabies clinics will be started as soon as possible in the spring.

As of October 25, Garrett County had recorded 17 cases of rabies, while statewide there were 674 cases. Of these 47 were bats, seven were cats, two were foxes, four were groundhogs, 591 were raccoons, 21 were skunks and two were beaver.

There has also been a reported case of a deer with rabies in Carroll County near Mt. Airy.

State Educators Issue Decision In Appeal Case

The Maryland State Board of Education has affirmed the decision by the Garrett County Board of Education to deny tenure to a teacher in an appeal case which has been in appeal proceedings since 1981.

The state board issued its decision on September 27 after hearing the appeal from Dan Lendo, a former drivers education teacher and coach at Southern High School, who was denied tenure on April 22, 1981.

Hearing examiner for the state board Elizabeth Nilson issued her recommendations in the case on July 14, 1983. She outlined the issues of the case as "whether the county board violated its policies and regulations by evaluating the Appellant's coaching performance on a teacher evaluation record" and "whether, if a violation is found, the State Board may grant board relief and order the county board to reconsider its decision of April 22, 1981 to deny tenure to the Appellant."

When his contract was not renewed in 1981, Lendo appealed to the state board which refused to hear the case. Lendo then took the matter to the courts with the backing of the Garrett County Federation of Teachers.

Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Thayer determined in December 1981 that the state board must hear the case.

The county and state boards appealed to the Maryland Court of Appeals which in December 1982 upheld Thayer's decision.

On April 21, 1983, hearing examiner Nilson heard Lendo's case and determined that the state board could not order the county board to reconsider its decision to deny tenure to Lendo because Lendo had not appealed the decision during the county board's May 14, 1981 hearing in the matter.

The state board adopted the hearing examiner's findings which included the decision that school officials had improperly considered Lendo's coaching performance as part of their evaluation of him as a teacher on Jan. 12, 1981.

The hearing examiner stated that although the state board could not order the local board to reconsider its decision, it could request the board to do so, "since Lendo has demonstrated several facts which may cause the Garrett County Board to question whether Lendo did, in fact, receive a fair and impartial consideration."

Auto Accident Sends Five To Oakland Hospital

An alcohol-related accident sent five area residents to Garrett County Memorial Hospital last Friday evening.

According to Maryland State Police reports, a 1980 Chevy C-10 pickup, driven by Michael Shawn Lockie, 24, Mt. Storm, W. Va., was southbound on Rt. 560 at an apparent high rate of speed.

As the driver topped a hill, he lost control and crossed the center line, striking a 1979 Chrysler LeBaron, driven by Patricia Jean Lowdermilk, 26, Oakland. Lockie then crossed back into his lane, struck a guard rail and momentum carried his vehicle another 440 feet.

Southern Rescue Squad and the State Police Medevac helicopter responded to the scene. Lockie, Lowdermilk and three passengers in the Lowdermilk vehicle were transported to the hospital.

Kenneth J. and Edith M. Biser were admitted and are listed in satisfactory condition; Patricia Lowdermilk was admitted but has since been released; Ricky L. Lowdermilk and Lockie were treated and released.

Another passenger, Angie Biser, was reportedly uninjured.

Lockie has been charged with driving at a speed greater than reasonable or prudent; failing to drive right of center and driving while intoxicated, or impaired by alcohol and/or drugs.

Tfc. D.G. Riggleman was the investigating officer.

Three File For Loch Lynn Offices

One incumbent and two first-time office seekers have filed for two council positions in the Loch Lynn election scheduled Monday, November 7.

Incumbent councilman who filed for another term is Michael Vance. Other residents who filed are Doug Callis and Jerry Eichorn.

The town hall will be open from noon to 6 p.m. for voting.

Official Reports Head Lice Outbreak Apparently Ended

A head lice outbreak in Garrett County schools apparently has ended, Al Coviello, pupil services director, said this week.

The outbreak, primarily occurring during the first month of school, seemed to be over near the beginning of October, but school officials still looked for more cases which could have appeared within three weeks after the last case was reported.

Coviello said he was pleased the outbreak has ended as rapidly as it has and attributed the success of eradicating the problem to efforts of school officials and parents who followed treatment procedures established several years ago by school officials and persons from the Garrett County Health Department.

Coviello added he would not guarantee a few cases will not be discovered, but indicated the large scale outbreak, which rose to 35 cases, was ended.

Bambacus Prefiles Vehicle Safety Act

State Senator John N. Bambacus, chairman of the Senate Select Committee for Garrett, Allegany and Washington Counties, has prefiled the School Vehicle Safety Act for consideration by the 1984 Session of the Maryland General Assembly.

The act would provide that school buses be equipped with an eight-light system of warning lamps, and is designed to assist motorist in preparing to stop for school buses taking on or discharging passengers. Thirty-eight states, including Pennsylvania and Delaware West Virginia have already instituted the system, and it was adopted also by the 1980 National Conference on Minimum Standards for School Buses and Operations.

Bambacus has sought comment on the proposal from local boards of education, the state Department of Education, the Maryland State Police, and school bus drivers in western Maryland. The concept has received wide support, and is considered to be a step forward in efforts to provide a greater measure of safety for the thousands of children who ride buses to school each day.

"I made a commitment early in my term of office to the safety of children who use our school bus system," Bambacus stated. "Considering the severe weather conditions we experience in western Maryland in particular, we must do all we can to assure traffic safety. This measure will help provide that assurance across the state of Maryland."

Mothers' March Set For Sunday

The annual Mothers' March Against Birth Defects is scheduled for this Sunday, November 6. The local collection is conducted for the March of Dimes by the Junior Woman's Civic Club of Oakland.

A spokesman for the club asked that persons be as generous as possible when they are called upon to make a donation.

Members of the club planning to participate in the project are: Debra Ahern, Susan Alvarez, Joanne Ashby, Lu Jean Bosley, Mary Lynn Bosley, Lois Cuppett, Donna Durst, Tammy Ewing, Teresa Field, Debbie Friend, Cheryl Henderson, Helen Moyer, Glenda Newcomb, Candy Parsons, Cindy Parsons, Mary Rice, Durenda Riley, Renee Savage, Sharon Schwalm and Jann Swiger.

FSC Program Extension Noted For Unemployed

Brent M. Johnson, State Secretary of Employment and Training, announced that some long-term unemployed Marylanders may be eligible for extra weeks of unemployment insurance benefits under an extension of the Federal Supplemental Compensation (FSC) program.

The FSC program, which was scheduled to end on October 22, has been extended to March 31, 1985, as a result of legislation recently signed by the President. The program provides additional weeks of unemployment insurance benefits to the long-term unemployed when regular unemployment insurance benefits are exhausted.

The provisions established under the FSC extension entitle qualified unemployed Marylanders to:

- Five additional weeks of FSC if they established an FSC claim after April 1, 1983, and exhausted their benefits prior to or during the week ending October 22;
- Two additional weeks of FSC if they established an FSC claim after April 1, 1983, and have not yet exhausted their benefits; and
- Eight weeks of benefits if they established an FSC claim after October 22, 1983.

Officials of the Department of Employment and Training (DET) will mail notices to individuals not currently receiving benefits who may be eligible for the five additional weeks. The notice will advise claimants when to report to their local DET office. Individuals entitled to the two additional weeks will not be required to report to their local office.

Individuals who believe they may be eligible for the extended FSC, but have not been notified of their potential FSC eligibility by November 9, 1983, should report to their local office soon thereafter.

Car Safety Seats To Be Installed By Health Dept.

Car accidents are the leading cause of death of children and it has been proven that the car safety seat is the best protection against such tragedies, according to the Garrett County Health Department.

Because of this, the Child Health Program of the Health Department will sponsor the installation of car safety seats for infants and toddlers on Wednesday, November 9.

As of January 1, 1984, Maryland law will require that children under three years of age ride in a car safety seat, and three and four-year-old children will be required to ride in a car seat or seat belt.

To have a safety seat installed by the Health Department, parents must be residents of Maryland, pay a small fee according to income, (proof of income required to meet certain guidelines), and have seat belts in good working order in their vehicles.

Parents are urged to contact the Health Department to answer a brief questionnair and make an appointment. They should call 334-8111 or 895-5050 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. and ask for Project KISS (Kids in Safety Seats).

GCC Receives Retraining Grant

The Westernd Maryland Consortium has voted to allot a $29,880 grant to Garrett Community College made available through the state for a worker retraining program.

Peter Thomas, consortium executive director, said recently the consortium decided GCC should get the money since Washington and Allegany Community Colleges had received job training program funds as had Frostburg State College.

ACC and Hagerstown Junior College earlier had received $50,000 each for tuition reimbursement programs designed to retrain workers with job skills for which there is little demand.

Frostburg also received $20,000 for a similar program.

The Consortium members also agreed that $66,000 in grant monies for dislocated workers should be split between the three counties, with Washington County receiving 44 percent of the allocation, Allegany receiving 38 percent and Garrett receiving 18 percent.

The money, coming to the state through the federal government, is part of government officials' attempt to help ease unemployment problems in western Maryland, Thomas explained.

Two Arrested In Trespass Incident

Two Kitzmiller area men were charged with having a loaded shotgun in their possession after they were involved in a Walnut Bottom trespassing incident on Halloween.

According to a report filed by Assistant Chief Deputy Paul Pratt and Deputy Larry Gnegy, Helen Everett, Walnut Bottom, had asked police assistance when two men on her property refused to leave when asked.

The report listed Junior Frederick Tasker, 50, of Star Route, Kitzmiller, and James Allen Whitacre, 37, Willow Street, Kitzmiller, as being in an intoxicated condition when police arrived. Neither of the two men left when requested to do so by police, and Tasker reportedly resisted and had to be subdued.

Tasker was charged with possession of a loaded gun and resisting arrest, while Whitacre has been charged with possession of a loaded gun. Both men were released November 1 on their own recognizance.

The sheriff's department was also called to investigate a breaking and entering and theft on the Accident-Friendsville Road and a breaking and entering of the Mt. Lake Park town hall.

Town employee Robert Lee Burns reported the latter incident to Deputy Philip Buckel, October 27. Deputy Buckel's report says that apparently a small crowbar was used to pry open the door to the tennis room, but nothing appeared to be missing.

Charles Gregory, Accident-Friendsville Road, called Deputy Buckel October 29 to report that his residence had been entered and numerous tools and a 30-30 Winchester rifle had been stolen. Total loss was set at $849, but the rifle was later recovered.

The investigation into these incidents is continuing and all leads are welcome at the sheriff's department, 334-2141 or Garrett County Crime Solvers, 334-3111.

PROCLAIM NOVEMBER EPILEPSY MONTH — The Garrett County Commissioners acted Tuesday to proclaim November as Epilepsy month at the request of the Epilepsy Association of Maryland. The local officials followed the lead of state and national leaders in urging citizens to recognize the more than two million Americans, including 250 persons in this county, who have epilepsy and who often are the victims of public misunderstanding of what epilepsy is. The proclamation urges citizens to join in efforts to educate the public "so that people with epilepsy can take their rightful place in the mainstream of American life." According to Jerry Goessel, above left, Regional Services Coordinator for the Epilepsy Association of Maryland, epilepsy is the most common neurological disorder in the country other than stroke, affecting roughly two percent of the population. The disorder can affect anyone at any age at any time. Among adults, a common cause of epilepsy is a head injury of any kind, and particularly head injury sustained in automobile accidents. There are an estimated 20,000 cases a year among people of all ages as a result of auto accidents. The convulsive or nonconvulsive seizures produced by the condition are caused by a temporary malfunction in the delicate electrical system of the brain. Goessel pointed out that advances in treatment have been dramatic and many with the disorder today are fully integrated into normal life. Above, Commissioner Ernie Gregg accepts a copy of the proclamation while Commissioners Elwood Groves and John Braskey look on. Anyone desiring more information may contact Goessel at 23 North Locust Street, Hagerstown, or by calling 733-7579.

Bambacus Asks Budget Review Of Government

State Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany-Garrett) has prefiled legislation to call for a review of the budgetary relationship between the legislative and executive branches of Maryland government.

"It seems to me that the time has come to take a good look at the state budget process and the role of the legislature in that process," Bambacus said. "In the interest of good government and a sound fiscal policy, it is my view that the legislature ought to have a greater say in the fiscal affairs of the state. We are expected to be accountable—we should be responsible as well."

The Western Maryland Republican pointed out that Maryland generally is characterized as having the strongest executive budget in the country, while the legislature has a very limited role in the process. The legislature may cut, but may neither shift funds within nor add funds to the governor's budget unless it creates a funding source.

"The state's fiscal resources simply are not growing at the rate they once did. Public policy decisions, as expressed in the appropriations process, are therefore becoming significantly more critical," Bambacus stated. "Therefore, I am requesting that a task force be formed to discuss this issue at the highest levels of state government."

Two Arrested For Thefts At Classie Car October 21

Two county men have been arrested by Oakland Police Officer Ron Beeghly on breaking and entering and theft charges following an incident at Classie Car Company October 21.

The men were also charged with conspiracy and destruction of property.

Arrested October 27 by Officer Beeghly was Reynold Joseph Picou III, 18, Highview Drive, Oakland. Following Picou's arrest a second man, William Eugene Johnson, 19, of Accident, turned himself in to police. The men are being held in the county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond for each.

According to Officer Beeghly's report, a portion of the merchandise taken from Classie Car has been recovered. Taken in that early morning theft were numerous items of car stereo equipment and some cash, amounting to $2,929.75.

Sheriff Finch Lists Recent Changes In His Department

Sheriff Franklin G. Finch reported this week on many of the recent changes which have been effected in his department including new equipment to increase efficiency and jail security.

According to Sheriff Finch, of the $58,956.34 received from the state as back pay owed the county for keeping state prisoners, some $43,396.11 was used to upgrade equipment of the sheriff's department.

Department personnel made suggestions, and the first item to be upgraded was the police radios. The department received a low bid of $18,046 from General Electric for 14 radios, which will allow two spares to be used when repairs are needed on the radios installed in the vehicles.

The department now has emergency sirens and lights for the four unmarked police vehicles. This equipment was installed at a cost of $500.

One shotgun was purchased for the newest deputy and a spare .357 revolver was added to the arsenal, along with new ammunition. Cost for these was approximately $1,500.

All deputies and the sheriff received rabies immunizations at a cost of $27 per man, and a total cost of $324.

Another area of concern for the staff was jail security. With $6,729.70, Deep Creek Security was authorized to install closed circuit TV cameras inside the jail. Cameras were originally planned for the jail when it was constructed, but these never materialized, as the sheriff pointed out.

An exercise-recreation program has also been instituted for prisoners, at a cost of approximately $300.

Bambacus Named To Committee To Review Debt Laws

Senator Norman R. Stone, Jr., chairman of the Senate Constitutional and Public Law Committee (CPL), has announced the appointment of Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) to a newly-formed special committee to review municipal public debt laws. The Task Force on Municipal Public Debt was formed in connection with the local government work of the CPL Committee, on which Bambacus serves.

"Many other aspects of the laws regarding municipal corporations have been periodically updated," Bambacus stated, "while the laws regarding the creation of municipal public debt have remained essentially the same. As a former Frostburg City Councilman, I have a special personal interest and background in these matters."

Bambacus was elected to the Frostburg City Countil in May of 1976 and served as Commissioner of Finance and Revenue. He retains his interest in local government, and was recently invited to address the annual Legislative Conference of the Maryland Municipal League.

The Task Force will be chaired by Senator Victor Cushwa (D—Allegany-Washington) and is expected to report its findings and recommendations late in November.

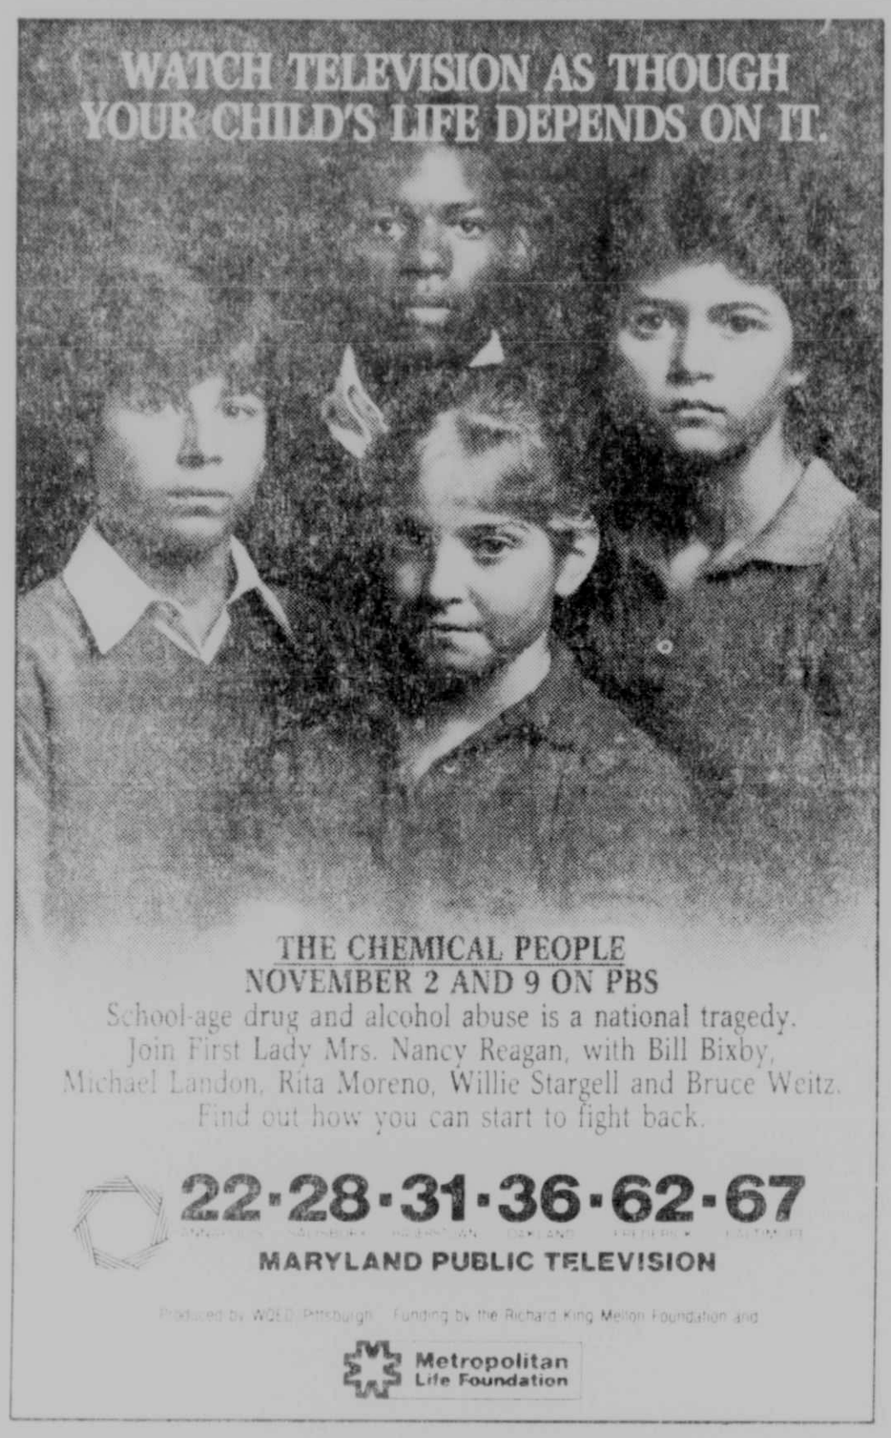
Error In Judgment . . .

"Armed and dangerous" were among the words used to describe an individual who allegedly murdered two people in Frostburg early last week and then fled the scene. The man's automobile was discovered in eastern Garrett County the next day, so that is where the Maryland State Police concentrated their search.

Despite the fact that the fugitive was said to be armed and dangerous, a call was made by the State Police for volunteer civilians to respond to the area and assist with the search. Members of both Garrett County rescue squads and from a number of volunteer fire departments—all unarmed, untrained citizens—were asked to participate.

In our opinion, such a decision by the police, which reportedly came from the LaVale barracks, was not only an error in judgment, but contradicted a basic philosophy in their training—keep the general public out of jeopardy; do everything in your power to keep civilians from being exposed to danger.

In all fairness to the authorities in charge of the search, there was good evidence to indicate that the suspect had taken his own life (including a suicide note). The police were all but convinced that they and the volunteers were looking not for an armed and dangerous suspect, but for a body. There was some egg on their faces when the suspect was discovered alive.



A suicide note and an abandoned vehicle would be two items which might throw the police off one's trail, thus buying more time to flee the area, although that did not seem to be this person's objective.

Had the situation been just a little different and had this suspect been hiding in the woods and become cornered by some unarmed civilians, we shudder to think what might have happened.

Unless the police were convinced beyond a shadow of a doubt that this suspect was dead, then there should not have been any call for civilian assistance. Obviously there had to be at least a shadow of doubt.

In general, we believe that the Maryland State Police do a super job and we support them. They are human beings, however, and wrong decisions are bound to occur from time to time.

There is presently another search going on right now in the McHenry area for another criminal. We thank the McHenry barracks for not calling civilians out to the meadows and woods to help track him down.

THE FIRST SEGMENT of The Chemical People, a nationwide television effort to spark local interest in the fight against drug and alcohol abuse, particularly among the nation's young people, will be aired this evening at 8 p.m., on channel 36, Oakland. Garrett County residents are invited to view the show at the Tiffany Green Room of Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake, where a local panel will conduct discussion afterwards. The panel suggests that persons attempt to arrive by 7:30 for an introduction of the program and of panel members.

Special Committee Seeking Economic Development Ideas

Elected officials from Garrett, Washington and Allegany counties were invited to Annapolis October 25 to testify before the special joint oversight committee on Economic and Community Development for the General Assembly.

Ways of improving the overall economic picture for the area were presented to the committee, which includes Sen. John N. Bambacus as a member. The special committee was created last May and is receiving testimony from business and economic development leaders around the state, so that it can make recommendations for consideration by Gov. Harry Hughes and the General Assembly during the 1984 and 1985 legislative sessions.

Although no Garrett County officials were present Tuesday, those in attendance included Arthur T. Bond, president of the Allegany commissioners, Cumberland Mayor George Wyckoff, Jr., David Edgerley, of the Allegany County Economic Development Company, and Jerry Goodwin, Allegany Department of Urban Programs.

Bond said the group pointed out that the state owns one of the best hardwood stands in Garrett and Allegany counties and that this renewable resource is under-utilized by the state.

Suggestions for economic boosts would be a resort complex to promote tourism, a scenic railroad to utilize existing tracks between Cumberland and Frostburg as a tourist attraction, and reconditioning of the C & O Canal.

The delegation also renewed a plea for support for final construction of Route 48 which would help western Maryland and the Port of Baltimore. According to figures quoted Tuesday, the Port supports one of every ten jobs in the state.

The special committee was also asked to look at the type of assistance now available in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, which offer state financing at two percent interest to help in attracting industry.

Commissioners Send Envoy

Because of the previous commitments for each of the county commissioners, the board asked Del. George Edwards to be the county spokesman at the meeting.

According to Commissioner Ernie Gregg, Del. Edwards was asked to reiterate the board's desire to utilize state lands more efficiently, their request for priority consideration for a possible tourism complex and completion of Route 48. Gregg quoted Lowell Bridwell, transportation secretary, as saying the Rt. 48 completion will get top priority with the State Highway Administration.

Del. Edwards was also asked to convey the commissioners' feelings that environmental regulations could be eased, particularly in reference to the county-wide moratorium on town growth because of non-compliance with sewage disposal. Commissioner Gregg elaborated, saying that this does not mean abandonment of generally good guidelines, but more a relaxation of various agencies' duplications of effort. Gregg cited the detrimental effect such duplication often has in on private industry, noting in particular the coal industry. Such processes could be streamlined, he feels, so as to prevent needless duplications and loss of production time due to inspections by both federal and state agencies following the same guidelines.

Engineer Advises

missioners have been working to repair or replace all county bridges given low ratings. Also, a bridge maintenance program was established.

He noted that priorities have been given to those bridges which are part of school bus routes and added that the Limestone Bridge was not one of those.

The commissioners had considered removing the bridge and a portion of the Accident-Friendsville Road from the county roads system, but abandoned the idea when they learned of the number of businesses and citizens who use the road.

Bridges which were part of the 1983 county construction program were the Meadow Mountain Bridge, still under construction; the Mill Run Bridge, now open to traffic, and the Silver Knob Bridge, expected to be open to traffic in the next few weeks.

well noted his department is committed to the completion of the highway and recognizes it as an important economic link for Garrett and Allegany counties.

Also noted was a list of 25 special projects to be conducted in Garrett County in 1984 and 1985 including landscaping, safety and resurfacing, bridge rehabilitation and traffic controls.

The commissioners presented their special concerns including the traffic hazards of the Route 135 intersection at the Mid-Towns Plaza and Brownings Foodland. Bridwell stated his department would take a look at the situation there.

The commissioners also presented a priority listing of projects currently listed on the needs inventory for secondary highway systems in Garrett County.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

What is a "Stadium Revue?" this important question was asked when a "Stadium Revue" was suggested as a new fund raising activity for the NHS Band. While fund raising activities are a necessity for many of our county's educational endeavors, all of those activities need not be door-to-door sale of commercial products. Should "Good Salesmanship" be an important educational goal?

If "Salesmanship" must be a goal, why not sell products of education? Each fall our high schools field ten entertainment programs presented by a large number of students. A few people brave the weather to watch the product of hundreds of hours of instruction by many teachers. A "Stadium Revue" brings those products indoors for all to enjoy and celebrate our students' successes.

Can you imagine sitting in a "warm" gymnasium waiting for the cheerleaders and band to cheer the football team onto the field? Then our national anthem is sung. While the actual contest cannot be re-enacted, we meet the players and coaches and relish the highlights and scores of the games.

The cheerleaders will have all of our attention when they lead us in their cheers. We will actually hear the band's musical numbers. And "all" of the color and flash of the majorettes, silks and rifles can be enjoyed. And the homecoming activities will be a highlight when the queen and her court are honored again. As the "revue" ends, we honor the retiring seniors who have participated in their last high school football season.

Enjoy this excitement in the NHS Gymnasium Thursday, November 17 at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be available at halftime! Come one, come all! Tickets available at the gate.

To the Editor:

As head chaperone for the 1983 Southern Garrett Band, I would like to thank each chaperone who helped throughout the year during the field shows and band competitions and especially those parents who helped out this past weekend when we brought back the championship band from Latrobe, Pa.

It was a long weekend of hard work, with students leaving on Friday at noon and not returning until 4 a.m. Sunday morning. Mr. Clever, the band and color guard students should be very proud of the excellent job that was done at the competition. They should also be commended for their behavior at the Inn America Motel, as well as at the restaurants and during the two hours spent shopping at the mall. These students acted as young adults.

Garrett County can be proud of every member of the Southern Garrett Band and Color Guard.

To the Editor:

I always enjoy reading the letters to the editor section. It's an opportunity to share how you feel or read about how someone else feels. It provides a way to reach out and touch a lot of people.

That's my purpose in writing today. I want to share something that I pray reaches out and touches a lot of people.

My brother is presently undergoing kidney failure. Two weeks ago his kidneys were functioning at 20%, last week at 10-15%.

But a lot has happened in those two weeks.

Two weeks ago on October 13, we prayed asking God to heal my brother's kidneys if it was in His will, and to do this out of love, because my brother didn't know God loves him.

A few days later God showed me it was in His will. And the next day my brother made his first walk to the altar in search of hope. God had promised the miracle before my brother went to the altar, but he had to reach out his hand before God could fill it.

My brother does not know yet that he is healed; neither do the doctors. There haven't been any tests done to confirm this yet.

God has laid it on my heart to announce this miracle now, so that when I write and confirm it, you will know it came from the hand of God. And that same God is waiting to touch you in your need.

Until then, to God be the glory!

To the Editor:

On November 22, we mark the 20th anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. More than 400,000 Americans have been killed in gunfire since his death. Ironically, on this anniversary, Congress is considering legislation which would weaken, not strengthen, America's feeble gun laws.

In 1968, when Congress passed the Gun Control Act, our legislators specifically prohibited mail-order gun sales because President Kennedy's assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, used a cheap rifle purchased from a Chicago mail-order house. The weapon was fitted with a telescopic gunsight, also acquired through the mail. Less than an hour after killing the president, Oswald killed police officer J.D. Tippit with a .38 caliber handgun acquired from yet another mail-order house.

Now, the National Rifle Association wants to gut the 1968 Act through passage of the McClure-Volkmer Gun Decontrol Bill (S. 914 and H.R. 2420). This bill would lift the prohibition on mail-order sales and again allow easy access to firearms by criminals and would-be assassins.

This bill must be stopped. Our Congress should not enact legislation which only invites mail-order murder.

Sincerely,
Barbara Lautman

The Town of Oakland expresses regrets that every child under 12 did not receive a treat after the annual Halloween Parade. In our first experience with this system over 500 treats were distributed based on attendance in previous years and on donations received from the local community.

In the future the Town of Oakland will need the cooperation of surrounding communities if their children are to participate in the treat as they did this time.

However, the state board in its decision to affirm the county board's denial of tenure determined that the county board "is under no obligation to have had a cause for Mr. Lendo's termination . . . we are convinced that there were sufficient factors apart from this evaluation (of Jan. 12, 1981) that could have lead the county board to decide not to review his contract as a teacher."

Animal Shelter Announces Changes

The procedures at the Garrett County Animal Shelter have changed slightly because of the new ordinance which became effective August 31, 1983, according to a shelter spokesman.

Only dogs and cats are accepted at the shelter. They may be admitted at no charge between the hours of 8 to 4, Monday through Friday. The animals visit the shelter for three business days. Unless they are adopted, they are euthanized at the end of this term. Lost animals may be returned to owners at a fee of $20 for the first day and $10 for each day afterwards spent at the shelter.

Animals adopted from the shelter receive special health care which includes mandatory neutering, deworming, and two shots (distemper or PCR and rabies). If further medical attention is necessary, it is administered until the animal is healthy. The animals are usually released within five to ten days. An adoption fee of $20 covers all health care mentioned above.

Garrett County dog licenses are now purchased at the Garrett County Treasurer's Office, located in the Courthouse. The fee is $3.00 for unneutered animals and $1.00 for neutered animals. A late fee of $1.50 applies for those licenses not purchased before the August 31, 1983 deadline.

SOMETHING NEW FOR PRISONERS — Prisoners at the Garrett County jail will now have the opportunity to do something besides stare at four walls or the black and white television set. Beginning October 24, those incarcerated in the county will have the chance to participate in an hour of supervised exercise using one of several methods planned by Sheriff Franklin G. Finch. Available is a ping-pong table, two jump ropes, an exercise bicycle, wrist builders, and a shuffle board. Prisoners will be allowed to choose an exercise for one hour each day, either from 11 to noon or 7 to 9 p.m., and they will be under surveillance at all times by a jailer. Although an innovation in the county jail, exercise programs have been part of such institutions in other counties for years. In a statement issued this week, Sheriff Finch says he feels the program will be beneficial to all but particularly to those receiving longer jail terms. The sheriff is also hopeful that the plan will help to relieve the tension and bordom which leads prisoners to cause damage to county property. Complete cost of the project is $300, paid for with funds received retroactively from the state for prisoner lodging.

RAGGEDY ANN AND ANDY were transported through the skies to the Morgantown airport Sunday afternoon to provide airport personnel there with "treats" of candy as thanks for assistance to local pilots using that facility. According to the area's "Raggedy Ann," (or was it Andy?) numerous local pilots who are based at the Greater Gortner International Airport on the Ralph Lichty farm have made use of local airports in Morgantown and other nearby towns during and after their training, and just wanted to convey their thanks. Plans to visit the Clarksburg and Scottdale airports had to be scuttled, however, as darkness was rapidly approaching. J. Dwight Snyder, Jr., Gortner, is instructor for the two "dolls" above and for numerous other flight trainees.

Calderwoods Plan To Join Journey To Isle Of Wight

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Calderwood, Deer Park, will represent Garrett County this month in a ceremony at the Isle of Wight, along the English shore, to commemorate the embarking of the first Maryland settlers on November 22, 1633.

The Calderwoods will be part of a delegation from Maryland which will leave November 18 for London and will conduct the ceremony on November 22 on the Isle of Wight. The group will remain in England until November 27.

Although the Calderwoods were unsure of the program for their week's stay in London nor for the ceremony, Mrs. Calderwood said she would report on the pilgrimage upon their return.

Mrs. Calderwood serves as the chairman for the Garrett County Committee for Maryland's 350th Anniversary which is currently making plans for participation in state celebrations and for a county celebration in 1984.

The group of settlers who left England aboard the Ark and Dove landed at St. Clement's Island on March 25, 1634.

Dr. H. Leighton Attends Continuing Education Course

Dr. Herbert H. Leighton, Oakland, has returned from a week at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, Philadelphia, where he was enrolled in a continuing education course entitled "Present Concepts in Obstetrics and Gynecology." The course presented opportunities to share experience and keep up with recent developments in the field.

The session was attended by 60 physicians from as far away as Alaska and California. The faculty of 49 physicians for the post graduate course was from the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania and other hospitals in Pennsylvania except for Dr. Howard Jones, Jr., from the Eastern Virginia Medical School.

Dr. Jones, whose greatest interest since moving from Johns Hopkins' Medical School to Virginia has been in solving problems of fertility, gave the keynote lecture in honor of Dr. John Rock, who is given credit for having "invented" the birth control tablet.

Although Dr. Leighton's board certification is in family practice, he is well known locally for his work in prenatal care and delivery.

Although advance registration is preferred, students may arrive as "walk-ins" and register as space permits. Registrants are requested to arrive by 8:30 a.m.

For more information persons should contact the College at 387-6666, 359-9520 or 245-4133, Ext. 146.

Correction Noted

The caption stated that Mrs. Sandra Sliger, driver of the fourth place car, was accompanied by her children Anthony, Regina and Tabitha. That caption should have made it plain that Mrs. Sandra J. Sliger was accompanied by her daughter, Tabitha and her sister-in-law Mrs. Regina Sliger and Regina's son, Anthony.

During the race Mrs. Sandra J. Sliger, was also accompanied by her other daughter, Sandra M. Sliger, who served as navigator, not Mary M. Sliger as reported in the story last week.

COKE PLANT DONATES — The winner of the 1983 Autumn Glory Festival $1,000 Sweepstakes was the Oakland Coca Cola Bottling Plant. Rather than keep the winnings, William Hesen, manager, and other Coke officers decided to split it four ways and donate it to local organizations. The four equal shares were presented to the Northern and Southern bands and the Northern and Southern athletic booster groups. In the photo above, left to right, are Ed Green, principal of Northern; Don Douds, athletic director and member of the Northern Athletic Boosters; Hesen; and Jim Board, Northern band director. Below, left to right, are Dennis "Xie" Colaw, president of the Southern Garrett Athletic Association; Hesen; and Cynthia Simpson, president of the Southern Band Boosters.

Barthel Visits Kitzmiller Lions

The Kitzmiller Lions Club received an official visit by Lions International District Governor George J. Barthel of Braddock Heights at its October 17 meeting at the Kitzmiller Community Building. Accompanying Barthel were Renice Reed, cabinet secretary-treasurer, from Middletown, and Deputy District Governor-Region I, Jack L. Burner, of Frostburg.

In addressing the Kitzmiller Lions, Barthel emphasized his concern for diabetes prevention programs, leader dogs for the blind, the Maryland Eye Bank, and for increasing citizen awareness of drug misuse. As district governor, Barthel is stressing the importance of assisting senior citizens through visiting, providing transportation, and by calling to express concern.

Lions in District 22-W are unique, he said, in supporting a program to help persons who are both deaf and blind, an experimental program now getting off the ground at Western Maryland College in Westminster.

The general membership meeting was followed by a meeting with the Board of Directors. Lions from Frostburg, Cumberland and Warrior Run (Cresaptown) were welcomed as visitors.

OPENING LARGE HOLES in the Bruce defensive line by the Southern offensive linemen Friday evening paved the way for a 44-0 rout by the Rams, their seventh win in eight games. Above, Southern quarterback J. R. Gibson breezes through for one of three Ram touchdowns scored in the first quarter. Gibson also completed five of seven passes on the evening.

Rams Shatter Bulldogs' Attempt To Assume First Place In C Ratings

The Bruce Bulldogs came to Oakland Friday evening in hopes of upsetting Southern and thus grab a share of first place in the Class C Region I standings, but the top-rated Rams would have none of it as they blasted the second place Bulldogs, 44-0, and virtually clinched a state playoff opportunity.

9	Total First Downs	5
7	Passes Attempted	21
5	Passes Completed	4

3-31.0	Punts Average	8-22.0
4-40	Penalties Yards	2-25
6-2	Fumbles Lost	4-2
314	Total Offense	65

A win by the Rams in one of their two remaining regular season games or a single loss by Bruce will give Southern the Region title. Not only will Southern be favored in both of its final contests, against Beall and Northern, but Bruce must face powerful Frankfort this Friday evening.

Unusually strong winds were a factor in Friday's game, mostly in the first quarter and in favor of the Rams. After the Southern defensive unit stopped the Bulldogs in their own territory on three occasions, the Bruce punter had to kick into the wind. He averaged less than 20 yards on the first three punts, giving the Rams excellent field position. Southern was able to capitalize on all three opportunities to assume a 22-0 halftime lead.

The Rams' first score came on the first play of their initial offensive series when quarterback J.R. Gibson connected with Steve Bennett on a 32-yard touchdown strike. The pass attempt for the conversion failed.

Dave Terrant, one of the area's leading rushers and scorers, provided the Rams' second score, this time on a 23-yard run, followed by a two-point conversion run by Gibson.

A one-yard dive by Gibson into the end zone, followed by his conversion pass to Jim Freeman, completed the scoring of the first quarter.

With the wind on their side in the second quarter, the Bulldogs were still unable to score; however the Ram offensive unit was also kept out of the end zone.

In the third quarter Dave McLaughlin broke loose on a 50-yard gallop for the Rams' fourth touchdown. Terrant hauled in Gibson's conversion pass for the extra pair of points.

Terrant added his second touchdown of the evening in the fourth period, bulling his way through from the one-yard line. Gibson booted the extra point.

Reserve quarterback Mike Hill engineered one final drive by the Rams and carried the ball into the end zone untouched from the seven-yard line on a quarterback sneak. Gibson again kicked the point-after.

Southern piled up 314 yards in total offense, with 249 yards on the ground. McLaughlin led the Rams with 96 yards on just four carries, while Terrant was close behind with 91 yards on 18 attempts.

Gibson completed five of seven passes for 65 yards.

Meanwhile, the Bulldogs were limited to just 65 yards in total offense, with most of that coming through the air. Bruce's speedster tailback, Harry Wilhelm who came into the game averaging over 110 yards per contest, was held to just 25 yards.

Excelling at the defensive corner positions, and thereby keeping Wilhelm in check, were Freeman, McLaughlin and Troy Lundquist. Terrant and Danny Clark also turned in good defensive performances, as did Bennett, who set a school record in picking off his 12th interception of the season.

"We certainly didn't expect to be up by 22 points in the first quarter," Ram Coach Tom Woods stated. "The wind was a big factor and we were fortunate to be able to use it to our advantage.

"We had probably the best balanced performance by our offense this season," he said. "J.R. (Gibson) threw well, our backs did another good job running and Steve Bennett provided a solid deep threat."

Woods said the Rams "really excelled" on defense, particularly in being able to string out and contain Wilhelm.

Although a playoff berth is almost in the bag, Woods said that this Friday's home game against Beall is important, because not only would it wrap up the Region title for the Rams, but it would also give them the Highland Football Conference title.

The Mountaineers got off to an impressive start this season by winning their first two contests, but have dropped their last five, the latest being against Berkeley Springs, (6-2) last Friday. Two of their losses have been in overtime, to Valley and Bruce.

Beall is led offensively by Dave Sween, 5-9, 160 pound senior quarterback; Dave McCauley, 5-9, 190-pound tailback, a transfer student who carries the ball 20 to 25 times per contest and who Woods said is one of the better backs the Rams will have faced; Brian Davis, 5-10, 165-pound offensive guard, who is also a state champion wrestler; and Chad Brode, 6-2, 208-pound tackle.

Beall's offense uses a multiple-T formation and is predominately a running team and uses a multiple-T offense.

Their defense, which operates from a 4-3, 6-1 and a gap-8 on short yardage situations, is anchored by Brode and Davis.

"Beall is playing a lot of underclassmen and they're making mistakes, as you would expect," Woods said, "but Beall has been one of the toughest teams for us to defeat over the past 20 years. Other years, when we have had a better team, they have upset us. They have a lot of talent and they are well-coached under Jerry Calhoun.

"Also, we have a lot at stake going into this game. They do not, which allows them to play freely, without much pressure," he concluded.

The contest is set to get underway at 7:30 Friday evening, which is Senior Parent Night.

Huskies' Efforts Against Favored Chestnut Ridge Fall Short, 22-6

The Northern Huskies battled on nearly even terms with heavily favored Chestnut Ridge well into the fourth quarter Friday evening, but finally gave way and were defeated, 22-6. It was the sixth loss of the season against two wins for Coach Jack Settle and the Huskies, who have been frustrated since the opening game of the season with injury problems.

Northern took the opening kickoff and marched down the field about 60 yards, only to have the ball picked off on the Pennsylvanians' three-yard line. Chestnut Ridge then drove to their own 23 and connected on a 72-yard pass-run touchdown play. The kick for the conversion was good.

The score remained 7-0 until the 10:58 mark of the fourth quarter when Chestnut Ridge struck again, this time on a running play which had been set up by another long pass. The conversion kick was good.

Northern was held and forced to punt on the ensuing drive, but Jeff Graham, who leads the Huskies in interceptions, picked off a Chestnut Ridge aerial and returned it 48 yards for a touchdown. Greg Diehl's attempt to carry the ball in for a two-point conversion was stopped when he lost his footing.

With about five minutes remaining in the contest, Northern attempted an outside kick, which was unsuccessful and set up Chestnut Ridge's final touchdown. Penalties against the Huskies helped move the ball to the five-yard line, from which point it was carried into the endzone.

Diehl led Northern on the ground with 95 yards.

Out of the Husky line-up this week was Dave George, center and kicking specialist, who has a strained knee. Re-injuring an ankle in the contest was reserve center George Walker, who had to be replaced by tackle Jim Swauger.

"Our kids handled themselves quite well," Coach Settle said. "We were playing an excellent team (7-1) and we basically got burned on two big plays.

"We seem to have regrouped fairly well on defense," he continued, "but our offensive line has just been devastated. It seems that once we get it back together, someone else gets hurt. We have not had the same interior line a single week since the opening game against Bruce".

Settle commended Swauger for his filling in at the center position, stating that he had only worked in that position one or two days. He said Walker is expected to be back this week.

The coach was also pleased with the quarterbacking of sophomore Kevin Sines who started in place of Steve Zumpano. "He performed very will against a good solid team," he said. Zumpano alternated between wide receiver and quarterback.

"We have not been able to get the big play," Settle continued. "You've just got to be able to do that to win games."

Settle also noted the performance of the Chestnut Ridge quarterback and wide receiver. "We underestimated the strength and arm of their quarterback and the incredible ability of their wide receiver." The receiver has received letters from numerous colleges, including Nebraska.

The Huskies will try once again to rebound this week against Meyersdale in a 2 p.m. contest on Saturday on the Pennsylvanians' gridiron. Meyersdale is 3-6 on the season under Coach Dennis Stahl.

"I've scouted them three times this year, and with each game they get better and better," Settle said. "They have good size, good speed and a decent passing game. Traditionally, it has been tough for us to win on their home field."

Meyersdale runs from a wishbone, slot and double slot on offense and utilizes 5-3 and 6-2 defenses.

Editor's Note: Specific games statistics from the Northern-Chestnut Ridge game were unavailable at presstime.

Southern Girls Win Two Matches

The Southern High School girls' volleyball team has added two victories to its season in the last two weeks with a win over Beall High School on Oct. 19 and over Northern High School Oct. 26.

In its match against Beall, Southern took the first two games 15-6 and 15-9.

Chris Gregory was the lead scorer with 14 points, making six ace serves. Teammates Carla Beckman contributed six spiking points while Leslie Ellis added five placements.

Southern claimed the county championship in a five-game match against Northern working to win three of the five games. Northern won the first and third games, 15-5 and 15-10. Southern took the second game, 7-15, the fourth, 5-15, and the fifth, 13-15.

Laker Women Up Vollyball Record To 18-7 With Three More Wins

In college volleyball action this past week the women of Garrett Community College balanced three wins against a single loss to push their season record to 18-7, with two regular season matches remaining.

The Lakers lost to the Alderson-Broaddus Battlers for the second time this season, but gained wins over Hood College, Frederick and Howard Community Colleges.

The scores against A-B College were 2-15 and 14-16, as the Lakers lost their first home games of the season.

Christy Fratz led the Laker hit attack with five spike points. Kathy Baker steadied a good defensive effort with six digs, supported by five digs each from Susan Harper and Fratz.

"Alderson-Broaddus has a talented squad and they simply were too much for us at this stage," stated Laker Coach Mike Friend. "They're not an overpowering team, but they are so doggone consistent, especially with their passing. We scored only two serve aces against them and we normally need six to eight aces in a match."

He said the Lakers' defensive effort was "superb," noting that the Lakers had their best day yet defensively. Sue Harper had four blocks and as a team, the Lakers had 25 digs in two games. "The problem is that it takes offense to win in volleyball," Friend said. "The other edge A-B has is simply in experience and poise."

Two former Laker players, Patty Harsh and Sue Mason, now play for the Alderson-Broaddus squad.

Garrett bounced back from an opening game loss, 15-9, to win the final two games and the match, 15-9 and 15-12. The Laker offense was the key to the win as three Garrett hitters scored in double figures.

Sue Snyder had her best match of the season, connecting on 12 spike hits, followed closely by Harper's 11 spike points and 10 from Fratz. Laker setters Kathy Baker and Mary Dougherty set 13 and 12 hits, respectively. Snyder also added five service points, season-high performance for her.

Fratz recorded seven digs and Snyder finished with six.

"This was the kind of net offense we need to do well in tournament action," Friend said. "Our hitters and setters did a great job and we executed our game plan, including some new options, quite well."

The Lakers completed their regular JUCO Conference schedule with the wins over Frederick and Howard.

Karen Holyfield served six points during the 15-6 and 15-5 defeat of Frederick, followed by five serve points by Fratz and four each from Dougherty and Lani Dailey.

Garrett rolled over Howard, 15-5 and 15-2. Harper finished with six spikes and four service points, while Dougherty added five service aces and Dailey, four.

The Lakers will close out their regular season this week by traveling to Chambersburg, Pa., to face Wilson College and College of Notre Dame.

"Whose side is your insurance agent on?"

"That simple question can make a world of difference in the policies and services you can expect from your agent.

"Many insurance agents work for a single company, so they can offer you only that company's products. And when you need to file a claim, the agent must represent you to his employer — the insurance company.

"I'm an independent agent. That means I can help you select the insurance that meets your needs from among the products of a number of leading insurance companies — like Continental Insurance. I don't represent any single company, so when you file a claim, I can work for you — to help you get a prompt, fair settlement. Even if you decide to fire your insurance company, I can still help you find a new company to meet your needs.

"That's how an independent agent works on your side — to get you the best products and services available at the best possible price. Visit our agency, and see how I can work for you."

CLOWNS, GHOSTS, PUMPKINS and the usual assortment of goblins turned out in huge numbers in Oakland Monday evening for the annual Halloween parade and games, sponsored by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club. It was estimated that over 1,000 creatures, in various shapes and sizes, came to town that evening for the fun and for the treat that was given out by the Oakland mayor and town council. In past years about one half the number of persons have participated in the event, so the council prepared 500 treats, which unfortunately ran out in a hurry. However, food, games, live music and a cake walk were available at the Oakland Fire Hall for everyone.

Top Chamber of Commerce, as a donation to the 16th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. In past years the Chamber has supported the festival by providing funds for the Queen's float during the Grand Feature Parade. This float is now being sponsored on an alternating year basis by Garrett National Bank and the First National Bank; therefore the Chamber of Commerce decided to continue its support of the festival by making the monetary donation to the Festival.

Byron Criticizes Postal Regulations

Sixth District Representative Beverly Byron has criticized new postal service regulations pertaining to the closing and consolidation of small post offices. The U.S. Post Office has proposed that the current 60-day notice period of a closing or consolidation be eliminated, thus limiting the opportunity for citizens to provide feedback. The new regulations will also give final decision-making authority on closing to regional postmasters instead of in the Washington headquarters.

Congresswoman Byron said, "In many small towns of the Sixth District, post offices are the heart of the community. I am very concerned about the effect of these new regulations on small post offices. Without a 60-day notification period, residents are limited in their opportunity to give comments about the closing of a post office."

Mrs. Byron continued, "The Postal Service is accepting comments right now on the new regulations. I strongly urge residents to write immediately if they have concerns or objections, as the deadline is October 30. For anyone interested, the new regulations are printed in the September 1 issue of the Federal Register."

Comments should be addressed to: General Manager Delivery and Retail Policy Division, Delivery Service Department, U.S. Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza West, SW, Washington, D.C. 20260-7225.

There are ten post offices in the Sixth District, including Bittinger, that are in the category that is most likely a choice for evaluation by the Postal Service.

Police Solve Numerous Thefts

Charges have been filed against several Garrett County juveniles regarding a series of breakings and enterings in the area.

In a report filed by Tfc. Chester Miller, two Friendsville youths, one male and one female, have been identified as being involved in several thefts at the Friendsville Fire Hall and one admitted to a breaking and entering inside the Friendsville city limits.

Charges have been filed against one of the two and the investigation is continuing.

Three juveniles have been arrested in connection with breakings and enterings and thefts of property that have occurred.

Among the cases involved, according to police, are the break-in at the summer home of Arthur W. Kirkland, near Leo Friend Road at Deep Creek Lake, and another home owned by Alan Lemley, LaVale.

A theft occurring at Snyder's Exxon, on Rt. 219 at Mayhew Inn Road, resulted in a loss of over $1,600.

According to police reports, on the night of October 24, an Arctic Cat Pantera snowmobile valued at $1,200, and four Chevy sport truck wheels and tires valued at $478, were reported stolen.

There are no suspects at this time and Tfc. R. C. Resh is continuing the investigation.

A charge of malicious destruction of property has been filed by Lavere M. Funk, McHenry, owner of the Deep Creek Lodge.

On the night of October 30, as a Halloween party was in progress, an unknown culprit slashed a front tire on two vehicles owned by Funk; a 1976 Cordoba and a 1982 Plymouth Arrow pickup.

Tfc. L. T. Tracy is continuing the investigation.

Wynlyns Edge
Presents
The Johnny Neel Band
This Wed. & Thurs., Nov. 2 & 3 ONLY!

It was exactly one month ago that Johnny Neel made his first appearance at the Edge. He literally tore the place apart with his high energy and entertaining personality. This Wednesday and Thursday the tradition will be carried on in rhythm and blues and southern rock. Johnny wails with a gruff whiskey-scratched voice reminiscent of Joe Cocker. But, most important, people love to dance when the boogie-woogie boy from Delaware is jammin'.

SYMBOLISM AND IMAGERY ABOUND in the latest display of artist Bob Crowe's works on display now and through November at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. Instead of his sculpture, this time Crowe has chosen to display water colors and photos done while he lived in Oregon. Again he draws his subject matter from the wildlife and scenery he loves. Above, the silhouette of his grandfather, Clyde Gregy, Mt. Lake Park, is visible, along with various other important people in Crowe's life. Currently an instructor at the Appalachian Adult Activities Center, Crowe holds a master's degree in teaching and art from Western Oregon State College. He and his wife, Mary Lee, a teacher at Crellin Elementary School, live in Mt. Lake Park, and are expecting their first child early next summer.

Assessment Answers & Tax Talk

ON THE FORTHCOMING NOTICE OF ASSESSMENT

by James Burley

For all practical purposes, this year's revaluation of real property for tax assessment has been completed. The evidence of this effort will be in the form of the triennial reassessment notice which one of every three property owners will receive in early December, now only a few weeks away. If the assessor has visited your property at some time this year, it means your property is in the group that has been revalued and the chance of your getting a reassessment notice is almost certain. By way of keeping tabs, this is the second triennial cycle, and the group to get their notices this year is the second of three groups.

Assessors are winding up their work for the year and are now concentrating on the semi-annual pickup of property consisting mainly of additions and new construction to be added to the assessment rolls and for which property tax bills will be issued around the first of the new year.

Although most would agree that the triennial assessing system has a number of advantages over the old annual assessing method that it replaced, it is distinctly more complex at least to the ordinary property owner, so a few helpful reminders at this opportune time might be appreciated.

First, all of the 23 counties and the city of Baltimore are divided into three geographic areas and all property within a given geographic area is reviewed and revalued one time in a three year cycle. Following this revaluation and usually in early December, property owners receive a notice of assessment that covers the next three years. If there has been any increase in the value of the property as determined by the assessor, this increase is added over the next three years in equal increments. This is known as the phase in provision or phased in valuation.

Under the old annual system, the property owner was given a formal protest period following the issuance of each reassessment notice. Now, in practical effect since there is but one notice issued for a three year period, there is also but one formal protest period even though, due to the phase in provision, the tax assessment will increase during each of the three years. The formal protest period is the 45 day period that starts from the date of the notice of assessment. Property owners who miss out on this will not, under normal circumstances, get another formal opportunity for another three years.

With an annual review, the property owner was reminded every year of the taxable assessment for that year, and this enabled the owner to stay reasonably familiar with the way the system worked and the exact amount of the tax assessment for that year. With triennial assessing, there is but one notice for the entire three years and only the tax assessment for the first year is an exact figure. The assessment figures given for the following two years are only close approximations. This situation is caused by the fact that the growth factors that will apply in the following two years are not known at the time the notice of assessment is issued. The growth factor, or assessment rate as it might be called, is computed around November of each year. The phased in valuation is multiplied by the growth factor and the product of this calculation becomes the taxable assessment for that particular year. Property owners can offset this disadvantage to a degree by keeping the notice of assessment in a handy place and referring to it from time to time. Be sure, when you get your notice of assessment, to read it very carefully.

Archeology Exhibit Now Displayed At Oakland Library

A new traveling exhibit on Maryland archeology is on display at the Ruth Enlow Library during November. Entitled "Maryland Archeology - Journey Through Time", the exhibit will introduce Marylanders to the archeological resources of their state.

Artifacts, photographs, and drawings illustrate the lifeways of prehistoric Maryland Indians, discoveries at early historic sites, and research techniques used by archeologists.

The exhibit also explains how to become involved in Maryland archeology, and the need for conserving our archeological resources. Free literature on Maryland archeology will be available at the exhibit.

Sponsored by the Division of Archeology, Maryland Geological Survey, with major funding from the Maryland Committee for the Humanities and the Archeological Society of Maryland, Inc., "Maryland Archeology - Journey Through Time" is being shown at locations throughout Maryland.

Additional information about the exhibit can be obtained from Lois E. Brown, Division of Archeology, Maryland Geological Survey, The Rotunda, 711 W. 40th St., Suite 440, Baltimore, Maryland 21211, phone (301) 338-7236.

Advertising And Alcohol Topic Of Program At FSC

"Under the Influence: The Pushing of Alcohol Via Advertising" will be discussed by Dr. Jean Kilbourne, a nationally-known media analyst, in a presentation at Frostburg State College on Thursday, November 10.

The program begins at 8 p.m., in the FSC Lane Center and is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

In her presentation, Dr. Kilbourne examines the images associated with alcohol in advertising in the popular media. She combines accurate information about alcohol use and abuse with wit and irony. She shows how advertising spuriously links alcohol with precisely those attributes and qualities—happiness, wealth, prestige, sophistication, success, maturity, athletic ability, virility, creativity, sexual satisfaction, and others—"that the abuse of alcohol diminishes and destroys," she says.

Kilbourne says that young people and heavy drinkers are primary targets of the advertisers. Some estimates indicate that one out of four teenagers today has a problem with alcohol and that alcohol is the number one cause of death among young people. According to the National Council on Alcoholism, "teenage alcohol abuse has reached epidemic proportions—infecting virtually every school in the country, small towns and large cities, well-to-do suburbs and our poorest ghettos."

Dr. Kilbourne has been engaged for several years in research on the influence of the media, especially advertising, on societal attitudes and values. She has written on the topic and has been interviewed by many magazines, newspapers and television shows.

She is the assistant director of the New England Screen Education Association and a member of the Steering Committee of the National Center for Women in the Performing and Media Arts. She has taught media studies on the high school, college, and continuing education level.

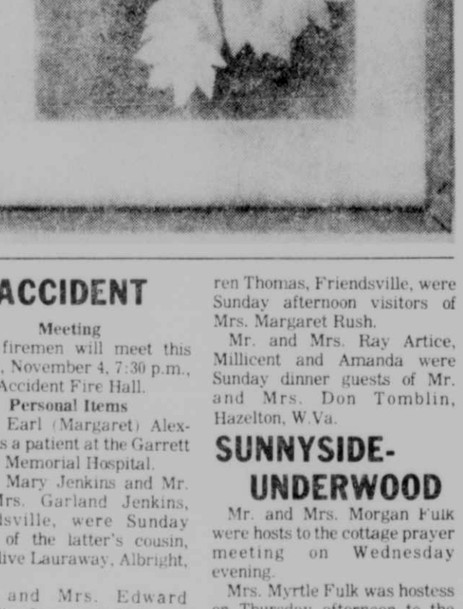
The program is being sponsored by the College's Lane Center.

Spinal Cord Injuries

Before this day is over, another 30 Americans will be paralyzed by spinal cord injuries. By this time next year, spinal cord injuries—broken necks and backs—will have accounted for an additional 10,000 cases of paralysis. Most of these cases will occur, as they do every year, among young people between the ages of 15 and 24. Young men will be hardest hit. On the average, they'll be just 19 when they sustain their disabling injuries.

Automobile accidents on our highways account for almost half of all spinal cord injuries. Dives into shallow water, falls (particularly from heights) and assaults with guns and knives add to the toll. Spinal cord injuries have become a very serious problem among young people. Compounding the tragedy is the fact that in many cases a measure of caution and common sense could have prevented the injury.

Accidents will happen, yes, but a great many paralyzing injuries can be prevented. The grim reality of alcohol-related traffic accidents should be a primary concern of every parent, every citizen in the community. Seat belts and infant seats are available routinely. We should use them and insist that our children use them. A recognized driver's education program should be a must for teenagers.



We should insist, too, that family members who ride motorcycles and bicycles wear helmets, to protect against injuries to the head and neck. Diving accidents can be avoided by heeding the simple warning, "Know the depth before you dive."

If, despite all precautions, your teenager or someone else does suffer a possible spinal cord injury, make sure that he or she receives proper medical care immediately. For starters, don't move the victim—not even a little bit—until a spinal cord injury has been ruled out by a medical professional. What begins as a fracture can become a paralyzing injury if the person is moved or is permitted to move. Transport of a suspected spinal cord injury to the hospital must be made by experts, after proper immobilizing procedures have been taken. Lifting, or straightening legs, or even putting a pillow under someone's head could prove to be disastrous.

If the injury does cause paralysis—loss of sensation or muscle control, or both—there should be no delay in transporting the injured person to a regional trauma center or to a hospital with a trauma unit. Spinal cord injury is a demanding, often confusing and very complicated problem, one that, we now know, requires the combined skills of a multi-disciplinary team, headed by a physician who specializes in spinal cord injury. There are regional trauma centers, or spinal cord injury centers, across the country. Do you know the location of the center nearest you? If not, it's a good idea to find out where it is, in case you or someone you know does sustain a spinal cord injury.

Extraordinary progress in the treatment of new spinal cord injuries offers promise, today, that the paralyzing process can be stopped or reversed. For existing paralysis, experiments using electrical stimulation of muscles, computer-controlled muscle activity, nerve transplants into the spinal cord and bridges over the injury all offer hope—lots of it.

The best way to deal with spinal cord injury, however, is to prevent it. Each of us has a responsibility, to ourselves and to others, to observe all safety measures, to avoid all hazards and to instruct our children to be every bit as cautious. Above all, we must make sure that young people grasp the fundamental truth that the cost of driving—or diving—carelessly can be very high. Spinal cord injury happens in a moment; paralysis may be forever. There simply is no substitute for preventing a spinal cord injury before it can occur.

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

STAYS ABREAST OF THE TIMES — Gordon Sisler, Deer Park, watches the results of his work on a computer as the printer spits out the information he has just typed in. Sisler, a handicapped student at Garrett Community College, says he is enrolled in a computer class "because I am going with the times and planning a career in this area."

Despite Handicap, GCC Student Is Set To Go With The Times

by Carole Ann Lovett,
Garrett Community College
Coordinator of Community Services/Public Information

Gordon Sisler, a resident of Deer Park, is one of the most visible students at Garrett Community College. As he moves about the campus, one cannot miss his four-wheeled battery-powered chair nor his ready smile.

Sisler is a part-time student enrolled in a principles of accounting course as well as a computer programming course. When asked how he selected these courses, Gordon replied, "I really liked accounting in high school and I am taking the computer class because I am going with the times and planning a career in this area."

Speaking of his progress in his courses this semester, Sisler said, "Accountiing is an excellent class, but it is time-consuming and hard." Nevertheless, Gordon has achieved A's on all tests to date.

Sisler has been handicapped since birth, born with a rare disease which deteriorates his joints—called multi-plex arthrogryposses.

His handicap did not keep him out of the public school system though for he attended Garrett County schools from kindergarten through sixth grade. He spent seventh and ninth grades at the D.T. Watson Rehabilitation Hospital in Pittsburgh. While there, he received a second place award for his art print entitled, "D.T.W. Playground."

Sisler then returned to Garrett County residing with his mother, Luanna Tosten, Deer Park. He skipped the tenth grade and graduated from Southern High School in 1982. Of his years at Southern, Gordon stated, "The staff and students there were all willing to help; all my classes were downstairs, ramps were installed, an aide helped with lunch and notes and I was not requred to take time tests."

After spending the summer of 1982 in a course at St. Andrews Presbyterian College in Laurinburg, N.C., Sisler worked at the Appalachian Center in Oakland as an instructor's aide. During his time there, August 1982 to September 1983, he worked individually with the clients.

"It required patience and discipline to work at the center," Sisler said. Available to direct and work with him were Charlotte Griffith, executive director of the center, and Joe Blanco, county vocational rehabilitation counselor.

Blanco was the one who encouraged him to attend GCC.

"I didn't expect GCC to be so accessible for the handicapped and willing to meet my needs," said Sisler. But, after a meeting with Rick Briggs, GCC counselor, Sisler learned that his needs could be met and he enrolled.

Briggs arranged for a lunch aide, a special table for accounting class, a reserved space in the parking lot and a room for storing and recharging his chair. Transportation to and from campus is provided by friends Mark Rodeheaver and Mike Hale-Cooper.

Although Sisler can and does walk on crutches, he prefers to use his wheel chair on the one-level terrain at GCC because he can move more quickly and he can carry his book bag more easily.

In class, Sisler uses a cassette recorder to take notes. Although oral tests are an option, he prefers written tests when possible.

Sisler reports that "instructors and students at GCC are helpful when I need books or change to get a soda."

Because of winter weather conditions, Sisler will not attend GCC during the spring semester. However, he will attend the Maryland Rehabilitation Center in Baltimore where he plans to complete the nine-month computer course. Following that his plans are indefinite, he may return to Garrett County or go wherever he finds a job.

Communication Skills Class Still Open

There are a limited number of spaces still available in the communication skills class scheduled to begin Friday, November 4, at the Oakland Center of GCC. The class is entitled "Communication Skills and the World of Work" and is sponsored by The Continuing Education Department of Garrett Community College and the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program.

The class, which teaches behavior modification through lectures and class participation in role playing, will be held each Friday for six weeks from 9 a.m. to noon in Room 306 of the Oakland Center of GCC. Tuition fee is $10. Tuition assistance is available through the HCO Program to persons who qualify.

Interested persons are asked to contact the Homemaker Career Opportunities Program at 334-9184 or to visit the Oakland Center of GCC in Room 306 prior to the beginning of class to pre-register.

Goldstein Notes Improvement In Construction

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says retail sales and use tax revenues for the first two months of Fiscal Year 1984 point to dramatic improvement in construction and related categories of collections and are about $9 million ahead of revenue estimates for the period.

"For the first two months, sales tax revenue totaled $156,141,925, a 14.1% increase over the same period of the previous fiscal year," Goldstein said. "Of special importance was the dramatic growth in the construction-related categories of collections, pointing to improvements in homebuilding and construction as well as sales of furniture, hardware, lumber and equipment."

Sales and use tax collections from the building and contractors category totaled $24.1 million during August and September, 1983, up more than 33% over the same period a year ago.

The closely related furniture, fixtures and appliances category yielded $15.4 million, an 18.4% increase. Sales tax revenues from the hardware, machinery and equipment category amounted to $5.7 million, a gain of 13.7% over the same period of Fiscal Year 1983.

"Increased revenues in these categories of sales tax collections are important because the State of Maryland received about $2,500 in sales taxes for every new home that is built and occupied. This includes revenue from 'big ticket' items purchased for a new home, such as furniture, appliances, rugs and other items," Comptroller Goldstein said.

Goldstein noted that the food and beverage and general merchandise categories of collections also posted good increases during the first two months of the current fiscal year.

"Revenue from taxable food and beverage sales totaled $35.8 million, up 8.1%, and revenue from the general merchandise category amounted to $27.8 million, an increase of 8.5%

Garrett, Allegany Educators Meet In Grantsville

A group of 75 educators from Allegany and Garrett County joined together on October 14 in Grantsville to discuss "Community Involvement in our Schools." The group consisted of parents, principals, resource teachers, supervisors, and the Chapter I coordinators from both counties, Francis E. Harris, Garrett and William Abbott, Allegany, who coordinated the meeting.

Guest speaker was Elizabeth Craig, principal of Calvin Rodwell Elementary School, Baltimore City, who stated, "children need to interact with the community. This enhances their school program."

Mrs. Craig explained how the community - from the supermarket, to the shoemaker, to the restaurant, bank, library, beauty shop, schools, churches, funeral home, etc. - became involved with her school and are used as resources, making education "everybody's business."

"Not only are the children learning about new areas, but the school is stronger, and parental and community support is stronger," stated Mrs. Craig.

William Abbott said, "Parent involvement in our schools is essential, that many of our problems can be solved by having involved parents." He continued by stating that research shows there is a positive correlation between parent involvement and student achievement. "The more involved and the longer it lasts, the more effective it is." He also stated that since 4/5 of the voters do not have school age children, educators need to foster such involvement to improve citizen's attitude.

The principal of Old Town Elementary, Glen DeHaven, Home-School Coordinator, Jean Whisner, and parents, Janet Carder and Donna Pryor, told of the varied parent involvement in their school. "I was so uninformed", stated one parent, "I had no idea of the teacher's schedule. I couldn't appreciate the work load of the teacher until I became a volunteer. Now, I can appreciate what the teacher is doing, and I'm learning so much doing it."

From a reading specialist's point of view, Marsha Miller stated that teachers are "really glad" to have the volunteers. "They serve as reading tutors, and provide additional help in checking papers, typing and filing," she said.

Allegany County's Elementary guidance counselor and Parent Volunteer Program director, Gene Cramer, said "We need the support of parents, we need community involvement. Parents have a big investment; they should be concerned."

Asa McCain, principal of Crellin Elementary, told of the many hours of parent involvement in his school during the past 11 years he has been principal. Following this, Joan Whetsell, Garrett County Chapter I resource teacher, gave an overview of parent involvement in Garrett County schools, pointing out that, in addition to making instructional materials, parents are helping with fingerprinting of children, working as health room attendants, and now working with computers, their newest assignment. "Parent gains are better school rapport, learning about programs, gaining information, and doing away with fear of the school," she said.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Garrett County superintendent of schools, summarized, "Schools reflect the community in which they are found. Involvement makes the schools what they are or aren't. Chapter I Parent involvement has made a positive difference in our county."

SPECIAL EXCEPTIONS

People who work in the areas of real estate and building are always aware of land-use controls and zoning. Homeowners can also be affected by zoning decisions and stories about them are often front page news.

The zoning board decisions often concern variances (violations okayed because of hardship cases) and special exceptions (special use permitted for listed cases). We often wonder if there is any kind of a pattern to these decisions. Sometimes it seems that there is a tendency away from variances. Many boards show a decided reluctance to authorize violations, and sometimes it takes some really impassioned pleas of hardship by owners and attorneys to get a variance!

When ordinances are first formulated, however, special exceptions can be anticipated and actually planned for the future. A flexible provision can take care of this. Thus a homeowner can move into an area where there are only homes and maybe a couple of stores. But . . . there COULD be a provision for a special exception allowing a future shopping center!

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

I have always wondered how the TV shows are rated. And is Tom Selleck's "Magnum, P.I." doing well in the ratings? — D.S., Silver Creek, N.Y.

Well, the Neilsens are the ratings. A certain small number of families in the United States have sets rigged up to record everything they watch, and that's how the ratings are tabulated. It's the same as taking a cross section of opinions and projecting the percentages of people who think the same. It's not perfect, but for TV the Neilsens are the only game in town. Selleck and his show are healthy, thank you.

Tom Selleck

Who played Peaches and Brandy on "Lobo"? — S.D. Fairless Hills, Pa.

The two sexy ladies who acted as undercover cops for Lobo (Claude Atkins) in the series, which came on NBC in 1979, were Amy Botwinick as Peaches and Tara Buckman as Brandy.

I always enjoyed the movies that starred John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara. Has there been a book written about her? — B.J., Linden, Maine.

No. But Maureen is still a beautiful woman, mostly in semi-retirement and happy, living on a semi-tropical island, from which she might emerge for a good role.

Maureen O'Hara

Where can I write "That's Incredible"? — D.H., Lakeside, Ariz.

A question I get frequently, as lots of viewers obviously have incredible doings to report. Write producer Alan Landsburg, at the show at 1438 No. Gower, Los Angeles, CA. 90028.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

Col. Peck Named Director Of DNR Water Resources

Dr. Torrey C. Brown, Secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources has named Col. James W. Peck of Severna Park Director of the Water Resources Administration.

Colonel Peck comes to the post after 25 years with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the last three years as District Engineer for the Corps' Baltimore District.

Colonel Peck succeeds Thomas C. Andrews who has been WRA director since 1980. Mr. Andrews has been named an Assistant Secretary of the Department of Natural Resources with supervisory responsibilities for four DNR units: Water Resources Administration, Maryland Environmental Service, Maryland Geological Survey and the Energy Administration.

As WRA director, Colonel Peck will head an agency with 118 employees and an annual budget of more than $3 million.

WRA is responsible for conservation, management and development of Maryland's water resources including wetlands, water supply, watershed activities, sediment control, oil spill control, dam safety, surface mining and enforcement of laws and regulations involving these functions.

Much of Colonel Peck's time with the Corps was in a variety of water resource assignments. He conducted research and studies at Lawrence Livermore Laboratory in California concerning the feasibility of constructing a sea level canal in central America, headed a Federal Task Force sent to Louisiana for a major flood fight effort, was responsible for flood control and navigation projects on the Missouri River and led a U.S. delegation to advise a Middle East country on port development.

His involvement in Maryland water resources began in 1977 when he was assigned to the Office of the Chief of Engineers in Washington with responsibility for national level policy which included Corps programs in Maryland. Peck participated in negotiating the Potomac River Low Flow Allocation agreement and in budget justification for all Corps studies and projects in Maryland.

In 1979, Peck became the District Engineer for the Baltimore District where he was responsible for all Corps water resource activities in the Potomac, Susquehanna and Patuxent River Basin and the Chesapeake Bay in Maryland.

As District Engineer, he had a staff of 1,300 and a multi-million dollar budget to accomplish planning, design, development, acquisition, construction and operation of multipurpose water resource projects to provide flood control, water supply, water quality, navigation, recreation and fish and wildlife enhancement.

Col. Peck was the top officer in charge of the mammoth Bloomington Dam project and was very active during the completion years of the ten-year undertaking. He was a key participant in the compact which will guarantee adequate water for metropolitan Washington, D.C. Participants were Garrett and Allegany counties, the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, the District of Columbia, Fairfax County, Va. the Army Engineers and others.

That pact which assures augmentation of the flow in the Potomac River from both the Savage River and the Bloomington dams means that those metropolitan areas will contribute financially to the operation of the dams, thus saving both counties operational outlays for the two impoundments.

In 1981, the newly-completed Bloomington Dam in Western Maryland received an Engineering Achievement Award. Peck managed over 20 multipurpose water resource projects in Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York, providing fish and wildlife protection and enhancement as well as ranger supervision and recreation for several million visitors yearly.

Also, he was responsible for maintaining navigation affecting the Port of Baltimore, for insuring water supply to the District of Columbia and the Federal Government and four regulatory programs which included environmental protection of 500,000 acres of wetland and for navigable waterways. Peck served as an advisor to the Federal Member of the Susquehanna River Basin Commission.

Peck graduated from West Point in 1958 and earned a masters degree in Civil Engineering from the University of Illinois.

He is a Registered Professional Engineer in Maryland, and a member of the Engineering Society of Baltimore, the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Society of American Military Engineers and the American Public Works Associaiton.

He lives in Severna Park with his wife, Mary Ruth, and son Jim, who is a senior at Severna Park High School. Another son, Daniel, graduated from West Point in 1983 and is serving in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. A daughter, Debra, is a junior at the U.S. Naval Academy.

Reimbursement By Forest And Park Service Noted

In Garrett County the 25 percent share of revenue collected in state forests and parks for the first quarter fiscal 1984 totalled $62,668, according to the Maryland Forest and Park Service. This reimbursement to the county is in lieu of county property tax. The first quarter is from July 1 to September 30, 1993.

Deep Creek Lake, Herrington Manor, Swallow Falls, New Germany and Big Run State Parks and Savage River and Potomac-Garrett State Forests, all located in Garrett County, are administered by the Department of Natural Resources' Forest and Park Service.

State parks and forests quarterly provide revenue to counties in addition to managed recreational opportunities.

Motor Fuel Tax Revenue Higher

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says a 26% increase in state motor fuel tax revenue for September, 1983, over the same month a year ago results from three factors; a higher tax rate, increased gasoline use and an unusually large jump in diesel fuel sales.

Maryland's motor fuel tax rate increased from 11 cents per gallon to 13.5 cents per gallon, effective June 1, 1983, under legislation enacted by the 1982 session of the general assembly.

"Of the $24,693,253 in motor fuel tax revenue collected during September, 1983, $23.3 million came from gasoline sales - a 28.8% increase over September, 1982," Goldstein said. "An additional $1.9 million came from sales of diesel fuel, an increase of 35%.

"These increases reflect the travel activity at the height of the vacation season, since September motor fuel tax revenue is based on sales made during August," Goldstein noted.

Motor fuel sales during August, 1983, amounted to 187,253,059 gallons, a 5.3% growth over August, 1982. For the first three months of Fiscal Year 1984, motor fuel tax revenues total $75,252,754, a 25% gain over the $60,170,166 collected during the same period of the previous fiscal year.

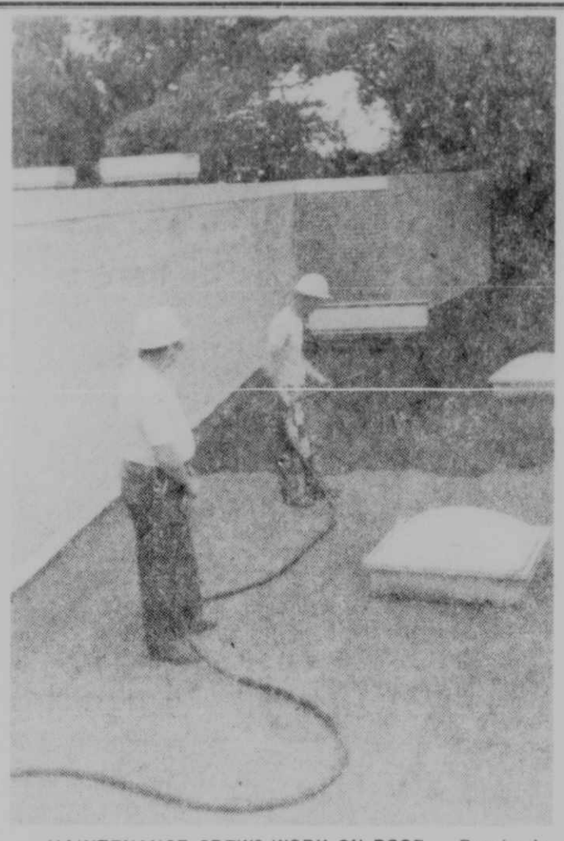
School Facilities Undergo Repairs During Summer

Swan Meadow School now has a fire alarm system, the last school in the county to need one installed, thanks to county Board of Education maintenance crews who installed one this past summer as part of an extensive summer maintenance program involving Board of Education buildings.

Thirty-seven men, including regular maintenance crews, custodians and one student employed in the summer youth employment program, worked throughout the summer on an array of projects from painting buildings to repairing roofs to trimming shrubbery, besides installing the fire alarm system.

George Brady, supervisor of maintenance and operations, who along with Don Ringer, maintenance foreman, supervised the projects, did not have figures available for the total spent on the jobs this summer, but noted some of the biggest jobs included repairs to the Southern High School large gymnasium roof, work on the Northern Middle Treatment Plant and extension of a drain field for the Crellin Elementary School septic tank system.



The work on the SHS large gymnasium roof involved replacing edges of the roof which were rotted and installing new wooden nailers, insulation and felts as well as flood coating and gravelling the roof, Brady said.

Brady explained that work on the Northern Middle Treatment Plant involved installing a rebuilt grinder pump and replacing various parts to improve the quality of the effluent which has not been meeting health department standards.

At Crellin Elementary School, crews placed 400 feet of additional drain field for the school's septic tank system.

Other work included improvements to athletic facilities such as construction of two dugouts with concrete floors at the Southern High School baseball field while at Northern High School crews worked with the Garrett County Roads Department and the school athletic boosters club to upgrade the baseball field.

In addition, crews painted some buildings, did plumbing, electrical and heating system reparis as well as a variety of cosmetic and other types of re-

MAINTENANCE CREWS WORK ON ROOF — Repairs to school building roofs were among the various projects performed by maintenance and custodial crews of the Garrett County Board of Education this summer. Above, men apply resaturant to the roof above the cafeteria at Southern High School before applying a coat of gravel.

FROM MAJOR TO COSMETIC WORK — This custodian paints a doorway at a county school during the summer when county Board of Education maintenance and custodial crews performed a variety of tasks to repair or improve school facilities such as varnishing gym floors, checking and repairing football and basketball scoreboards and replacing parts to electrical and heating equipment.

Goldstein Predicts Anniversary Event Will Net $7 Million

"We have estimated that Maryland's upcoming 350th anniversary celebration will generate approximately $7 million in revenue, including almost $1 million in direct and indirect state tax revenues," State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein told travel professionals and state officials at the Governor's Tourism Conference in Ocean City on Thursday, October 20, 1983.

"The '350th' offers the tourism industry in Maryland a golden opportunity to build 'even a greater success on an already strong foundation,' " said the comptroller, who is a member of the Maryland Heritage Committee, which is coordinating the statewide celebration.

While the comptroller noted that the March 25th, 1984 anniversary celebration will be held in St. Mary's City and two important "bicentennials" in Annapolis, he stressed that "the success of this celebration depends on it being truly statewide, truly grass roots. Each Maryland community has a right to share in both the pride and the economic benefits that the 350th anniversary is generating.

"I also want to stress that the tourism dollar is a 'clean' dollar," Goldstein said. "Unlike some industries, it poses no pollution hazards. It requires few expensive government services, such as education health and welfare.

"I think that the message the 350th anniversary can hold for your industry is that 'he profits most who serves best'. If folks come for the 350th celebration, and you make the trip memorable, enjoyable, and exciting for them, they will return time and time again," the comptroller said.

Parent Task Force Will Meet Monday

The Garrett County Parent Task Force for the Gifted and Talented Program will meet Monday, Nov. 7, in the auditorium at Garrett Community College, McHenry, at 7:30 p.m.

The evening's program will involve a presentation of the county Board of Education display about the gifted and talented program, entitled The 'Chemistry' of a Program of Excellence. The display was recently exhibited at a statewide convention as part of a showcase of exemplary projects throughout Maryland school districts.

Following the presentation will be a question and answer period about the gifted and talented program.

Northern Women Republicans Meet

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club met at Hill Top Restaurant October 25 with 14 persons present. President Carolyn Ganoe presided.

The meeting opened with devotions by Twila Mae Fike. Brief reports were given by Mrs Ganoe, Cleda Baker and Cora Bowser concerning the State Convention held in Timonium. The Northern Club was awarded, at the National Convention, the Gold Achievement Award which is next to the highest award given. It was presented at Timonium because no members were present at the National Convention.

The Christmas dinner will be held at Hill Top on December 5 at 6:30 p.m. Members not present at the meeting but planning to attend the dinner may contact Mrs. Wilma Wilburn at 895-5656 no later than December 1. There will be no gift exchange, but cash donations.

Delegate George Edwards was the guest speaker and spoke about the major issues of the state budget. He stated that the priority should be education, the police aid formula, employee issues such as pensions, wages and insurance. Open space areas or parks and a possibility of a convention center for western Maryland, plus the unemployment situation in the county were also discussed.

The club will not meet again until April of 1984.

Farming in Maryland

Smith Speaks At Women's Meeting

Gary Smith, Farm Safety Specialist, University of Maryland, pictured above, was guest speaker for the Maryland Farm Bureau Women's Committee meeting held Tuesday, October 25, in Randallstown.

He stressed the importance of safety programs and urged that committees should be appointed to carry out safety demonstrations and programs on the local level. Smith also stated his willingness to go into any area in Maryland to show slides and conduct safety and rescue programs. He announced that a workshop for fire and rescue personel will be conducted May 5 and 6 relating to silo fires and silo rescue. Also pictured is Mrs. Thelma Bigelow, Maryland Farm Bureau Safety Chairman.

Plans were finalized at the meeting for the annual Maryland Farm Bureau Convention to be held December 1-3 at the Ramada Inn Convention Center in Hagerstown. Thursday morning a Women's Committee business session and election of State Chairman and directors will be conducted. A Women's Committee program around the theme, "Farm Bureau, Family Affair," is scheduled for Thursday afternoon, featuring Jane Malone speaking on "Stress in the Volunteer Family." Also included will be an address by McKarl Roberts, president of the Maryland Bible Society, and Mark Mills, who recently won the Maryland Public Speaking contest, will present a monologue. Jerry Clower, professional speaker, well-known entertainer and Grand Ole Opry star, will headline the Thursday evening program, following the banquet. Cost of the meal and entertainment is $20.00. Any Farm Bureau member may attend, but must make reservations.

A Maryland Farm Bureau business meeting and the Young Farmers' Discussion meeting is being arranged for Friday morning, and the afternoon's agenda includes presentation and discussion of resolutions, guest speakers, and entertainment by the 4-H group, New Beginnings. Friday evening will include a reception, awards banquet and dance. The Convention will dismiss following the election of officers, a business meeting, and adoption of resolutions on Saturday.

Traditional exhibits by farm groups and businesses will be on display throughout the convention. A new feature this year will be a photography contest, open to Farm Bureau members only. Employees of newspapers, magazines or professional photographers are ineligible. Each photo must be a minimum of 5x7" either black and white, or color, and must be placed on a mat suitable for display, with name and address on the back of the mat. All photos should relate to farming or agriculture, and will be judged on general interest. Photos should be presented at the Convention Center between 9 a.m. December 1 and 9 a.m. December 2 and removed by noon December 3. All photos will be on display throughout the entire convention. The Women's Committee will provide care of all photos, but will not be responsibile for loss or damage beyond their control. Anyone in Garrett County wishing to enter the contest should send photos to Donna Glotfelty or Carol Umbel before November 28.

Crafts will also be sold by the County Farm Bureau Women's Committees at the Convention. Any Farm Bureau member having suggestions or items to send should contact Donna Glotfelty at 245-4345 as soon as possible.

A "Managing for Survival" conference is the next event, scheduled for November 4 at the Libertytown Fire Hall. It is basically designed for dairy farmers, but touches on every commodity. Area farmers and producers are urged to attend.

The Maryland Young Farmers Convention will be held November 11 and 12 at the Baltimore Hilton Inn near the Baltimore Harbor. Several guest speakers, informational workshops, election of officers, and a social evening will be featured in the two-day program. Reservations may be made through the Maryland Farm Bureau Office, Randallstown.

Southern FFA Team Runner-Up In State Event

The Future Farmers of America team from Southern High School placed second in the annual Maryland judging contest on Saturday, October 22.

Team members Steve Paugh, Lee Green, Troy Liller and Richard Lee were coached by teacher Janet Boggess. Dave Yost and Carl Robinette, soil scientists with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, conducted the contest.

In all, 32 students representing eight regions competed. Among the schools represented were Middletown, which placed first, North Caroline, Smithsburg, Cecil Vo-tech, J.M. Tawes Vo-tech, Francis Scott Key and Seneca Valley.

The students judged soil characteristics including color, texture and depth to bedrock at three pits on the Chester Leisher farm in Frederick County. They then used that information to rate the soil's suitability for various agricultural and urban uses.

"These contests help students learn how soil properties affect crop growth including crop response to proper fertilization," Yost said. "But whether they stay in farming or not, at some point in their lives they'll need to make some sort of land use decision. It could be selecting a homesite or serving on a local planning and zoning board. Now they'll have an appreciation of the important role that soil characteristics play in these decisions."

Farmers Advised To Note Needs In Conservation

"Now is the time for farmers to take a good look at their farmland and determine conservation needs," said William B. Crum, chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural and Conservation Committee. With winter practices almost completed farmers may want to begin plans for spring practices or consider applying needed conservation practices on payment-in-kind acres during the coming season, he said.

Crum said the county ASC committees have assigned priorities to the overall conservation needs in the state and the percentage of cost-sharing will be based on these priority ratings. Some of the high priority problems include Waterways, Stripcropping Systems, Diversions, Animal Waste Facilities, and others. Solutions to these problems can be cost-shared up to 75 percent.

ACP funds are used to correct conservation problems on a farm beyond that which would be accomplished with the farmer's own resources. The program provides both technical and financial assistance to farmers whose land is a source of agricultural pollution or affected by soil or water erosion.

Crum said soil erosion is a major problem for farmers and with today's more intensive cropping patterns it is vital that producers perform good soil and water conservation practices such as those offered under the ACP.

"We have an obligation to protect soil and water resources for the benefit of farmers and the public, and ACP endeavors to meet this obligation", Crum said.

The ASCS official said farmers who have severe conservation problems that need to be solved should apply for the ACP as soon as possible.

10th Annual Mid-Atlantic No-Till Conference

I would like to invite you to attend this conference. Last year I attended it in Pennsylvania and found it worth my time. This year it will be held at the Md. State Fair Grounds at Timonium, Md. Some of the topics of interest are: "Timing and Placement of Nitrogen for Corn"; "Optimum Levels of Nitrogen for Corn"; "Comparison of Tillage Systems"; "No-Till Forage Establishment"; "Selection and Operation of No-Till Pest Management"; "The No-Till System Soil and Water Conservation". The conference will be held on December 14th. I have meal tickets and reservation forms in my office. The cost is $3.00 per person. For more information, give me a call.

Liming Field Now?

Early winter after the ground freezes is an excellent time to apply lime to your fields. Probably the biggest advantage is that you can avoid excessive soil compaction from the heavy equipment. Also winter applications of lime will give more time for the chemical change in the soil. As most farmers have experienced, spring lime applications are sometimes difficult to get on the soil because of wet weather and the busy time for the people selling lime. Make sure you soil test. It will save you dollars. The kits are available at my office for $4.00 each.

Clean-up Your Vegetable Gardens

It is important that the old vines, plants and weeds be removed from your garden. These old plants can very easily harbor insects and diseases that can be problems next year.

October 1 Grain Stocks Reported

Old crop corn stored in all positions in Maryland on October 1 totaled 4.42 million bushels, according to the Maryland Crop Reporting Service. This volume is a decrease of one percent from October 1 a year ago.

The one percent decline is a result of farmers holding less corn on the farm, as off farm stocks remained about the same as last year at this time.

Producers and elevators were holding less barley, wheat and oats. Barley stocks were down 45 percent from 1982, totaling 1.93 million bushels. Oat stocks were off 48 percent with 627,000 bushels being held in all positions. Stocks of wheat totaled 1.82 million bushels, 24 percent less than October 1982.

Young Farmers

Baltimore Hilton Inn, November 11 and 12, according to Earl Hance, state chairman.

Hance said that a number of young farmers had expressed a desire to meet in Baltimore, and the schedule has been structured to permit time to visit Harbor Place and other points of interest.

The program will include speakers and workshops, in addition to a business meeting and election of officers.

All members of the Farm Bureau under the age of 35 are invited to participate in the annual session. Reservations may be made by calling the Maryland Farm Bureau office, 922-3426.

IRS Looking For Taxpayers Who Are Due Refund

The Internal Revenue Service has 1,446 tax refunds, averaging $400.00 for area taxpayers they can't find.

Ted Kern, IRS Director for Maryland and the District of Columbia, said this week that the 1982 Federal Income Tax refunds totaling approximately $604,000.00, range in amounts from as low as $1.00 to as high as $14,516.00. The checks were returned to the IRS undeliverable by the U.S. Postal Service. "Some taxpayers move and don't leave a forwarding address," said Kern, "Others marry and change both name and address." Still others file tax forms with incorrect address information.

Persons from Garrett County among these taxpayers are William and Regina Butler and Korenna J. Fraley, all of Swanton.

Anyone who is expecting a 1982 or a previous recent year's refund, and hasn't already contacted IRS, should call 1-800-424-1040.

Maryland Travel Tops $3 Billion During 1982

Travel to Maryland reached an all-time high in 1982, when U.S. travelers spent more than $3 billion in the State for a 11.2 percent increase over 1981.

Kurt Alverson, State tourism director, said, "These figures we have just received for 1982 were revealed in a study by the U.S. Travel Data Center entitled 'The Economic Impact of Travel on Maryland Counties.' "

"Based on increased numbers of tourists stopping at our six information centers, more requests for tourist information and better attendance figures of Maryland's popular attractions, I predict a 17 percent increase for 1983," Alverson continued.

"As the travel expenditures grew, the travel-related job market grew at more than six times the U.S. rate: a 4.1 percent gain in the State compared to a two percent decline nationwide," the tourist director said.

Alverson continued, "The study states that travel spending also generated $105.9 million in State tax revenue, or approximately 3.3 percent of all state tax collections in 1981."

Baltimore City retained first place in travel spending, attraction $768 million or about 25.3 percent of the state total.

Anne Arundel County, including Annapolis, ranked second with nearly $515 million in travel spending. Worcester County and Ocean City was third with $381 million.

"I attribute this 11.2 percent growth to increase marketing activity by the Office of Tourist Development and to the diversity of the travel product we have to offer and our proximity to the major population markets ranging from New England to Virginia," Alverson said.

WINNERS OF THE 4-H BABY BEEF DRAWING, held Saturday, October 15, display some of their winnings. First National Bank of Oakland purchased the beef from Mike Tichnell during the annual livestock sale at the 1983 Garrett County Agricultural Fair and donated it to the Garrett County 4-H Program for support of its program activities. The club selling the most tickets for the drawing was the Yough Valley Indians of Friendsville while the 4-H club member selling the highest number of tickets was Robyn Brant of the Shepherds 4-H Club. Pictured are, left to right, Lori Dodge, Monte Vista 4-H member who sold one of the winning tickets, and the two winners of half a baby beef each, Mrs. Lorene Dodge, Oakland; and Sonny Winters and daughter, Wendi. Not pictured is Jon Garner, Friendsville, seller of the Winters' ticket.

Alverson Predicts 17% Tourism Gain For State In '83

Kurt Alverson, director of the Maryland Office of Tourist Development, speaking at the Governor's Conference on Tourism in Ocean City recently, predicted that travel revenues would grow 17% this year over 1982 for Maryland.

Lt. Governor J. Joseph Curran, also speaking at the conference, cited figures from the U.S. Travel Data Center's latest report, noting that travel and tourism spending in Maryland rose 11% in 1982, the latest information the Center has made available. The total spent here in '82 was $3,043,000,000. This figure is very impressive, he said, because the Travel Data Center goes on to say that travel spending fell 11% nationally in 1982. Tax revenues generated from tourism and travel in 1982 totaled 150.9 million dollars.

Alverson attributes this favorable showing to increased marketing by the Office of Tourist Development, the state's close location to the populous Northeast, and the wide diversity of attractions, both natural and cultural, in Maryland.

Curran was especially enthusiastic about the number of new jobs tourism created in Maryland in '82, almost 2,900. Payroll generated by a total of 74,350 jobs in tourism was $733,600,000 in 1982.

According to Alverson, the state's Visitor Information Centers have already equaled 1982's visitor counts, with 2½ months left to go. Nearly 1,300,000 people have been helped with travel information in 1983 so far.

To date in 1983, the Office of Tourist Development has handled 70% more visitor information requests than in 1982. These requests are generated by the "Capture a Maryland Memory" campaign and unsolicited requests from magazines, newspapers and electronic media coverage of the state, according to Alverson.

"Our 17% increase prediction for '83 is based on the good results we have seen so far," explained Alverson.

Watson Offers Clarification On Retirement Issue

Many people in the area who are approaching retirement have recently become aware of the "notch" problem, Elaine Watson, Social Security district manager in Cumberland, said recently.

The so-called "notch" came about because of the 1977 Social Security amendments. The effect of the "notch" is that a person who reaches 65 before 1982 receives higher Social Security benefits than a person who reaches 65 after 1981 even though both persons had identical lifetime earnings, Ms. Watson said.

Before the 1977 law, benefits were increasing both as the cost of living increased and covered wages increased. This was the unintended effect of making cost-of-living benefit increases automatic and was causing severe financial problems for Social Security.

The result is that a person who became 65 in 1981 had his or her benefit rate figured under the old law and a person who became 65 in 1982 and later had his or her benefit figured under the new law and received less.

One reason benefit rates are different under the two systems is that under the old system, earnings were counted at their actual value. Because maximum covered earnings had been increasing rapidly in recent years—from $17,700 in 1978 to $29,700 in 1981—these earnings had a big impact on benefit rates, Ms. Watson said.

Under the new system, however, actual earnings for years before a person reached 61 are adjusted for increases in average earnings over the years. As a result, recent years of higher earnings do not have as great an impact on benefit rates, Ms. Watson said.

To help people who were approaching retirement at the time the 1977 law was passed, a transitional period was given. During the transition, a modified version of the old law was used. One of the features of this method is that earnings after the year a person reached 61 did not count for benefits.

The transitional method provided higher benefits for a few years and applied to workers who reached 62 after 1978 and before 1984. "Now, however, the new method results in higher benefits for almost everyone," Ms. Watson stated. "And, it uses earnings up to the year the person applies for benefits."

Another reason for the lower benefits is that one of the intentions of the 1977 law was to slightly lower overall benefits to remove some of the unintended rise in benefits that occurred under the old system.

"It is important to remember, however, that benefits are computed based on the year of birth, not the year of retirement," she said. "Individuals will not lose money by waiting until 1984 to retire. If anything, postponing retirement can mean higher Social Security checks."

More information about benefit rates can be obtained at the Cumberland Social Security office, located at Country Club Mall, Winchester and Vocke Roads, LaVale. The telephone number is (301) 729-3232.

Heck's Reports Higher Sales In Third Quarter

Heck's Inc., regional retailer, recently reported higher sales and earnings for the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 1983. Income from continuing operations for the quarter advanced 13.5 percent over the prior-year period on a 3.4 percent gain in sales. For the nine months, earnings from continuing operations rose 53.6 percent on a 9.7 percent increase in sales.

Stating that the economic recovery was gaining momentum in the company's nine state trading area, Heck's Chairman Russell L. Issacs said he expected further improvements in the fourth quarter and a strong close for the full year, based on Heck's progress to date.

Sales for the recent three months totaled $101,421,000 versus $98,101,000 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Nine-month sales totaled $290,065,000, compared with $264,524,000 for the comparable 1982 period.

ENERGY TIP: Paneling—or even heavy, airtight wallpaper—is a good buy for exterior walls of any room, since it effectively prevents loss of heat from the home.

CLEANLINESS TIDBITS

Here are some tips that will help you in your cleaning chores:

•When clothes are unusually oily or heavily soiled, use more than the recommended amount of detergent along with hot water to get them clean.

•For safety's sake, never remove any household cleaning products from their original containers and store in other jars or containers, especially those used for foods.

•To remove a tight ring, rub soap on the entire finger. The ring will slide off when the hand is washed.

•A clean surface is essential to a good paint job. Grease or grime must be removed so that paint will adhere. Clean metal with a solvent. Use a detergent to cut grease on other surfaces. Rinse and let the surface dry thoroughly before applying paint.

•Electric can openers should never be immersed in water, so choose one with a cutting assembly that comes out readily for thorough washing in soap or detergent suds.

•Cleanliness is essential to proper food storage. Like any refrigerator, it is just as important with a self-defrosting model to wipe up spills when they occur, to check all foods frequently for possible spoilage, and to thoroughly clean the inside of the refrigerator at least once a month.

•Attract birds to your yard by installing a bird house. Painting with a washable paint will check the harsh effects of weather and make the birdhouse last longer.

Food Notes: With cold weather, thoughts of warm soup come to mind. Try this one:

CHEDDAR-TUNA CHOWDER

2 cups boiling water
Salt
1 large raw potato, cut in ½ inch dices
½ cup each diced carrot and celery
1 small onion, chopped

¼ cup all purpose flour
2 cups milk
¾ pound sharp Cheddar cheese, shredded
1 can (6½ ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
1 can (8 ounces) cream-style corn
Pinch of dried rosemary
Few drops of hot pepper sauce
Chopped Chive

Put water in saucepan and season with salt. Add vegetables, bring to boil, cover and simmer for 10 minutes; do not drain. In large saucepan melt butter and blend in flour. Gradually stir in milk and cook, stirring, until smooth and thickened. Add cheese and stir until melted. Add vegetables and liquid, tuna, corn, rosemary and hot pepper sauce. Add salt to taste and serve with a garnish of chives. Makes about 2 quarts, or 6 servings.

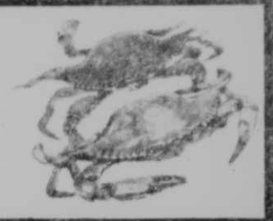
Senator Supports Renovation Of Frostburg Center

Sen. John Bambacus has offered full support and endorsement and asked every possible consideration from the state Office on Aging for a request for $75,000 of a special bond issue, to be used to renovate the Frostburg Senior Citizens Center.

Bambacus directed a letter to the Honorable Rosalie S. Abrams, recently appointed director of the Office on Aging, asking consideration of Frostburg's request.

Sen. Abrams,, representing District 42 (Baltimore City), has served in the Maryland General Assembly since 1967.

In his letter, the senator stated that "Senior citizens in the Frostburg area deserve a safe and comfortable facility." The proposal calls for roof and window replacement, energy conservation measures, and rest room renovations.



The special bond issue was approved by the state legislature last year and approvals of specific proposals have been delayed until this time.

Garrett County Gaining Recognition For Top-Quality Quarter Horses

by Carol Canan

There are many ways to put an area "on the map." Historic events, superb scenery, outstanding products - all offer a means to gain distinction. Several local residents envision placing Garrett County on the horse lovers' map as a nationally-known breeding and training area for top-quality American Quarter Horses.

All these people are well aware of the history of the breed, which is now more than three centuries old, originating in the Carolinas and Virginia as a short distance racer or quarter miler. The animals are descendants of Arab, Barb and Turk stock. After being more or less abandoned by early sportsmen in favor of longer distance runners, the quarter horses found a permanent niche on farms and ranches for their strength, surefootedness, speed, cutting and turning ability, and a sixth sense regarding cattle.

The quarter horse has the largest registry of purebred animals in the United States, according to information from the American Quarter Horse Association.

The animals are known as easy keepers, not requiring a great deal of care to provide a day's work or pleasure. Now, however, some breeders are introducing an infusion of Thoroughbred blood to provide more height for flat racing and jumping.

However, the purists, which include most of the local residents, believe the breed is practically perfect in its present form and boast that the quarter horse is the most versatile of equines, excelling at halter, trail, pleasure, jumping, riding, pole bending, polo, cutting, roping, barrel racing, reining, trail work, rodeoing and flat racing for the quarter mile.

A local club has formed here to help promote show horses, and the Mt. Top Saddle Club, Inc. has been active during the past two seasons in organizing shows and traveling to tri-state shows with their animals, many of which are quarter horses, to begin putting Garrett County in the foreground with show winners.

Dick and Susie (Otto) Smith are continuing their personal dream of making the county known for quarter horses by completing an indoor riding area with box stalls, a smaller barn with box stalls, and separate paddock areas on their Small Oaks property off the Old Deer Park Road.

These paddocks are now home to their three-year-old registered stallion, Wimpy's Little Jon, who was high point two year old in Pennsylvania last year and who is leading in point standings for the high point three-year-old stallion this year.

The stallion includes in his pedigree Wimpy P-1, the first horse registered by the American Quarter Horse Association in 1941.

Little Jon's weanling daughter, Jon's Ms. Poca Music, already shows great promise and won ninth in the Pennsylvania Quarter Horse Futurity last month, out of 49 entries, and placed in the top ten in the Maryland Futurity that same month. She finished the show season by receiving a fifth place in the Tri-State Futurity held in Washington, Pa.

These wins have been especially gratifying to Susie, as she and Dick have trained the filly and she showed the animal in the ring. Susie, who has been riding since she was four years old, says that competition is extremely tough with former and present show judges and trainers in competition as they show their top animals.

In September several other county horsemen received honors in the Maryland Futurity. Tom and Sandy Savage, McHenry, had a two-year-old mare who placed sixth; Sandy Harvey, Deer Park, had a colt place eighth in weanling stallions; Dan Otto, North Glade, had a two-year-old filly in seventh place. Willard (Butch) and Carol Wilt, of neighboring Allegany County, had a weanling colt place seventh. That colt was sired by one of the two stallions standing at the Marvin Miller farm near Grantsville.

In neighboring Pennsylvania, Billy and Sue Savage, McHenry, had a three-year-old mare place fourth in the Keystone Futurity in hunt seat class, and a weanling filly in the top ten in her class.

Several area stallions are gaining fame, including one owned by Cissy and Fred VanSickle, Accident, and Butch Smith, Deer Park. John and Brenda Ackerman are also involved in the quarter horse world, owning several animals and helping other owners with grooming and training for the show ring. John was recognized in the most recent Maryland State Quarter Horse Association newsletter for his help as announcer and ringmaster for the Maryland Futurity.

The world of horse breeding is a risky business, with the chance that something may go wrong when least expected. It is an expensive hobby, as noted by Sandy Savage, with costs of feed and vet bills, shoeing, grooming aids, saddlery, and if shows are planned, horse trailers, gasoline, lodgings, more equipment and even more feeds of the very best quality.

To all these quarter horse owners, each win, each new box stall and segment of fencing, each new foal is a step closer to their goals - bringing the county and its present and future population of quarter horses to the notice of the horsemen across the country.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of quarter horse characteristics is shown by Wimpy's Little Jon, a stallion owned by Dick and Susie Smith, Deer Park. Intelligence is denoted by his short, broad head with wide set gentle eyes, and topped by little fox ears. These horses give an impression of great strength with heavy muscling and a square stance, to keep them balanced at all times. Straight legs and strong hoofs give credence to the saying that a horse is only as good as his legs, and complete the picture of a sturdy, willing animal known for many years for their ability to outwit cows.

ALL YOUNG ANIMALS ARE CUTE, and this weanling filly is no exeption. In addition to being cute, though, this youngster is so typical of the finer points of quarter horses that she placed ninth in the Maryland Quarter Horse Futurity last month. Many other entries from this county also placed in the top ten in several categories at the competition this year. This filly is Jon's Miss Poca Music, a six-month-old daughter of the Smith's stallion Wimpy's Little Jon.

Medical Assistance Personal Care Program Explained

Each year in Maryland many of the disabled, chronically ill or elderly are forced to leave their homes, family and friends to seek care in hospitals or nursing homes.

Many of these people could remain at home if they had someone to help them, according to the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. The Medical Assistance Personal Care Program is a program of non-technical, but medically oriented, care provided in a patient's home to help the patient to stay there. The Program is designed to address the needs of the long-term chronically ill or disabled person who needs assistance with the ordinary activities of daily living, attendant to his or her medical condition. Help can be rendered with dressing, bathing, moving about, keeping the living area clean, healthy and comfortable, and seeing that proper food is prepared and given to the person. Patients must be eligible for medical assistance and under a doctor's care. Direct care is given by care providers who are under the supervision of a registered nurse case manager.

Since 1981, nursing supervision, or case management has been provided by a single case management agency in each political jurisdiction. Since July 1, 1983, more than one case management agency or individual nurse may offer services in any jurisdiction. A provider of case management services in Garrett County is Helen O. Heath, R.N., of the Garrett County Health Department.

For futher information on the Personal Care Program or an up-dated list of case management agencies persons may contact the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Medical Assistance Policy Administration, Personal Care Program, 300 West Preston Street - 2nd Floor, Baltimore, Maryland, 21201; (301) 383-4872.

Consumer Alert Issued Concerning Water Snake Toys

William M. Eichbaum, Assistant Secretary for Environmental Programs, Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, is issuing an alert to consumers about possible bacterial contamination of a water snake toy. Assistant Secretary Eichbaum says that these toys may be hazardous if they break or puncture, and their fluid contents come into contact with the skin or are injested.

The fluid in some of these toys is contaminated with excessive amounts of the organism pseudomanus aeruginosa. The organism can cause fever, nausea, skin rash and diarrhea. Small children are especially susceptible to this organism which is normally found in drinking water in minute amounts.

The water snake is a tube shaped toy made of a balloon-like rubber, approximately five inches long. The tube is then filled with water. Construction of the toy makes it difficult to hold because pressure on the toy caused continuous movement of the rubber exterior.

Samples of the product have been collected by the OEP from Baltimore area stores. Analysis by the State Health Department Laboratory revealed the presence of the organism pseudomonus aeruginosa. Thus far, no health complaints have been received by the State Health Department.

The toys are commonly found in toy stores, variety stores and discount chains. They are imported from Taiwan and distributed by a number of area sources.

Riggleman-Wolf Vows Exchanged In Double-Ring Ceremony October 1

Maurica Ann Wolf and James Richard Riggleman, Jr., were united in marriage on October 1. The double-ring ceremony took place at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland, with Father Martin Feild officiating.

Mrs. Pat Steyer was the organist and Mrs. Wilda Hile was the solo vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice A. Wolf, Oakland. The groom is the son of Alice Mae Madigan, Deer Park, and James Richard Riggleman, Silver Lake.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of brocade satin. The bodice was trimmed with Schiffli embroidery. The gown had a chapel train. The veil was edged with Schiffli embroidery to match her dress, with white silk roses on the head piece. Her jewelry was a pair of diamond earrings, a gift of her parents, and a gold bracelet with a diamond setting, a gift of her aunt and uncle. She carried a cascade bouquet of blue and white silk roses with blue tipped azaleas.

Darla Otto served as the matron of honor. Cathy Rumer was bridesmaid. Meghan Price was flower girl.

The attendants gowns were peacock blue with the bodice accentated with Schiffli embroidery to match the bride's gown. The matron of honor and bridesmaid carried a cascade of blue and white silk flowers to match the bride's bouquet. The flower girl carried a lace basket with blue and white silk flowers.

All the wedding flowers were made by Carol, of Carol's Christmas Shop, Deep Creek Lake.

Bill Browning and Chip Rowan, friends of the groom, served as best men. The groom's attendants were Tom Smith and Jimmie Fries, also friends of the groom. Kenneth James Murphy, nephew of the groom, served as ring-bearer.

The groom wore a white Ashley tuxedo and his attendants wore silver Claridge tuxedos. The ring-bearer also wore a white Ashley tuxedo.

Guests were registered by Babette Smith, cousin of the groom.

Three Injured In Auto Mishap, One Still "Critical"

Two Garrett County residents remain patients in the West Virginia University Medical Center after being involved in a head-on collision last Wednesday night near Deep Creek Lake.

Kevin E. Callis, 28, Deer Park, was listed in "critical" condition with chest injuries this morning while Patty Ann McBeath, 27, Oakland, is in "stable" condition.

The accident occurred around 10:25 p.m. on U.S. Rt. 219 near the Glendale Road.

According to police reports a vehicle driven by McBeath was southbound on Rt. 219 and attempted to miss a large piece of cardboard in the roadway. She lost control of the vehicle, crossed the center line and struck a vehicle driven by Laureen Ann Butcher, 28, of McHenry.

The Southern Rescue Squad transported Butcher, McBeath and Callis, a passenger in the McBeath vehicle, to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where Butcher was admitted, but has since then been released. Callis and McBeath were then transferrred to the Morgantown medical facility.

Tfc. R.J. Resh was the investigating officer. No charges have been filed at this time.

WHISTLING SWANS CAPTURED — In a rare and beautiful photograph, local birdwatcher and ornithological expert Fran Pope has captured the elegance and grace of these whistling swans as they soared over Broad Ford reservoir in late October. This particular group consisted of 15 adults and one young, and was no doubt enroute to join large flocks to winter in shallow waters as far south as North Carolina. The big birds nest annually during summer in the tundra areas of the far north. Adults may measure 52 inches in length and have a wingspan of as much as 85 inches. Now the species is also referred to as the tundra swan because of their nesting habitat, according to Mrs. Pope, who noted that small flocks annually migrate across this county.

Pair Gets More Than Due In Local Flim Flam

Maryland State Police and the Garrett County Sheriff's Department are investigating a "flim-flam operation" that took place at the Winds Restaurant and Wynlyns Amoco on November 7, allegedly involving two black male suspects.

The pair used the same approach by confusing employees to gain cash.

According to reports, the two stopped at the Winds Restaurant, ordered coffee to go, while keeping the waitress busy, then claimed they had been short-changed eventually taking $40 from the establishment. They were seen continuing southbound on Rt. 219 in a white 1970 model Buick, stopping at Wynlyns Edge Stop & Shop. The pair allegedly ordered gas and kept confusing the clerk as to how they wanted their change, taking $15 extra when they left.

One of the men is described as being 6 feet tall, weighing 180 pounds, around mid 20s to mid 30's, while the other is thought to be around 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighing about 180 pounds. One has a gold front tooth and one was wearing a ski cap.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department is continuing the investigation concerning the Wynlyns theft while state police are working on the Winds investigation.

Armed Fugitive Caught Thursday After Extensive Police Manhunt

A 29-year old resident of Fort Wayne, Ind., has been arrested and charged with seven counts of breaking and entering, six of which involving stolen property, after eluding authorities for nearly three days.

Samuel A. Amerson, Jr., was taken into custody Thursday along the Mayhew Inn Road, south of Deep Creek Lake, by Tfc. L.N. Smith, his K-9 dog and Tfc. D.C. Maiers.

According to reports, Maryland State Police began the search for Amerson last Tuesday, after he was involved in a hit-and-run accident in Friendsville. He headed north on Route 219 in a stolen Indiana vehicle, abandoning the car near Innsbruk Village and continuing on foot.

According to a police spokesman, Amerson allegedly first entered the residence of Richard Cosner, taking a wallet, ammunition, assorted jewelry, clothing and personal checks. Loss was set at approximately $700.00.

He then allegedly entered a cabin located on Lakeshore Drive owned by Frederick Bright, Pittsburgh, Pa. After breaking down the door, he allegedly took bottles of rum and ginger ale. Including property damages, loss was set at $70.00. He then allegedly proceeded next door and entered a summer home owned by William Russell Murray, Bethesda, but stole nothing. He reportedly spent the night sleeping in the woods.

The following day Amerson allegedly broke into a trailer located on the Santa Fe Trail, off Lakeshore Drive, owned by John Ray Smith and occupied by Garrett Community College students. There he allegedly stole a winter coat owned by Mark Roski, valued at $30, a

State, County Unemployment Rates Decrease

Maryland's estimated unemployment rate dropped significantly, from 6.4 percent in August to 5.8 percent in September, while the state's labor force and employment reached the highest monthly level on record, according to statistics released by the Maryland Department of Employment and Training (DET).

Garrett County's jobless rate also decreased during that period, but not so dramatically, falling from 12.2 percent in August to 12.1 percent in September. The September 1982 rate for the county was 15.6 percent.

This September's Maryland rate is 2.3 percentage points lower than last September and is the lowest rate recorded since November 1979. In fact, during September, all aspects of unemployment decreased including the number of claims filed for unemployment insurance benefits, persons exhausting their benefits and unemployed

Commissioners Dedicate Bridge

The Garrett County Commissioners recently dedicated the Upper Mill Run Bridge after its replacement, completed on October 18.

The bridge, located on the Upper Mill Run Road along a school bus route, had been given a zero weight limit by engineers in a report of all county bridges revised in September 1981.

The bridge, measuring a span of 41 feet, was replaced by a five-man crew from the Garrett County Roads Department. Crew chief was Carl Schmidt who operated under Joe DeWitt, supervisor of the Accident Garage.

The estimated cost of the bridge had it been done by a contracting firm was approximately $110,000, said county officials. With county crews performing the work, the cost was $46,482.

The bridge has been inspected by James Duffey, Duffey, Montgomery and Associates of Baltimore, consulting engineers for the project. Duffey stated the bridge complied with all state requirements and that the county crews had done high caliber work.

County Roads Department administrator Ken Metheny reported that another county bridge replacement project, the Silver Knob Bridge has been completed and the bridge was opened Tuesday to traffic.

Commissioners To Meet With Beverly Byron

The Garrett County Commissioners are spending today and Thursday in the eastern part of the state attending a legislative meeting of the Maryland Association of Counties and a luncheon meeting with Congresswoman Beverly Byron.

The commissioners will be among other officials from the sixth district to discuss economic problems experienced in the region with Congresswoman Byron Thursday in Washington, D.C.

Today, the commissioners are dealing with an array of matters at the MACO meeting in Annapolis including state funding of education, sewage sludge policy and the MACO 1984 legislative program.

The commissioners announced their plans for today and Thursday during their press conference Tuesday afternoon.

Also during the press conference, the commissioners reported they met with Dr. William Pope, county health officer, to discuss the state's mandate that the county commissioners evaluate Pope's performance as health officer on an annual basis.

Officials Halt State Park Bridge Project

Inclement weather and negotiations for a change order in the construction of a new bridge into Deep Creek Lake State Park were reasons for shutdown of the project this week, Ken Metheny, administrator of the Garrett County roads department, stated yesterday.

The project, begun September 12 by contractor Mattingly Construction Co. Inc., Cumberland, called for the removal of the single lane bridge over Meadow Mountain Run and replacement of a new steel bridge for two-lane traffic.

About three weeks ago after the initial supports for the new structure were laid, citizens began calling the county commissioners' office complaining about the bridge which resulted in current negotiations between the contractor and the county's consulting engineer James Duffey, Duffey, Montgomery and Associates of Baltimore, to determine how to correct the problem discovered by the citizens.

The problem, the citizens reported, was they did not have enough clearance underneath the bridge to take their high riding power boats out of the cove into the main body of Deep Creek Lake.

Upon inspection of the bridge, officials discovered that the lowest point of the new structure was exactly the same distance from the water as the old structure had been, but there was one major difference: the base supports for the old bridge ran perpendicular across the bridge and were 4½ feet apart while the base supports for the new bridge ran lengthwise with the structure. Boaters gained clearance under the old bridge by riding between the base supports.

Friendsville Man Charged In Shooting Death Of Wife Tuesday Evening

A Friendsville man was charged by State Police this morning for the slaying of his 23-year-old wife, which occurred last night in the bedroom of their home.

Joseph Phillip Miller, Jr., 47, has been charged with murder and the use of a handgun in commission of a felony stemming from the incident which occurred around 8:30 p.m. along the White Rock Road near Friendsville.

According to police reports, Miller allegedly shot his wife, Kathy Jean, in the face with a .357 calibre handgun during a domestic dispute. The couple's two sons, aged six-months and four-years, were asleep at the time.

Garrett Central Alarm got a call at approximately 8:45 p.m. from Mrs. Miller's brother, who lives next door to the couple, advising of a possible hostage situation.

Upon arrival, police got no response from within the mobile home but eventually contact was made with Miller, who claimed his wife had committed suicide.

He voluntarily accompanied police to give a statement and, after further indications of homicide, the charges were made.

Mrs. Miller was pronounced dead at the scene by County Medical Examiner, Dr. James Feaster. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Sisler, also of Friendsville.

Garrett County Deputy Crossland and Deputy Buckel assisted in the initial contact by state police.

Sgt. C. Hinnant, assisted by Tfc. Glenn and Sgt. P.D. Wilson, both of the LaVale detachment, is continuing the investigation.

Maryland Court Of Appeals Upholds Death Sentence Of Richard Tichnell

The death sentence of Richard Tichnell, who was convicted of the 1979 murder of Garrett County Deputy David Livengood, was affirmed by the highest court in the State—the Court of Appeals—in a six-to-one decision filed November 3. It was the first death sentence affirmed in the State of Maryland since the newly enacted statute in 1978.

guilty by a jury on August 23, 1979, of the first degree murder charge. The Judge at that time sentenced him to death and on appeal the Maryland Court of Appeals affirmed his conviction and upheld the constitutionality of the death sentence, but remanded the case for a new sentencing procedure saying that Judge Pollitt had committed an error.

In August, 1980 Tichnell elected a jury to sentence him and that jury, different from the one who heard his case, concluded that death was the appropriate penalty. On appeal the Court of Appeals again vacated the death sentence saying that the trial judge had committed reversible error.

In August 1981 the case again came for hearing in the Circuit Court for Wicomico County. The case had been removed to that county on Tichnell's motion that he could not get a fair trial in Garrett County.

The case was removed from Wicomico County to the Circuit Court for Calvert County. At this third capital sentencing procedure another jury was impaneled and imposed the death sentence. This occurred in January 1982. Garrett County State's Attorney, Jim Sherbin, tried each of the cases.

Livengood was killed on January 18, 1979, when he answered the silent alarm at Davidson's Army-Navy Store in Oakland. Tichnell and an accomplice, Oscar Recek, had broken into Davidson's for the purpose of stealing handguns. With the breaking the silent alarm was triggered in the Sheriff's office and Livengood, accompanied by his K-9 dog, responded to the scene.

Shortly after arriving Livengood reported over his police radio that he was going to investigate a suspect vehicle. Shortly thereafter the police received a call from a resident who lived behind Davidson's Store, reporting that he had heard gun shots. Other police arrived at the scene and discovered Livengood's body. He

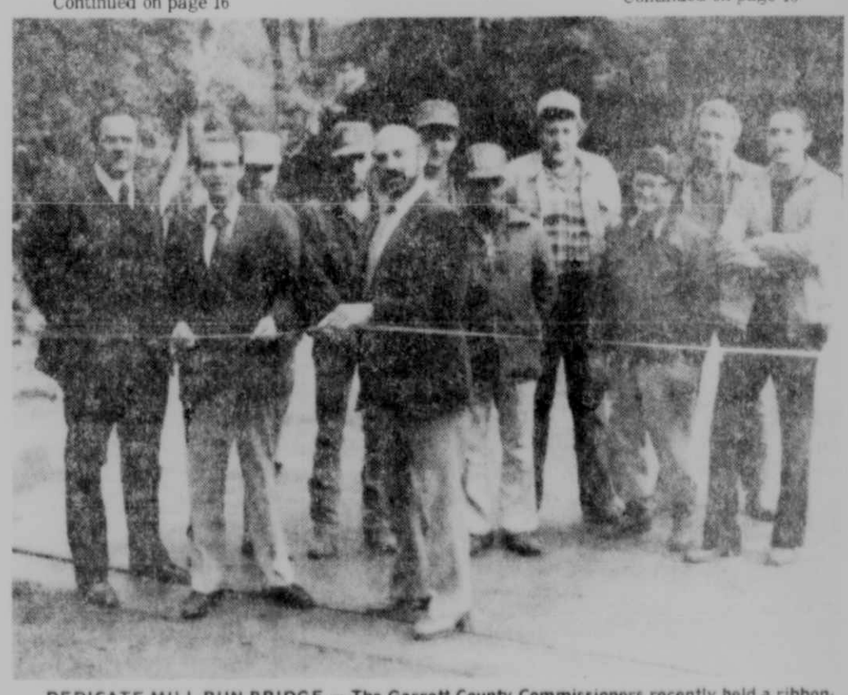
Dr. H.R. Gibson, Oakland Dentist, Dies Wednesday

Dr. H. Robert Gibson, 68, who maintained a dental practice in Oakland for nearly four decades, died unexpectedly last Wednesday in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.



Dr. Gibson, who resided at 716 E. Green Street, Oakland, recently retired from his dental practice of 37 years. He was graduated from Kingwood, W. Va. High School in 1933, attended West Virginia University and graduated from Glenville State College, where he was a member of the football team. He taught school in Preston County before enrolling in dental school at the University of Maryland Baltimore Campus. During his sophomore year he enlisted in the U.S. Navy where he served in World War II and rose to the rank of lieutenant.

He was a member and past president of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club; Oakland Lodge 192, AF & AM, St. Paul's United Methodist Church; and the Oakland Country Club. He was active in community affairs, once being on the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Peterson and her late husband, Walt, were the first couple to become a licensed foster care family in Garrett County in 1940. Also pictured, left, is Elizabeth Hart, foster care caseworker.

DEDICATE MILL RUN BRIDGE — The Garrett County Commissioners recently held a ribbon-cutting ceremony to signify the opening of the Upper Mill Run Bridge, a bridge replaced by Garrett County Roads Department crews this summer. The bridge was closed August 22 and completed by October 18. Present for the ceremony were, left to right, front row, county commissioners John Braskey, Elwood Groves and Ernie Gregg; second row, roads workers Harold Bennett, crew chief Carl Schmidt, Eddie Carr, area resident George Smith, and roads administrator Ken Metheny; third row, roads workers Allan Fike, Danny Friend, and central area supervisor Joe DeWitt.

Civil Defense Will Coordinate Appeals For Winter Emergency Aid

Garrett County's Civil Defense office will provide coordination this year for the county's emergency requests for assistance when residents run out of fuel, food or prescription medicine this winter.

That decision was made at a meeting last Friday morning between Civil Defense personnel, the county commissioners' office, Garrett Central, the county roads department, Community Action and the House of Hope.

This winter citizens in need of assistance to obtain such necessities as fuel, food or medicine can call the 24-hour number, 334-4055, which is monitored by Central Alarm.

Central will then pass the information along to Civil Defense, which will notify the appropriate agency and follow up to make sure the request has been answered.

Civil Defense personnel are Brad Frantz, coordinator, and Terry Spear, assistant.

Ken Metheny, administrator of the county roads, agreed to provide a radio for one four-wheel drive Community Action vehicle and an additional radio-equipped four-wheel drive pick-up will be available from the county, located in the basement of the courthouse.

Emergency requests for fire or emergency medical services should be phoned in to the usual 911 number.

The House of Hope will continue to provide assistance for shelter and food as deemed necessary, according to Sisters Maryann and Joanna.

Snow Removal Policy

The county roads policy on snow removal as established by the commissioners means the roads department will adhere strictly to servicing the 699 miles of the county roads system.

The only exception to the policy is that appropriate equipment will be immediately dispatched to open private roads for emergency ambulance and fire equipment at the request of Garrett Central Alarm.

Those not named above who attended last Friday's meeting were Paul Shockey, personnel director of the commissioners' office; Duane Yoder, executive director of Community Action; Ed Livengood, chief dispatcher for Central Alarm; and Earl Foster, assistant administrator for the roads department.

Senator Wants Public Service Jobs For Tourism

In a letter to Governor Harry R. Hughes last week, State Senator John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany, Garrett) suggested that public service jobs be made available in conjunction with the development of tourism-related facilities in western Maryland.

The State Department of Natural Resources is already in the process of examining the potential for tourism/recreation enterprise facilities on state lands, and is reviewing various site proposals. "Such facilities would contribute not only to the economic well-being of the area through tourism development, but also by providing employment and training opportunity as well," Bambacus wrote. The subject of a resort complex for western Maryland was discussed during a visit by the governor to the region on October 11.

Recalling the Civilian Conservation Corps camps of the '30s, the Senator proposed a program, funded under the Jobs Training Partnership Act, which "would put some of our unemployed to work, teach them skills, and give them valuable work experience at the same time." Under the plan, on-the-job training would be provided in the construction trades, hotel and motel management, restaurant services, and many other support areas.

According to Bambacus, who is Chairman of Senate Select Committee for Garrett, Allegany and Washington Counties, a program of public service jobs could "complement and enhance programs already in place to assist the new and displaced workers in western Maryland."

Bambacus sponsored the state JTPA, which provides increased flexibilty in tailoring training programs to fit specific local job needs, and replaced CETA on Ocobter 1.

Deputies Solve Store Theft, Begin New Investigations

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department solved a breaking and entering at Grace's Store near Friendsville recently, and placed under investigation several other cases including slashed tires and thefts of car stereos and equipment, and concluded an investigation into an accidential shooting with a BB gun in Friendsville.

According to a report by Deputy Buckel, a 14-year-old Friendsville area youth was charged with the breaking and entering at Grace's Store on Frazee Road October 31. Missing from the store were two cakes and a soft drink, and Deputy Buckel was able to trace the culprit through a note he had left at the store. The youth is in the custody of his parents pending a hearing in juvenile court. Some $50 worth of damage was reported in the breaking and entering.

A nine-year-old Friendsville girl was slightly injured when struck in the head by a BB pellet accidentally discharged from a gun held by her step-brother, Todya J. Corby, Friendsville, was treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the incident which was placed under investigation by Deputy Charles Nolan. No charges were made in the mishap.

CSL Conversions, Accident, reported to Deputy Richard Kutchman October 31 that someone had removed two car stereos, a cassette player, an aluminum roof rack, a four-step ladder, and a continental kit from their property during the preceding two months. Total loss was estimated at nearly $700 by Deputy Kutchman.

Two rear tires and one front tire were slashed on a truck belonging to Randall Eugene DeWitt, Star Route 2, Oakland, the night of November 4. That same night someone slashed tires on a vehicle owned by Jerry Gank at the Oakland Center of Garrett Commuity College. Police have a possible suspect in the incident, according to Deputy Kutchman and Sgt. Roger Lewis, who is investigating for the Oakland Police.

Offices To Close

County, state and federal offices in the Garrett County Courthouse will be closed Friday in observance of Veterans' Day, a federal holiday, Gary Mullich, building manager, said this morning.

Hospital Search Fails To Turn Up Suspicious Men

Oakland town police, the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, and Department of Natural Resources personnel took part in a search through and around Garrett County Memorial Hospital last Saturday, but were unsuccessful in finding two men who reportedly had been seen in the basement of the building.

According to Oakland police reports, a call came to that department about 12:20 p.m., after Alice Dunithan reported seeing two well-dressed men who apparently were assembling a shotgun in a remote area of the basement.

She notified the maintenance staff, who conducted a preliminary search and then law enforcement officials were called in.

No trace of the two men nor the gun was found during a complete search of the building and nearby area, and police surmise the men had left immediately after the employee first spotted them.

Saturday was the day of the open house for the health department, located in the older section of the building.

Program Allows Students To Pay Instate Tuition

Maryland students can participate in a number of educational programs in other states and pay instate tuition as part of The Academic Common Market, Garrett Community College officials have announced.

The Academic Common Market, a program made available through interstate agreements between the Maryland Board of Higher Education and other southern states, allows students to enroll in educational programs in other states currently unavailable in Maryland at the undergraduate, graduate and professional levels.

During this year, Maryland residents can enroll in such baccalaureate programs as: community health at the University of Kentucky, construction at Louisiana State University, environmental health at East Tennessee State University, forestry and wildlife resources at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, radiologic technology at the University of Alabama in Birmingham, and travel industry management at Concord College.

A sampling of graduate programs includes aging studies, coal processing research, educational media, hospital and health administration, occupational therapy, petroleum engineering and medical technology.

The same opportunity is available to West Virginia residents when the program is not available in West Virginia.

States participating in The Academic Common Market are Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

There are two requirements: 1) Acceptance in a program to which a student's state had made arrangements to send its students and 2) Proof of legal resident of that state.

Persons wishing more information about The Academic Common Market and Transfer Programs at GCC should contact Dr. George Dailey at 387-6666, 245-4133 or 359-9520.

NEW BRIDGE PROJECT HALTED — Work on the new two-lane bridge over Meadow Mountain Run and leading into the Deep Creek Lake State Park halted this week partly because of inclement weather and partly because of negotiations over a change to the bridge between the contractor, Mattingly Construction Co., of Cumberland, and the engineer, James Duffey, Duffey, Montgomery and Associates, Baltimore. The engineer is recommending raising the bridge because boaters have complained they can not take their boats under the new structure.

Leininger Named Top Century III Leader At SHS

Verne Leininger, a senior at Southern High School has been named the school's top Century III leader according to Luther Parrack, principal.

The 18-year-old student is now eligible to compete with other local winners from around the state for one of two $1,500 scholarships and an all expense-paid trip to the Century III Leaders National Conference, March 2-5, 1984, in Colonial Williamsburg, Va. State winners will compete for the national winner's prize of an additional $10,000 scholarship.

The Century III Leaders program is designed to bring together and recognize student leaders who show both strong leadership abilities and an interest in the future of America. Leininger was judged on the basis of leadership skills, school and community involvement, and a current events examination. He also wrote a short essay on a particular issue that challenges America in its third century.

Runners-up in the competition at Southern were Kristi Bowling and Shawn Garner.

This is the ninth year of the Century III Leaders program, which awards a total of $218,500 in scholarships to 204 young leaders. Century III is sponsored and administered by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, and funded by the Shell Companies Foundation, Inc.

The Williamsburg meeting will be highlighted by major speakers and seminars, along with discussions among students and leaders from the worlds of business, education and government. Speakers at past conferences have included newsmen Harry Reasoner, Howard K. Smith, Tom Brokaw, and Charles Kuralt; philosopher and futurist Buckminster Fuller; and the librarian of Congress, Daniel Boorstin.

Leininger is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Verne Leininger, Sr. of Deer Park.

Oakland Accepts Zoning Change

The Oakland council voted unanimously Monday evening to accept a proposed change in the zoning ordinance governing home professional offices and home occupations.

Councilman Robert Boal made the motion that the change be accepted, and the motion was seconded by Terry Helbig.

The change will require that in the future all such home occupations will be permitted only if granted a special exception by the town's zoning appeals board. Previously such home occupations were automatically permitted if criteria, such as use of no more than 25 percent of the floor space, were met. The new requirement also stipulates that no special exceptions would be approved if the character of the specific neighborhood would be altered.

Town councilman Mark Durst is presently reviewing the three bids received for masonry restoration of the town hall, and will make recommendations at the December council meeting.

Seeks ARC Grant

The town has filed an application to receive some $222,370 of Appalachian Regional Commission funds to help defray the town's share of the sewer system rehabilitation costs.

Wendell Keaton, municipal administrator for the incorporated towns in this county, informed the town council of progress toward the Appalachian Regional Commission grant sought by the town and supported by the county commissioners at Monday's meeting.

That request is currently in the hands of the Tri-County Council, which will prioritize the request according to needs of the three westernmost counties, and then the request goes to Annapolis for approval before being forwarded to Washington for possible federal approval.

The amount sought is approximately five percent of the non-federal share of the project and is approximately one-half of the amount the town must provide for the project. The town's share is $516,000 according to Keaton.

Opinion Without Fact . . .

Opening one's mouth with comments and opinions on situations before obtaining all the facts is something that each of us is guilty of more than once in our life. Since the majority of us are not public figures, however, the end result of such actions is not quite as embarrassing as it is for those in the public eye whose comments are published and broadcast.

We refer specifically to the members of Congress, including Speaker of the House Tip O'Neill, who were so quick to pounce on President Reagan for the "invasion" of Grenada. On the dawn of the attack there by our Marines, many of these legislators labeled it an unnecessary, stupid move by the president that was likely to provoke world-wide criticism. Even the head of the medical school on Grenada blasted Reagan.

Well, the worldwide criticism was heard from several corners of the earth, but most of the Congressmen changed their tune after a visit to Grenada by a 14-member panel. Even the most skeptical of the 14 Congressmen who went to Grenada learned that the security of numerous medical students on the island nation was only one concern. The discovery of tons of weaponry and evidence of new communist military bases was, to say the least, unnerving to our leaders. They returned with the opinion that President Reagan acted appropriately in ordering troops into the region. Even O'Neill agreed with that posture yesterday, as did the head of the medical school after he learned the real story.

The general public, a majority of which was against Reagan's foreign policy and military tactics before the Beirut bombing and Grenada affair, is now behind him by nearly a 60% to 40% margin. We are among that 60% who believe that the president has the best and most reliable information about such matters at his disposal and we must trust him and his advisors to do what is in the best interest of our nation.

It would be a nice change if other government leaders would make sure they have all the information before they make public opinions against the commander-in-chief. But, there we go again, trying to change human nature.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Late Wednesday evening the Southern High School football program lost a very dear and beloved friend. The loss of "Doc" left our program in a state of shock and grief.

Dr. Gibson has been over the past 40 years one of Southern's most consistent supporters. He was never one to boast of his contributions, but rather took on every job with humbleness. His many devoted hours of thankless jobs are often overlooked by the public, but will forever be appreciated by those of us at Southern.

As we pass through life it is very seldom that we make friends with someone with the loyalty, devotion, humbleness and love displayed by Dr. Gibson. I will forever cherish the "Champion" plaques that he gave to me following our 1979 and 1980 State playoff years. The time and care that he used in crafting those two plywood and penny plaques only exemplify his simple love for those around him.

Respectfully,

To the Editor:

Would like to make these observations regarding the letter in the issue of November 2, 1983 from Barbara Lautman of Handgun Control, Inc. These anti-gunners are a very small, but vocal, minority who apparently make a living working to undermine the Constitution of the United States for the purpose of limiting or removing some of our rights as guaranteed by the Constitution.

They want restrictive or prohibitive laws but they cannot show us where such laws have reduced crime. FBI reports show crime has increased considerably where such laws have been enacted, but these people and the news media do not tell us this. The bottom line here is, they appear to be afraid of the truth!

Wars, murders and assassinations are a sad human failing. If firearms are not available then unregistered clubs, knives, etc., are used as in the recent case of the Frostburg State College coed. The victims are just as dead and their families and friends are just as bereaved, but such tragedies usually get only one time mention by the news media. If the same thing happens involving a firearm it usually gets coverage several times even when it is accidental.

The 1968 Gun Control Act was passed in an atmosphere of emotionlism instead of common sense. It has been a bad law from the beginning. Abuses by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms earned the bureau the name "The American Gestapo" in many instances. In 15 years no one can show where the law has reduced crime!

Interested persons who wish to see the abuses of the 1968 law stopped may contact their legislators in Congress asking that they support and pass the McClure-Volkmer bills (S. 914 and H.R. 2420). Messages should be courteous, brief and to the point.

Sincerely,
George L. Porter

To the Editor:

Remember the old saying, "Count to ten before you . . ?"

Well, I have counted to ten, time after time, and in my opinion I am still convinced the crowning of an Allegany County girl as "Miss Garrett County" was absurd. Definition of absurd—contrary to reason or common sense; irrational, ridiculous.

Can you imagine asking Miss Garrett County what part of the county she lives in and she remarks she does not live in Garrett County? It could be confusing.

I am sure the young lady is a lovely person, but she is not a Garrett Countian and it is not fair to our native Garrett County girls, who have so few titles to compete for, to have to share this title with someone from another county. Had she been a student at our college or residing here temporarily I could understand.

Can you imagine the feeling Debbie Wagner must have felt—being a native of this county and having to forfeit the honor to someone from another county?

I have known Debbie as a tiny tot, a student and as the lovely, young Christian lady she now is and to have this happen upsets me greatly and I would feel the same if I would not have known her.

It is my opinion that if we are planning to have a "Miss Garrett County," let us have a "Miss Garrett County;" if we want to reach out to other counties—let us have a "Miss Western Maryland."

It is also my opinion that we have too many other people from other counties in this county with jobs our Garrett County people could manage and need and I am referring to local government.

I believe our mission should be to look after Garrett County and its inhabitants first and if this is done properly, spread ourselves farther.

Thank you.

To the Editor:

The last issue of your paper contained statements by Commissioner Groves to the effect that that they had recently met with James Duffy to see if the Little Bear Creek bridge could be repaired.

First, James Duffy is not a "State" engineer as Groves has stated. He is a member of Duffy Montgomery and Associates. It is a privately owned firm that was working for the Commissioners under a contract. Their reports to the commissioners are tailored to meet the approval of the people who hired them and who pay them. Our commissioners seem to have a yen for leaving contracts.

This last summer the commissioners (a couple of school boys and a druggist) took it upon themselves to close a whole list of county roads without regard to the damage that might result to the people. Included in their list was the Accident to Friendsville road and bridge, over Little Bear Creek.

They then sent a crew of our roads employees down to the bridge with some heavy equipment. The equipment, weighing several tons, was placed on the bridge deck, and the sound, three-inch thick plank was ripped up breaking up the plank and splintering the wooden runners to which the planks were firmly spiked. They left the steel stringers on the bridge. Their purpose was apparently to completely disable the bridge. Had the bridge been weak and unable to carry normal local traffic, the heavy machinery would have broken it down.

The foundations have been looked at by masonry experts and their masonry tools have been used to test the abutments. They found the abutments solid and free from any deterioration. The steel stringers show some deterioration, and if some of them could be replaced the bridge would be serviceable for many years.

To the Editor:

The article on the Garrett County Farm Bureau meeting was beautifully, accurately reported as far as it went. There was a question brought before the group. Why is the American Farm Bureau Federation opposing the rural electrification financing proposal?

Farm Bureau, a grass roots organization (?) is supposed to be dedicated to serving the best interests of rural people. In this case they are doing these folks an injustice and many of these rural people are their own members. I know. We belong to both Farm Bureau and Somerset Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc.

Somerset REC, Inc. serves 9,500 member-consumers, 500 residing in Maryland. There are two electric cooperatives in Maryland. Southern Maryland Electric Cooperative, Inc. serves 65,000 members and Choptank Electric Cooperative, Inc. serves 25,037. SMEC, Inc. ranks fifth in owner-consumers out of 1,000 electric co-ops in the nation. One Florida Cooperative has 75,000 owner-consumers. I feel very positive that a major portion of the memberships of all 1,000 co-ops have dual membership.

Remember—rural electric cooperatives came into existence because private power companies refused to provide services at a reasonable rate. Unprofitable, they said.

Financing activities of REA came about because rural areas are sparsely populated, less than 5 members per mile of line; through the most remote and rugged terrain imaginable. And don't forget those same lines have to be maintained.

If REC's had been forced to obtain financing from commercial sources many of us might never have gotten electric.

If now we have to depend on commercial sources for all our financing our electric bills will really increase.

Please, Farm Bureau members, encourage leaders of both Farm Bureau and government to support the Rural Electrification Revolving Fund Self Sufficiency Act of 1983.

S 1300 and HR 3050.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Betty J. Guard

The letter in your October 26 edition saying why doesn't Welfare recipients plant a garden: Why?

They do not have to; welfare gives them a check to purchase a car and gas, food stamps to live on and a medical card to pay the doctor and buy their medicine.

Community Action gives them wood (these big husky fellows with wood right around their door) or oil. Is it any wonder some of them are quitting good jobs and going on welfare?

A good man who will work and try to get along loses his job. The government agencies do not want to help them, just the tramps. Anyone who has ground would freely give them a place for a garden or potato patch, but they would not have time to take care of it by riding around enjoying life.

I wonder if the welfare people ever think of the senior citizens living on a fixed income and getting along without some of the necessities of life to pay doctor bills and hospital bills which medicare doesn't cover and especially paying high taxes to keep these tramps.

Let's hear from other taxpayers what they think.

To the Editor:

This past weekend the snow began to fly in Garrett County, but the warm summer days are still fresh in our minds. Garrett County is the beautiful hidden secret of Western Maryland. Our large lake provides residents and visitors a great deal of pleasure during the warm months.

One factor we sometimes overlook is the number of accidents which occur on our lake. Most people on the water are not really aware of our boating laws. Accidents occur not only because of carelessness, but lack of education.

It is a generally known fact that the majority of drownings are by people who had no intention of going into the water. Some of you may remember some of the different accidents which have occurred in the past few years. A couple that comes to mind was the man and his son whose boat blew up because they were barbequing on their pontoon gas boat. This last summer a police officer was critically injured when his boat was hit by another boat because of negligence.

The Division of Boating Education & Safety which is part of the State of Maryland National Resources offers a boating correspondence course to residents of Maryland. This course is aimed at education. It is free of charge. Many schools and colleges in Maryland are now teaching the course. Also many service installations in Maryland are requiring that the course must be taken and passed to rent a boat. Most insurance companies are giving a 10% discount on boat insurance with proof of passing this course.

We are encouraging all boat owners in Garrett County to take the course this winter. We want our waters safer.

Dark Of Visage
God of War

Stalks the horizon of our scrabble days.
A scent of blood is blowing in the wind.
Our Caesar, Sunday pious, Monday rage,
Bounds up from unctuous orisons and cries,
Render unto me your sons!
His ringing voice, long practiced for
His strut across the national stage,
Falls on blandished ears.
And parents, proud, unwitting rush
To offer up the nation's youth
To the scything sacrificial sword
On the blood-drenched altar of
The Jeering Goddess of Blind Fear and Hate.
Stampede now, O righteous ones!
For the handy escape hatch
For rendering unto Caesar . . . sons.
Turn not back to face the lethal wind.
Heap not upon your heads in grief
Poisoned ash.

Public TV To Air Chemical People, Part II, Tonight

The second phase of the Chemical People project, public television's call to action to fight adolescent drug and alcohol abuse, gets underway tonight at 180 town meetings throughout Maryland. This phase focuses on community organization as a remedy to the increasing numbers of young people engaged in chemical abuse.

Fifty-six county residents met last Wednesday in the Tiffany Green Room of Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake, to view the first part of the Chemical People and to discuss the local problem, Ed Zook, prevention service coordinator of the Mental Health and Alcohol Division of the Garrett County Health Department, reported this week.

Representatives of the schools, law enforcement and social service agencies presented information to the group to show the scope of the problem from their perspective.

Although members of the group, comprised of persons from all parts of the county, were not unanimous in recognizing a problem existed in Garrett, they all believed there was a need for additional drug and alcohol treatment facilities for youth in the county, Zook said.

Zook distributed a 10 question survey to those attending which revealed that 97 percent were interested in getting involved with the Chemical People project.

The survey also showed that 80 percent of those attending were parents while 83 percent were persons not involved with agencies which deal with the drug and alcohol problem.

Of the 56 persons there, 91 percent knew of or suspected drug and alcohol abuse in the community.

Tonight's television program, which airs at 8 p.m., will deal with what some communities have done to combat the chemical abuse problem and will suggest ways local task forces can organize to deal with the problem in their communities.

Zook said people coming to the community meeting should arrive by 7:30 p.m. After the program, the group will discuss what families, the community and public agencies in the county can do to fight chemical abuse.

Persons desiring further information may contact Ed Zook at 334-8111.

Members Sought For Youghiogheny Advisory Board

Anyone interested in being considered for a position on the re-formed local Youghiogheny River Advisory Board is being asked to contact the commissioners at the Oakland Courthouse or Keith Roberts, project coordinator for the Yough, at 387-5116.

The advisory board is required to have at least two residents of the county who own land on the Yough and at least two county residents who do not own land on the river.

A new advisory board is expected to be assembled within three months and Secretary Torrey Brown has indicated he will draw upon many sources for nominations.

The former board was disbanded at the request of the county commissioners, Sen. John N. Bambacus and Del. George Edwards, who told Secretary Brown that the board was apparently unable to effectively address problems concerning management of the river.

Callis, Eichorn New Councilmen For Loch Lynn

Callis drew 47 votes, Eichorn 39 and incumbent Michael Vance had 38 votes.

The new councilmen will assume office January 1, and will join Mayor Charles Tressler and councilman Calvin Coddington and Mrs. Millie O'Haver in administration of the town.

There are approximately 129 registered voters in Loch Lynn, according to clerk Virginia Eichorn.

Youth Robbed After Drinking Spree

A 17-year-old male reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department November 3 that he had been forcibly robbed by an assailant earlier in the evening.

According to Chief Deputy Van Evans, the young man phoned police from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he had been taken by family members after the alleged assault and robbery.

The young man was treated and released at the hospital for a shoulder injury. In his narrative to police, the youth told of having been drinking earlier in the evening with four other young men in a pickup, and then the driver stopped the vehicle near the Sterling Plant and demanded the youth's wallet. The young man reported that the older youth struck him with an iron pipe and emptied his wallet of approximately $45 before driving off.

The investigation in continuing, reports Deputy Evans, and charges are expected to be placed against two area young men. The young man who filed the report knew his assailant only by a nickname, said Deputy Evans.

Northern High To Observe Education Week Nov. 13-19

Parents of students of Northern High School have been invited to visit classes and/or eat lunch with their children during November 13-19, designated American Education Week.

In addition to the above activities, the student council has proposed several ways to get students and staff members involved in education week activities. One of the ways includes providing information about the club offerings at the school.

Clubs vary from aerobics to computers to skiing, and youngsters are allowed to choose whatever interests them most. Students not interested in joining a club are assigned to a free reading group.

A brief outline of some of the clubs has been submitted by Mildred Wucik, vice principal at the school. First alphabetically is the aerobics club, in which members are given the opportunity to keep in shape and have fun. Auto mechanics is for future mechanics or those with a talent or need for this aid, and members are given four, six and eight cylinder engines to work on.

The Chess Clubs provides members with opportunities to learn or better their playing skills, while the computer club allows students to become comfortable and familiar with the 18 computers in the lab.

Electronics members work on gasoline-powered remote control cars, and have plans to rebuild an old airplane. FFA gives members the chance to compete in many activities such as the county fair and soil judging contests. The group attends numerous functions, including the Farmers and Thrashers Jubilee.

FHA for future homemakers helps produce a Halloween party for the younger children of the community and later this year will help with the Special Olympics, visit nursing homes and aid abandoned children.

God Squad consists of Christians working with other Christians and has numerous guest speakers. They have as a goal reaching out to share experiences with other people.

The Logic Games Club encourages students to enjoy games that require predictio of opponents' moves, concis thinking and strategy. Nordiqu Club members have a plac they can express their creativ interests and exhibit thei writing talents in a biannua literary journal.

For those whose interest have not been addressed, th school also offers Basketba Club, Business Club, Cheerlea ing Club, Drill Team Marjorettes, and Pep Band Latch Hook Crafts, Letterme Model Railroad and Ski Club.

The G.C.T.A. Executive Board met on Thursday, Nov. 3, at Cindy Downton's home in Grantsville. The agenda included the appointment of a negotiating team, workshop schedule, an up-date on a current grievance, visits by candidates for the spring M.S.T.A. Board of Directors election, a meeting with state legislators, and the recruitment of minority teachers to Garrett County. The next Executive Board meeting will be held on Dec. 1, at Keith Harvey's home.

G.C.T.A. will sponsor the following workshops for members, in conjunction with the Allegany County Teachers Association; Nov. 19, Stress/Legal Rights; and Feb. 11, Taxes/Financial Planning. The workshops will be held at the Grantsville Holiday Inn, beginning with a continental breakfast at 8:30 a.m. They will conclude around 12:30 p.m. There will be a workshop on discipline in March or April.

The G.C.T.A. Governing Board will meet on Nov. 17, at 4:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College in McHenry. President Betty White is still awaiting a reply from members of the Garrett County Board of Education concerning their reasons for going into executive session to discuss their legislative program with Senator John Bambacus and Delegate George Edwards during the Oct. 14 board meeting. Boards of education may call executive sessions to discuss personnel matters, purchases or sale of property negotiations, and delicate legal matters. Legislative concerns which affect students, parents, teachers and other school employees are within the public domain.

M.S.T.A. News

At its annual convention held in Ocean City on Oct. 28-29, the M.S.T.A. Representative Assembly voted to concur with the N.E.A. recommendation to support Walter Mondale in the 1984 Democratic presidential primary elections. Seventy-three percent of the delegates voted to approve the support of Mondale. Karl Pence of St. Mary's County was elected to fill a vacancy on the M.S.T.A. Board of Directors. The M.S.T.A. Resolutions were revised and then adopted, as were the 1984 Legislative Program and the Comprehensive Affirmative Action Plan. The Rep. Assembly also adopted several by-law amendments. However, one proposed amendment was sent back to committee. That amendment would have reduced each local association's representation on the M.S.T.A. General Council by one vote by making the local president a full delegate instead of an ex-officio delegate. Had the amendment been adopted, G.C.T.A. would have lost half of its representation.

The featured speaker on Oct. 28 was Rep. Benjamin Cardin, Speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates. Cardin has been a firm supporter of maintaining the contract between the state and the state employees and teachers in regards to the retirement system. On Oct. 27, M.S.T.A. President Janice Piccinini addressed those in attendance at the annual Stewardship Dinner. She also presided over the distribution of M.S.T.A.'s annual School Bell Awards, which recognize newspaper, radio and television journalists who do outstanding reporting on education in the state of Maryland.

In her Stewardship Address, Ms. Piccinini stated: "In 1984 there will be no more important election issue than education. Ninety-five percent of N.E.A. members are registered voters and 90% of N.E.A. members consistently vote in elections—local elections, state elections, and national elections. And we, the teachers, know the difference between the politician who chooses to pay attention to public education and the politician who is willing to 'pay' for attention to be given to public education . . . By the end of this year, twenty-six reports on public education will have been published! And the problems continue to be 'studied.' We are fortunate in Maryland because our combined scores for seniors are above the national average. Recently, the Maryland state superintendent, with whom we have had much to disagree on in the past, countered the accusation made in A Nation at Risk by stating that 'there is no rising tide of Mediocrity in education in Maryland' and that 'we have not committed unilateral educational disarmament.' We agree and welcome the superintendent's support. We also thank Mr. Hornbeck for calling for a minimum of 25% salary increase for all teachers in Maryland as a primary issue which must be addressed if a crisis is to be avoided."

Piccinini continued: "The teacher shortage in Maryland is very real, and anticipated retirements will only exacerbate the problem. Mr. Hornbeck recognizes that bright, talented students will not be persuaded to enter this profession unless salaries are competitive with other professions. Last year the average scheduled salary for a first-year teacher in Maryland was $13,030, and the average scheduled salary for a 30-year teacher was $24,926—a mere $11,887 difference after a career devoted to educating children. No student will pursue a degree in education if the highest salary one can earn remains, in too many cases, below the entry level salary of other professions. Research, including the excellent study done for the Maryland State Department of Education, continues to support the absolute need for higher salaries for all teachers before any incentive program can be considered."

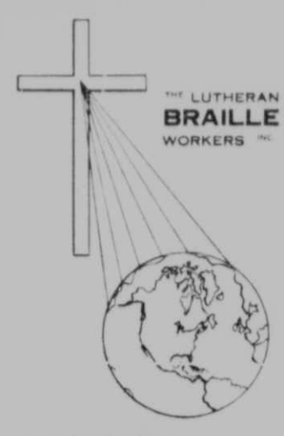
Lutheran Churches Band Together To Start Braille Work Center

An idea to help those less fortunate is taking form in the northern segment of the county as volunteers line up to help produce braille and large print books for the blind and sight impaired.

Members of the five Lutheran churches are working toward establishing a Lutheran Braille Workers, Inc. center in Zion Lutheran parish house. Already some 65 persons have volunteered to work at the center.

These Lutherans, all members of the Accident-Friendsville organization known as Inter-Lutheran Fellowship, are planning a fund-raising dinner, bake and craft sale November 19 at Northern High School's cafetorium from 5 to 7 p.m.



Cost for the turkey dinner will be $4.50 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

Through the dinner, and through other fund raisers as needed, the group hopes to raise at least $1,250 of the $2,500 required to establish a work center. The remainder has been promised through a fund grant from the Aid Association for Lutherans which has headquarters in Appleton, Wisc.

The idea of such a braille work center was first brought before the Inter-Lutheran group last spring, after Carl and Theresa Haenftling visited their daughter, Kathleen Thompson, in Tulsa, Okla. While there they visited the Tulsa braille work center and later broached the idea here.

The Inter-Lutheran group was supportive of the idea and the group sent for film strips and other information on how to go about setting up such a center. The Accident center would be the first Lutheran Braille Workers, Inc. center in this state, according to information received by Haenftling.

Each of the five Lutheran churches - Grace Lutheran, Friendsville; St. John's LCA, Cove; St. John's M.S., Cove; St. Paul's, Accident and Zion, Accident - has named a member to the steering committee. These include Carl Haenftling, chairman; Dr. Charles Springman, vice chairman; Kris DeWitt, secretary-treasurer, and Mary Strauss, assistant secretary-treasurer. Other committee members are Theresa Haenftling, Charles Strauss, Earl and Kathleen Wentz, and Bernadine Friend.

Once the funds are raised and the needed equipment and materials are received, work can begin for the volunteers. A knowledge of Braille is not necessary, stresses Haenftling, who said that ability to perform simple tasks is all that is needed.

The Lutheran Braille Workers reach out to blind and visually impaired persons in over 100 countries, including non-Christian countries, and provide the gospel free of charge. Books and tracts are distributed by pastors, missionaries and others to individuals at home, in schools, hospitals and nursing homes.

Presently there are 15,500 volunteers working at 171 centers across the country. The organization is totally funded by donations and does not receive government grants or financial support from any church budgets.

The Inter-Lutheran Fellowship members are hopeful that they can begin work at the Accident center this coming spring. Anyone desiring further information or to make a contribution to the organization may contact Carl Haenftling, 826-8336, or any of the three pastors, Rev. William Carlson, Rev. Fred Illick, or Rev. William Willson.

Healthier Huskies Rebound With 20-0 Win Over Meyersdale; Prepare For Rams

With most of their veteran players healthy once again, the Northern Huskies returned to the win column Saturday afternoon by shutting out Meyersdale 20-0 on the Pennsylvanians' field. It was the third win in nine starts for Coach Jack Settle's squad, which has been hampered since early in the season with a variety of injuries.

Senior tailback Greg Diehl powered the Husky offensive charge, rushing for 211 yards on 30 carries and scoring a pair of touchdowns. Diehl's performance brought him within just a few yards of a 1000-yard season.

Also turning in an impressive performance was sophomore quarterback Kevin Sines, who played his first complete game.

Sines completed six of 11 passes for 83 yards to complement the running of Diehl and fullback Bill Murray, who gained 60 yards on 11 attempts.

The Huskies' first six-pointer came with 41 seconds remaining in the first quarter when Diehl broke loose on a 51-yard run to the end zone. With place kicker Dave George sidelined with a knee injury, the kick for the point-after failed.

Diehl struck again at the 3:40 mark of the second period, this time from ten yards out. Sines' pass for the two-point conversion was incomplete, leaving the Huskies a 12-0 halftime advantage.

The Huskies' final score came in the third period when Sines crashed over from the one on a quarterback keeper and then passed to Murray for the two-pointer.

Meyersdale made one final attempt in the fourth quarter to get on the scoreboard, but stalled on the Huskies' 25, their deepest penetration of the game.

Murray and Steve Zumpano each finished with two pass receptions, good for 24 and 22 yards, respectively.

The Northern defense held Meyersdale to just 72 yards in rushing. Roy Miller and Jeff Graham each picked off two interceptions, with Graham recording his seventh and eighth of the season. Jim Swauger was credited with a fumble recovery.

Coach Settle was pleased with Diehl's performance, giving credit to his interior linemen for their blocking. They are George Walker, Bill Friend, Ron Stark, Howard Finzel, Jeff McClintock, Paul Everly, Bill Laird, Jeff Eggleston and Swauger. "These guys are really beginning to mature," he said.

He also noted the blocking of Murray from the fullback position. "Kevin Sines also really pleased us with his game," Settle said. "He has the potential to be very good."

Although the Huskies have no hopes this year for a playoff spot, they will no doubt attempt to play as if they do this Friday when they host cross-county rival Southern in the season finale for both schools.

Settle and Southern coach Tom Woods both arrived in Garrett County seven years ago and almost without exception, the Northern-Southern contests have been close aggressive games, regardless of the records of the respective teams.

Last season the roles were reversed as it was Northern who was playoff bound. The Rams nearly upset them, however, losing 12-10 after a late score by the Huskies. The previous year, when Southern was headed for post-season play, they narrowly edged the Huskies, 20-18.

Settle had nothing but praise this week for Coach Woods and the Southern program.

"We have seen Southern four times this year and they have steadily improved with every game," Settle said. "They have the best balanced offense that I have ever seen at Southern and their defense is as strong, and probably quicker, than previous Southern defenses that have gone to the playoffs.

"In previous years, Southern has been a team which grinds out the yardage, often lacking the big play threat," he continued. "But this year, with their excellent execution of the option and J.R. Gibson's passing ability, they can strike quickly. We have to try to figure out some way to shut that down, and then move the ball ourselves on offense."

Southern is led offensively by Gibson and Dave Terrant, the area's leading rusher and scorer. "Dave Terrant is the most improved back in the area," Settle said. "Before this season, his biggest weapon was his speed. But now, he also runs over people."

Settle also noted the quality of the Southern wide-out personnel, Jim Freeman, Steve Bennett, Dave McLaughlin and Jeff Beeman. "They are not only good receivers," he said, "but they provide outstanding blocking on the option."

He said that Gibson is "maturing, showing a lot of poise and really beginning to get comfortable back there."

Scott Germain, John Thayer, Danny Clark, Chris Foley, Mark Younkin, Scott O'Neill, Scott Colaw and Anthony Andrews were among the linemen which Settle said "make things happen" down in the trenches.

In commenting about Woods and his staff, Settle said, "Tom has done a masterful job at Southern. There are always a few coaches in the area that you keep an eye on because you admire them and you know that you can always learn something new from them. Tom is one of them. I think we have a very mutual feeling of respect and admiration for one another."

Settle said his team is "ready for the challenge and anxious to play." Dave George is the only starter listed as questionable.

"We will have our kids prepared as well as possible," he said. "It's nice to know that no matter what the outcome, Garrett County will be represented in the state playoffs, and that makes us proud. I know what a good feeling it is to be headed down state, and we're happy for this opportunity for Southern."

Kickoff this Friday at Northern is set for 7:30 p.m.

The team returns six sophomores from last year's 13-13 season and adds eight freshmen hoping for strong contention in JUCO tournaments.

The blue/white scrimmage will be conducted under game conditions. The blue squad will be coached by Laker Head Coach Tom Bosley while the white squad will be coached by Dennis Gibson, the team's assistant coach.

Admission is free.

Al Bumbry To Attend Annual Pen-Mar Event

Centerfielder Al Bumbry of the World Champion Baltimore Orioles has been announced as one of the featured speakers for the Pen-Mar Baseball League's 35th annual awards dinner on Sunday, November 20, at Clarysville Inn.

Bumbry joined the Orioles in 1973 and was selected as American League Rookie of the Year. With 11 years and 31 days, he is second only to pitcher Jim Palmer in years of service with the Orioles.

He is the Orioles' all-time stolen base leader with 243 and is tied with Paul Blair for second on the list in triples with 51.

Bumbry enjoyed his best season in 1980 when he was selected "Most Valuable Oriole," batting .318 and becoming the first Baltimore player ever to amass 200 hits in a season (205) while also setting career highs with 44 steals and 118 runs scored.

He played in the All-Star game and was named to the A.L. All-Star team by The Sporting News at the end of the season.

Having fully recovered from the leg problems that plagued him in 1982, Bumbry split the centerfield duties in 1983 with John Shelby, starting against righthanded pitchers.

He tied for the club lead in triples with four, was second in stolen bases, 12, and tied for third in runs scored with 63.

He hit .270 in 58 games before the All-Star break and .280 in 66 contests thereafter, finishing with a .275 average (104-378). He was particularly effective at Memorial Stadium, collecting 60 hits in 190 at-bats for a .316 mark.

His longest hitting streak was eight games—from August 23-30 when he batted .333—and he hit .366 in his last 14 contests beginning September 16.

Bumbry connected for a double and RBI in both the American League Championship Series, in which the Orioles defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3 games to 1, and the World Series victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in five games.

A native of Fredericksburg, Va., the 36-year-old Bumbry now makes his home in Lutherville, Baltimore County.

He was graduated in 1968 from Virginia State College, Petersburg, where he attended on a basketball scholarship and did not play baseball until his senior year.

He was called to active duty as a second lieutenant in the Army in June, 1969, just two months after starting his professional baseball career. He served 11 months in Vietnam as a platoon leader and earned the Bronze Star.

Bumbry is very active in community affairs and in 1981 finished second in the voting for the Roberto Clemente Award.

Mt. Lake Park Men Compete In Marine Marathon

Two Mt. Lake Park men were among the 11,000 runners from all 50 states and 40 different nations who competed in the eighth annual U.S. Marine Corps Marathon in Washington, D.C., on Sunday.

Dr. William W. Pope, 46, and Donald W. Sincell, 31, both finished the 26.25-mile course which begins and ends at the Iwo Jima Monument in Arlington, Va., and winds through the streets and around the monuments of Washington. It is the second largest marathon in the United States.

Pope, who was articipating in his 16th marathon, finished the course in three hours, eight minutes and 34 seconds, placing number 1,260. His time qualified him to compete in the 1984 Boston Marathon, as he needed a three-hour, ten-minute finish or better for his age group.

Sincell finished about 2200th in the event with a time of three hours, 22 minutes, 20 seconds. It was his second marathon, however in his first attempt last year, also in the Marine Marathon, he was forced to withdraw from the race after completing 22 miles because of a knee injury.

Farley Simon, a 28-year-old Marine, who ironically is a native of Grenada, won the event with a time of 2:17:45.

Tourney-Bound Lakers Pick Up 20th Victory

The Garrett Community College volleyball squad put the finishing touch on its regular season by defeating Wilson College and College of Notre Dame in a road trip to Chambersburg, Pa., this past week.

These victories brought the Laker win total to 20 for the season with seven defeats. This is the second time in the past three seasons that the Lakers have recorded 20 season victories.

In 1981, Garrett's record was 20-6. Last season's squad finished at 16-11.

The Lakers won handily over Wilson College by scores of 15-4 and 15-5. Sue Harper paced the hitting attack with nine spike points as Lani Dailey and Christy Fratz scored four each from the serve spot.

The victory in the nightcap did not come so easily as the Lakers faced a tenacious Notre Dame squad. In the first game Garrett built a 13-6 lead, then had to hold on to win it 15-10.

In game two, after each team had rotated a complete cycle, the score was tied at 7-7. Garrett fought to a 12-11 advantage only to see Notre Dame tie the score again at 13-all. At that point the Laker offense reorganized and Sue Harper spiked a Mary Dougherty set for the side out. Christy Fratz rotated to serve for the Lakers and the game, as well as the match, was won 15-13.

Harper hit for nine points and Fratz served five serve aces. Kathy Baker added four serve points. Sue Snyder recorded six digs and Dougherty added five to steady the defense.

"I can't honestly say that I expected 20 wins this season," stated Coach Mike Friend. "I am very proud of these young women. They've worked very hard, have excellent competitive attitudes and simply don't quit. Our main concern now is the Region XX Tournament. If we can get our people healthy, I believe we can be very competitive, even with two nationally ranked teams in our division."

The Lakers will travel to Baltimore this week for the Region XX Tournament. Charles Community College, ranked eighth in the nation, and Catonsville Community College, ranked 10th nationally, are favored to win. The defending champion, Dundalk Community College, will also compete.

The club will hold election of officers for 1984 on November 16 at Garrett Community College, Room MC 350, at 7:30 p.m.

SETTING A RECORD for single game yardage at Southern High School Friday evening was No. 22 Dave Terrant, who gained 264 yards on 38 carries to lead the Rams to a 42-0 whitewashing of visiting Beall. Terrant also scored four touchdowns as the Rams earned their eighth win of the season against a single loss, the HFC championship, and the Region I Class C title. Southern will travel to Northern Friday for its last regular season game.

State-Bound

Terrant Sets School Record As Rams Blast Beall, Clinch HFC, Region Titles

Dave Terrant, the area's leading rusher and scorer, shattered a Southern High School record Friday evening in leading the Rams to a 42-0 thrashing of visiting Beall. Not only did the win clinch a state playoff berth for the 8-1 Rams in Class C, Region I, but it also gave them their fourth Highland Football Conference championship in seven years.

With the aid of some outstanding blocking by his teammates, Terrant ripped through the Beall defense for 264 yards on 38 carries and scored four touchdowns plus a two-point conversion. His total broke the school's single game rushing record set a few years ago by Paul Cornish who gained 260 yards on 40 carries, ironically also against the Beall Mountaineers.

Meanwhile, the Ram defensive unit recorded its third shutout in a row, limiting Beall to just 46 yards on the ground. Dave McCauley, another of the area's leading rushers, was held to 25 yards rushing, as he experienced the same frustrations against the Southern defense as did Harry Wilhelm of Bruce, Sean Hill of Keyser, and Greg Metheny of Central Preston.

The Rams scored in all four periods on the snow-covered field beginning with a 12-yard touchdown dash by Terrant capping a 59-yard drive in the first quarter. The conversion attempt failed.

Beall's ensuing drive was halted by a fumble which was recovered by Southern's Troy Lundquist on the Mountaineers' 38. Seven plays later Terrant crashed into the endzone from the five, followed by a two-point conversion run by quarterback J. R. Gibson.

Southern's huge defensive tackle, Scott Germain, pounced on another Beall fumble midway through the second quarter and once again the Rams capitalized with a drive and three-yard scoring run by Terrant.

Early in the third quarter it was Allan Sharpless' turn to fall on a Beall fumble, this time on the Mountaineers' 43. Once again Terrant and company rambled downfield with the ball and Gibson raced around left end from the 12 for Southern's fourth touchdown.

Late in the third quarter, Lundquist picked off a Beall aerial and returned it to the visitors' 36. A few plays later, Southern fullback Tim Tharp, who had been opening huge holes all evening, carried the ball right through the middle of the Beall line for 14 yards and Southern's fifth six-pointer. Terrant added the two-point conversion run.

The final score occurred in the fourth period following another Ram interception at the Beall 41. Terrant dove two yards for the touchdown and Gibson crashed through for the two-point conversion.

The Rams' total offense of 401 yards was a season high. The loss for the Mountaineers was their sixth in a row after two opening victories.

Pacing Southern's defensive charge were Terrant, Lundquist, Germain, Danny Clark, Dave McLaughlin, and Jeff Beeman.

"Once again we were a little surprised with the outcome," Southern head coach Tom Woods stated. "We were able to go out and play very well early in the game again, which is always a real plus."

Woods was obviously more than pleased with Dave Terrant's performance. "A lot of credit for Dave's outstanding night has to go to Tim Tharp for his blocking and to J.R. Gibson for running the option so effectively," Woods said. He also noted the blocking efforts of his wide-out people, Dave McLaughlin, Jim Freeman, and Steve Bennett. "These guys have given just super performances all year as blockers," he said, "which is not an easy assignment for receivers. Most receivers would much rather have the ball thrown to them."

Woods said that he and his staff are a little concerned about the Rams' sputtering passing game. "We have some work to do in that area," he said. "Our receivers have been getting open, but we're just not hitting them. If someone shuts down our running game right now, we will be in trouble."

The Ram defense will be faced with another premier back this Friday in Northern's Greg Diehl and the offensive unit will come in contact with a revived, healthier Husky defense when Southern travels cross-county to meet Northern in the regular season finale for both schools.

"This is the most important game on our schedule," Woods said, "and I believe it will be our toughest game since Musselman (Southern's only loss).

"Early in the season, Northern was as good as anyone around, but their numerous injuries really hurt them. Now their team is intact again and we're anticipating a real challenge."

Woods said it has been easy getting his team ready for Northern. "They have been looking forward to this one game all year," he said. "And I'm sure Jack (Settle) is having no problem getting his kids ready to go. We were in their shoes last year, because it was Northern going to the playoffs and we were having an average season. We almost upset them, but they scored late in the game to win 14-10. The previous year, we had the better team, and they came within two points of upsetting us. Even though it's an old cliche, you have to ignore the records of each team in this game."

Woods said he rates Settle as "one of the top two or three coaches in the area."

"Jack has his teams very well prepared every single Friday night. He does an excellent job of scouting and always throws something a little different or unusual at you. I have great respect for him and his staff."

The Huskies improved their record to 3-6 this past Saturday by shutting out Meyersdale, 20-0, as Greg Diehl rolled up 211 yards on 30 carries.

Woods rates Diehl, a 5-11, 175-pound senior, along with Wilhelm of Bruce and McCauley of Beall.

Northern is also led by Jim Swauger, a 6-0, 228-pound senior defensive tackle; Bill Friend, 6-2, 195-pound junior who Woods says is "one of the finest offensive and defensive linemen we've seen this year;" Jeff Graham, 5-10, 165-pound senior slot and linebacker; and Jeff Eggleston, 5-10, 170-pound linebacker and tight end. "We were also very impressed with the performance of Kevin Sines (5-10, 170-pound sophomore) at quarterback against Meyersdale," Woods said, "and Dave George is undoubtedly the best kicker in the area and one of the better linebackers."

George is listed as questionable for this week as he has been sidelined with a knee injury.

"Even though we know we are going to the playoffs, we certainly don't want to go with a loss at the end of our regular season," Woods said. "We're really excited and ready to play."

Kickoff at Northern is set for 7:30 p.m.

ENERGY TIP: Electrical outlets and switches on outside walls are often sources of strong, cold drafts. Precut, flame retardant seals and liners can be purchased to reduce these drafts.

TWELVE WAYS TO ENRICH YOUR LIFE

With all the pressures in today's world, one must look at the positive, in order to be happy. These tips will help put you on the road to a richer life.

1. Keep life simple. Be responsive to the simple things. Don't get into the habit of requiring the unusual for your pleasure.

2. Avoid worry about your health. Tell yourself you're healthy. If you have any doubts, go to the doctor. If your fear turns out to be groundless, forget it.

3. Learn to like work. If you feel pleased at producing something of value to society, you will be generating pleasant emotions for yourself.

4. Have a good hobby, without a hobby, spare time becomes boring and you are more apt to focus upon your troubles.

5. Learn to be satisfied. Living in chronic dissatisfaction is useless and unnecessary. Trouble is where you make it.

6. Like people. The greatest pleasure comes from giving pleasure to the person who works with us, to the next-door neighbor, to your family.

7. Get into the habit of saying cheerful, pleasant things—dash off a series of pleasant remarks, or tell a good funny story.

8. Meet adversity head-on. When you can't change something, accept it; then keep living the best possible way.

9. Don't be afraid to make decisions. Decide what you're going to do about a problem, then quit thinking about it.

10. Make the present moment a success. Be effective in your work, your thinking, your helffulness to others. You will find that the future will turn out to be as good as the present if you handle the present correctly.

11. Always be planning something. To have the expectation of a new experience coming up is a lift to the present moment.

12. Say "nuts" to irritations. With a little practice, you will soon be able to say "nuts" very agreeably and pleasantly to most of the irritations that come along.

FOOD NOTES

Why wait for the holidays to enjoy a cranberry treat? This is the peak month for cranberries. Fresh cranberries should be firm and plump, with a high luster. They should be stored, unwashed and uncovered in the refrigerator until ready for use, as moisture hastens spoilage. They are high in vitamin C. Try this cranberry recipe:

CRANBERRY UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

Mix batter for:
1 package white or yellow cake mix

Stir together:
2 cups raw cranberries
½ cup sugar
¼ cup lemon juice

Pour cranberry sauce mixture on bottom of 9"x13"x2" buttered baking dish.

Pour cake batter over this. Bake at 375° F. for 40 to 50 minutes. Leave cake in pan for 30 minutes before removing to plate. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

A "Tole Painting" workshop will be held at the Oakland Extension Office on November 21 from 12 noon to 3 p.m. The cost will be approximately $3.00—this charge is for supplies. The class will be taught by Irmgard Koscielniak, Extension Home Economist in Allegany County. Interested persons are asked to register by November 16 by calling 334-2145. Everyone is invited to attend.

Southern Speaks

by Criss Kepple

Southern High School will be staging a program on E.S.P. November 14, third period. An Antrim Bureau production, this program will attempt to give students an understanding of E.S.P. Gene Featherstone will try to read sealed messages, perceive without seeing, and control the minds and thoughts of others. Tickets will be on sale in students third period class at a cost of 50 cents per person.

November 10 report cards will be sent home with students. Southern will be hosting an open house to give parents the opportunity to meet with their son's/daughter's teacher that evening from 6 to 8 p.m. The following ushers will be at the open house representing the National Honor Society: John Paul Marple, Sandy Bernard, Verne Leininger, Maree Stemple, Charel Ison and Chris Bently.

A new P.A. system has been installed in the school building, although it is not operable in all areas of the building. When the system is finished it will be able to play taped music through out the school, provide office-to-room communication, and an emergency call system can be utilized.

The final gifts are being distributed to ninth graders for their participation in the magazine campaign. Special gifts were presented to Sandy Bernard and Tracy Imhoff for their help in the financial and organizational aspects of the program.

Ruhls Studios will be in the cafeteria from 12:15 until 1:15 November 9 to take orders from students who had their pictures retaken.

The Cumberland Jaycees sponsored a dance Friday at Southern after the home game until 11:30. The cost of the admission was $2. Half of the money went to the Jaycees and half to the class to which each student belonged. A D.J. from WXIE radio station provided the music.

The United States Army Medical Team will visit Southern November 15. They will demonstrate some of their equipment and inform students of the opportunities in this area of the armed forces. November 14 through 18 the Guidance department will be talking with tenth graders about curriculum and job opportunities.

A Pep Assembly will be staged at 2:15 November 10. Cheerleaders, the band, and the coaches will help get players and fans ready for the Southern Northern game. That game will be held November 11 at 7:30 on Northern's field.

The girls volleyball team missed competing in the district playoffs by two tenths of a point. The girls end their season with a record of 13-16.

November 11 will be an in-service day for teachers; therefore there will be no school for students on Friday.

Police Barricade Third St. Bridge

Oakland Police were called to barricade the wooden bridge on Third Street over the Chessie System Railway November 6 until Chessie workmen can determine if the structure has been damaged.

According to a report filed by Oakland Sgt. Roger Lewis, a passing train struck underneath of the bridge about 10:45 p.m. Sunday, and the Chessie crew asked that the bridge be closed until it can be determined when it is safe for traffic again.

Oakland Police were called to investigate a fender-bender November 5 at 1:30 p.m. at the Oakland Coin Laundry. According to Officer Ron Beeghly's report, a car operated by Katherine Walters, Mt. Lake Park, was backing from a parking spot and struck a vehicle owned by Dorothy Wolfe, Route 1, Eglon, W. Va. Officer Beeghly filed no charges in the mishap.

Police Report Traffic Mishaps

Maryland State Police investigated several area traffic accidents during the past week, one of which was alcohol related.

On Thursday, a Chevy Impala driven by Brian H. Schofield, Bittinger, was northbound on Rt. 495 near Bittinger. As he was attempting to make a left turn into a private drive, his vehicle was struck by a Toyota being driven by Timothy Lynn Bender, of Meyersdale, Pa.

According to Bender and a witness, Schofield had his right signal on and Bender tried to pass on the left side.

Neither Bender, nor his three passengers, Thomas Bender, 18, of Grantsville, Larry Yoder, 17, of Meyersdale, Pa. and Debbie Yoder, 16 Grantsville, was injured, however Schofield was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad where he was treated and released.

Tfc. Gary Resh was the investigating officer.

Earlier that evening, a vehicle being driven by Donald Ray Park, 23, of Swanton, was eastbound on Rt. 135 when he ran off the roadway and struck a mailbox owned by Cora Clatterbuck and a fence owned by Bill Fitzwater. According to police reports, the incident was allegedly alcohol related.

Special EMS Meeting

Members of Emergency Medical Services and fire departments throughout Preston County, as well as members from Tucker County EMS, met October 30 at the Aurora School ball field to watch as Ed Hanna from the Maryland State Police landed a Medivac Basic Life Support Bell Jet Ranger II at 1:37 p.m. Ed Hanna and Greg May, a medic for the Maryland State Police, were there to explain how Medivac operates.

To land, the helicopter needs an area of 100 feet square, minimum two and one-half highway lanes, if possible. All obstructions such as electrical wires should be marked by parking emergency vehicles under them where possible. The landing area should be upwind to the accident scene for easier take off.

Hanna, pilot of the helicopter, explained that the standard helicopter used is the Bell Jet Ranger II, and their approximate cost is $400,000. It can travel at 120 mph; response time to Aurora from Cumberland is approximately 20 minutes. Operating costs are about $110 per hour and the helicopter uses 25-30 gallons of fuel per hour. This service is funded by the taxpayers of Maryland and is free to West Virginians living within 30 nautical miles of the Maryland state line.

Ranger II is able to pick up patients with amputations, burns, trauma victims, or the seriously ill, not only in West Virginia and Maryland, but also within other states bordering on Maryland and within the 30-mile limit. Any individual can contact Medivac through the Maryland State Police, Garrett County Central Alarm, the Emergency Medical Services, or Civil Defense if the need arises.

A video presentation entitled "Maryland: A Systems Approach to Emergency Medical Services" was shown in the school auditorium before the Ranger II lifted off at 4:02 for a return trip to Cumberland.

Homemakers Learn To Stay Young

Work days to make items for the Christmas Festival are set for November 15 and 22 with a covered dish lunch following the morning's work. Ideas, materials to create them or work on others should be brought to the workshop.

It was decided that there would be no participation in the quilt square competition nor for the pennant. Donations were asked for Christmas treat for the Eglon Child Care Center. Dolls will be dressed and stockings filled for the Salvation Army Christmas store.

Lorraine Fike introduced the study theme, "Staying Young in Spite of Your Years," and a skit was enacted by Jean Winters and Linda Lewis. Mrs. Fike presented items which can keep one from aging. Mary Remboid then demonstrated care of the skin with cleanser, masque, and moisturizer using her mother, Avenell Parsons, as her model.

The president, Marguerite Shaffer, had photos showing the tires which were set afire in Winchester and featured on the news and also the Dominion Post featuring Patti Silcott, Monongalia County Home Demonstration Agent, with her hat collection. Mrs. Silcott is a former agent for Preston County.

A dolly cover for air freshener, a macrame purse, and a ceramic vase were shown by hostess Nina Layman as she served refreshments.

Armed Fugitive

wallet containing $46 in cash belonging to Lowell Yoder and a silver necklace belonging to Charles Locke, also taking toiletries and food products. The same day he allegedly entered a trailer owned by Maynard Ralph Snyder, Dunbar, Pa., located across from the Information Booth on Route 219. after reportedly taking a variety of items valued at $60, he allegedly spent the night there, observing police vehicles throughout the night.

He then proceded south, allegedly breaking into the home of Philip S. Zilka, Monessen, Pa., and taking beer and whiskey. Sometime during that day, a report was made of an individual discharging a firearm in that area. Amerson reportedly admitted to firing both his handguns at random into the woods during that time period.

During the afternoon hours of November 3, he allegedly broke into the home of Donald J. Mitchell, Oakland, and stole an assortment of jewelry valued in excess of $1,470, a silver coin collection with a face value of $450, and food and grocery items, total loss in excess of $2,000.

Mitchell arrived home soon afterwards and observed a man carrying a suitcase and flagged down a police officer.

Amerson, who was carrying a loaded handgun in each pocket, made no attempt to resist as he was apprehended and was lodged in the Garrett County jail on $41,000 bond.

He is wanted in Indiana on warrants for auto theft and on an extraditable warrant on violation of probation.

Authorities are continuing to investigate, retracing the time from his release on October 7, from the West View Correctional Institute, West View, Ind., where he had served time on convictions of child molesting until his arrival in Garrett County.

Law enforcement agencies involved in the search for Amerson included the Maryland State Police, McHenry and LaVale detachments, the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, the Allegany County K-9 Unit, Department of Natural Resources personnel and local park and forest service personnel.

Court Upholds

had been shot seven times and was dead. His K-9 dog was also dead, having been stabbed to death with a sword.

Tichnell and Recek were arrested on the morning of the crime in West Virginia. They were driving a vehicle which Tichnell had commandeered after wrecking the Deputy's cruiser in the course of their flight from the crime scene.

Garrett County State's Attorney Jim Sherbin said that all the agencies and the witnesses "cooperated fully" and were to be complimented for their patience and assistance. "Whenever you have a trial which takes people away from their families and takes them to the other end of the State and whenever you have police agencies who have to do indepth testing such as was done in this case you appreciate the cooperation and duty that not only the police agencies do but that the individual citizens put forth in assisting," he said.

"Deputy Livengood did his duty by answering the call and attempting to apprehend two dangerous felons," Sherbin continued. "The Circuit Courts in Wicomico County and Calvert County and the respective jurors and Judges in those Counties did their duty. And now the Court of Appeals, after reviewing this particular case for the third time, has affirmed their decisions and has found that the death penalty in this particular case was neither excessive nor disproportionate and should be carried out.

"The responsibility now rests with the Governor of the State and I am hopeful that he too will do his duty."

Sherbin concluded by saying, "David Livengood was murdered under the most horrible circumstances. Although he was a policeman doing his job, which is important, he was also a son, father and a husband, and when any person decides they will kill another person in such a horrible fashion they have forfeited their right to live."

Snowfall Amounts To Three Inches

Three inches of snow fell Saturday in the county, covering the ground and forests until a slight warming trend melted the flakes. Traces of snow remained until Tuesday morning, according to Weber's weather station near Oakland.

High temperature for the past week was experienced last Wednesday with 68 degrees. The week's low was 21 degrees noted Monday night.

There was .56 of an inch of rain last Thursday, which brought a high of 55 degrees after an overnight low of 31. Low Thursday night was 28 degrees, and there was an additional .05 of an inch of precipitation, including a trace of snow. High Friday was a chilly 37 degrees.

There was an overnight drop to 29 degrees Friday night, and snow fell almost continuously on Saturday, which brought a high of only 35 degrees.

Overnight low Saturday was 32 degrees and there was an additional .04 of an inch of precipitation. Sunday's high was 41 degrees. Overnight low Sunday was 30.

High Monday was 49 and only traces of snow remained until Tuesday. Tuesday had a balmy high of 64 degrees after the week's low reading of 21, and the overnight low last night was 23 degrees.

Bottles Shatter Three Windows

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department, assisted by Maryland State Police, are investigating three bottle-throwing incidents which caused property damages at various businesses November 3.

Chief Deputy Van Evans was called when Revco's manager at Midtown Plaza reported that someone had thrown a beer bottle through a large front window of the establishment.

Deputy David Crossland was then called to Route 135 Amoco where a full beer bottle had been used to shatter the front window. Estimated loss there was $200.

The third call was received by Deputy David Kutchman, who responded to Walt's General Store, McHenry, following the report. A large window was shattered there also, and Deputy Kutchman requested the assistance of the Maryland State Police K-9 unit to search the premises in case the intruders were still inside. No one was found, and nothing appeared to be missing from any of the stores.

Officials Halt

In order to correct the problem, Duffey has suggested jacking up the bridge by placing beams running crosswise under the bridge on both ends which could raise the bridge between 12 and 16 inches depending on the size of the beams. Duffey has been negotiating with the contractor for the past two weeks to settle the method of raising the bridge and the cost for the change in the project.

Estimates for the cost for the change are between $10,000 to $30,000, officials have said. The project, originally contracted for $284,101, is currently funded through a state and federal bridge program which requires 20 percent be funded by the county.

Who will pick up the tab for the additional cost is unclear as yet, local officials said. They hope the federal and state funds can be increased to cover the cost, but note the county may have to bear the cost alone.

The County commissioners indicated Tuesday they did not believe the problem can be blamed on anyone. The specifications and bid for the bridge were approved by county, state and federal agencies. Engineers met the requirements to design the bridge with the bottom of the lowest beam on the new structure to be the same distance from the water as the old bridge.

"We are thankful," Commissioner Elwood Groves said, "we found out about the problem in time to make the correction."

Ken Metheny stated that if the weather clears up the project may resume. Officials are hoping the negotiations will be completed within this week.

Services were conducted Saturday at St. Paul's United Methodist Church by the Rev. Allen Ridenour. Interment followed in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

The family requests expressions of sympathy be made in the form of donations to the House of Hope.

Commissioners

The commissioners, who noted the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene also conducts evaluations of all health officers, said they will evaluate Pope as they do other county department heads.

Evaluation of county department heads began at the beginning of 1983 when the commissioners sat down with each person and went over goals and objectives for each department. At the end of this year, the commissioners will again meet with department heads to determine how well they have met those goals and objectives.

Because they did not meet with Pope when they met with the others, the commissioners noted they will meet again with Pope in the next few weeks to look closely at the health department's operation.

In other business, the commissioners met with state's attorney Jim Sherbin to discuss enforcement of the county's law requiring all owners of coin-operated amusement machines to acquire an amusement license.

The commissioners said estimates are that 50 percent of people with the machines comply with the county law.

The commissioners received confirmation from Sherbin that persons from his office will begin immediate inspections of businesses in the county for compliance and will issue citations to law violators. Sherbin noted he has had problems with his department's vehicles which limited his staff's ability to travel around the county and his staff has been under a severe workload in past months.

DEDICATED AREAS

Did you ever go walking or play golf or tennis in a public park and wonder how the city ever acquired the park? If you look around, you might find a plaque or sign that says the park was given to the city by some individual. This is called, in real estate terms, a dedication.

A person may dedicate a portion of his land for various public purposes if he wants to. For example, he might allow a portion of his property for use as a road. When he dedicates this land—this is called a "common law dedication"—the road may be nothing but a wide dirt and gravel path. The city may then accept it, pave it, and use it as a regular public street. In this instance, the person would actually own the land (the road), but the city would get an easement on the property for use as a street.

On the other hand, the builder of a subdivision might allocate a part of the tract as a public park. In this instance, it may be to his advantage to give the park to the city complete with a deed. One of the obvious reasons for doing this would be to eliminate the paying of taxes by the subdivider.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

Energy Tips

by Patricia Driscoll Easterday
Extension Agent for Community Resource Development for Allegany and Garrett Counties

According to the Department of Energy, the water heater is the second greatest energy user in the average home. It has also been said that at least one out of every three dollars now spent on water heating is wasted. This waste is due to built-in-inefficiencies.

Fortunately, there is a respite from hot water heating bills. Water heating is a nearly ideal application of solar technology and many people have taken advantage of this application.

A very popular type of solar hot water heating system is the bread box or batch water heater. The batch system is one of the easiest, simplest, cheapest and most fool-proof way to preheat water for domestic use. The system is simply a water heater tank that has been stripped of its insulation, painted black and put inside of an insulated, glazed box.

The tank is plumbed in series with the home's existing hot water heater. No circulation between the tanks need to be provided. As the user draws water out of the regular water heater it is replaced by preheated water from the batch heater. The regular water heater heats up the remainer of the water as needed, ensuring a continuous supply of hot water to the home regardless of weather conditions.

Usually a batch water heater has a set of valves on the system. These enable the easy repair of the system; the two normally open valves can be closed and the normally closed one can be opened, and the household can run on its regular heater alone.

As hot water is drawn from the tap, the cold incoming water that would normally enter the home's regular water heater now goes into the batch heater. It is very desirable to have the cold water inlet to the batch heater enter near the bottom of the tank so it doesn't mix with the warmer water above it. The warmer solar heated water is less dense than the cold entering water, so it floats on top without much mixing. This layering is very desirable.

The batch heater tank's size, shape and positioning within the enclosure determines how well it does its job. A rule of thumb for sizing the heater is that the tank should hold from one to two and a quarter gallons of water for every square foot of glazing on the batch heater enclosure. This insures that the tank is large enough to provide a reasonable amount of hot water, but not so large that it requires many hours of solar heating before reaching the desired temperature of 110° - 120°F. Regardless if gallonage, long narrow tanks are best because they have a large surface area relative to their volume and so get the sun's heat into the water where it belongs.

A batch heater should have two layers of glazing over its enclosure to minimize heat loss at night. The walls of the enclosure should also be insulated, and it is a good idea to have moveable insulation that can be opened in the morning and closed at night, during periods of cool weather.

One final problem that may affect batch heaters in cool areas is freezing. Because water expands as if freezes, burst pipes and tanks are a very real danger. Two ways to overcome this problem are to either mount the batch heater in a sheltered space; or to drain the tank in the early winter and let it stand idle during the coldest months.

For more information about solar batch water heating systems, contact the Cooperative Extension Service at 11 Prospect Square, Cumberland, (301) 724-3320; or at 202 South Third Street, Oakland, 21550, telephone 301-334-2145; or at Grantsville at telephone: 301-895-3124 on Mondays and Fridays.

Drama on and off the set of 'The Citadel'

By Elaina Thompson

Ben Cross

In this business you look for great drama that you can recommend. That's why "The Citadel," a 10-part miniseries premiering Nov. 20 on PBS, based on the novel by A.J. Cronin, is a masterpiece I wouldn't miss a minute of.

While the series might be an irritant to some branches of the medical fraternity and perhaps a little long, it remains faithful to the ideas set forth by Cronin.

Ben Cross, the star of the Oscar-winning "Chariots of Fire," portrays Dr. Andrew Manson, an idealist who sets up a practice in a poor Welsh mining community. He marries the right woman, Christine (played by Clare Higgins) but doesn't know it and flirts with fame, trying to find himself.

In "The Citadel," Dr. Philip Denny (played by Gareth Thomas) starts out as an out-of-focus, alcoholic physician, the buddy of Dr. Manson, who evolves towards stability and responsibility as the years go by.

Off camera, Gareth and his wife, Sheila, also in show business, have a happy marriage. With any marriage lasting these days being good news, it's nice to see a romance that's thriving.

Mrs. Thomas confided that it was good-natured camaraderie that has kept them together since they met 14 years ago. She got so fed up teaching drama to students who were testing their tastes "too young, too early for all of them to be motivated," that she learned the makeup business and applied to BBC and was hired.

"I was an assistant, then," Mrs. Thomas recalls. "It was a costume drama. Everybody had to have hair pin-curled before I could put on the wigs. Most of the men insisted on being un-pin-curled before going off to lunch at the pub.

"Swashbuckling Gareth didn't. I remembered that. Four years later, we worked on 'How Green Was My Valley' in Wales. Next to the valley where I was born. He's Welch, too. That was it."

Romance. Ahhh.

Alcohol, Cigarette Tax Revenues Up

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported that alcohol and tobacco tax receipts for September, 1983, totalled $8,074,464, a 2.8% decline despite increased revenues from distilled spirits, wine and beer sales. "Distilled spirits tax collections of $1,372,915 exceeded the corresponding month of last year by 18.7%. Wine receipts of $287,329 increased 10.7% and beer tax revenues amounted to $981,191, up 8.6% above September, 1982," Goldstein said.

Cigarette tax collections for September, 1983 totalled $5,431,485, reflecting a decline of 9%. "We continue to see declines in cegarette tax revenues, apparently as a result of high prices due to the federal tax increase and manufacturers' price increases," Goldstein said.

The first quarter of Fiscal Year 1984 produced $18,030,886 in alcohol and tobacco tax revenues, a drop of 7.7% from the same period of Fiscal Year 1983. Beer tax collections of $1,945,248 exceeded the first quarter of Fiscal Year 1983 by 6.6%. Distilled spirits tax receipts for the period totalled $2,441,024, reflecting a slight decline of 1%. Wine tax receipts amounted to $553,945, down 1.9% below the same period last year. Cigarette tax collections totaled $12,991,379, an 11.2% decline from the first quarter of Fiscal Year 1983.

nutrition NEWS

The Nutrition Committee of the American Heart Association has prepared a series of articles providing information and recipes for healthier diets. Another of those articles, supplied by Wendy Norris, dietician for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital and a member of the commmitte, is as follows:

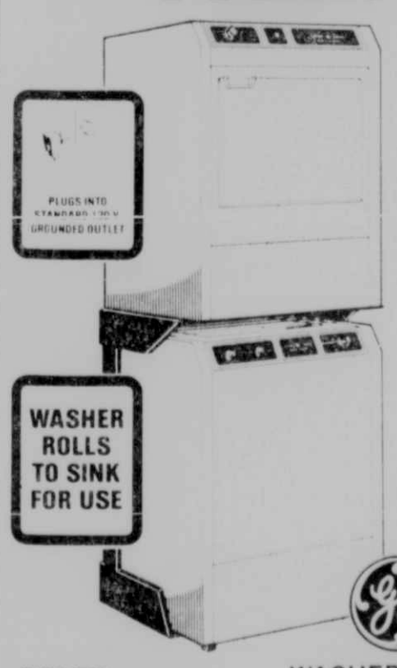
When you think about Thanksgiving, turkey automatically comes to mind. Unfortunately by the end of the holiday season, it is the last meat that you want to eat for awhile. We would like to suggest alternate ways to prepare your turkey and also to use up the left-overs, since it is a low fat "heart healthy meat."

Turkey does not have to be roasted anymore. You might want to seek guidance about alternate cooking methods; such as grilling or microwaving, by calling the toll-free Butterball Turkey Talk Line 1-800-323-4848. Forty trained home economics will be available November 7 to December 24 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.; or during the two week-ends prior to Thanksviging day, November 11-12 and 18-19 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Everyone always wonders what size turkey to buy at Thanksgiving. To estimate what size bird to buy; figure a one pound per serving of turkey weighing up to 12 pounds; for larger birds ¾ pound per serving. If you want to be sure to have meat left-over for salads, sandwiches and casseroles, bear in mind that each extra pound of bird yields about 1 cup of cooked meat.

Below is a turkey salad recipe with a new and different twist that is sure to delight family and guest alike.

Turkey Salad



2 cups Turkey chopped or ground
2 cups Celery, chopped
½ cup water chestnuts, sliced
½ tsp. pepper
2 cups Beansprouts, drained
½ cup green peppers, finely chopped
½ tsp. ginger
1½ Tbls. vinegar

Toss all ingredients with the following salad dressing recipe and chill before serving.

2 Tbls. All purpose flour
1 Tbl. sugar
1 tesp. dry mustard
½ tesp. salt (optional)
dash cayenne

Stir in slightly beaten egg and ¾ cup skim milk. Cook and stir over very low heat until thick and bubbly. Stir in 3 Tbls. vinegar; Chill. Makes 1 cup.

Did you miss the Gazpacho appetizer recipe last week? Call Wendy Wakefield R.D. 334-2155 for recipe or if interested in the Heart Cook Book. Be looking for our broccoli recipe in next week's column.

ONE OF A SERIES OF ADS ABOUT THE CHANGES IN YOUR PHONE COMPANY

HOW TO GET YOUR PHONE FIXED NOW.

Because of divestiture, the separation of AT&T and its local operating companies, there will be some changes in C&P's repair service.

C&P will still be taking care of your phone lines, of course, but the job of fixing your phones is going to AT&T.

So, if a phone in your home isnt working, the first thing to do is find out whether the trouble is in the phone set or in the phone line.

The charts below will tell you how. Whats more, they'll tell you what to do once you know.

Please, read them. And hang onto them.

Because if you call us out to fix the phone line, and the problem is really in the phone, you will be charged for the visit, and the phone will still need repair.

Understanding change always makes it easier.

And well be explaining other changes at the phone company in information with your phone bill. And in more ads like this.

After all, it's good to know what's happening. And you can count on us to help.

That's one thing that will never change.

WE CAN HELP.

1. FIRST, FIND OUT WHETHER THE PROBLEM IS IN THE PHONE OR IN THE LINE.

KNOW THE NUMBER AND TYPE OF PHONES IN YOUR HOUSE.

FOLLOW THESE EASY DIRECTIONS.

1 PHONE WITH MODULAR PLUG

1 PHONE THAT CAN'T BE UNPLUGGED

2 OR MORE PHONES WITH OR WITHOUT PLUGS

Borrow another phone from a neighbor, if you can, and plug it into the problem phone jack. If that phone doesnt work, the problem is in the line. If it does work, the problem is in the phone.

Call C&P Repair Service. The number is listed in the Customer Guide in the front of your White Pages. A repair technician will help you find out where the problem is.

Check your extensions. If the problem is in 1 phone, it's probably in the phone. If the problem is in 2 phones, it's probably in the line.

2. HERE'S WHAT TO DO ONCE YOU KNOW WHERE THE PROBLEM IS.

LINE PROBLEM
Call C&P Repair Service. The number is listed in the Customer Guide in the front of your White Pages. There will be no charge for repairs.

PHONE PROBLEM
If you pay a monthly charge to C&P for a phone
Call 1 800 555-8111.

If you bought your phone from AT&T, C&P or any other local Bell phone company
Call 1 800 555-8111.

If you bought your phone somewhere else
Follow instructions from store where you bought your phone.

OUR COMPANY IS CHANGING. IF YOU WOULD LIKE TO KNOW MORE ABOUT HOW THESE CHANGES AFFECT YOU, CALL US AT 1 800 555-5000.

THE WINNER of one-half baby beef, raffled off recently by the Garrett County Commission on Aging, was Matthew Redinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Redinger, 803 E. High Street, Oakland. The beef was donated by Miller's Market. The Commission grossed just over $1,000 on the raffle, which will be used to offset federal funding cutbacks. Pictured left to right are Matthew, his sister Megan, and Glen Teagarden of Miller's Market. Mr. Teagarden is holding the winning ticket.

Truck Inspection Details Released

Inspections will be done by the Truck Enforcement Division of the Maryland State Police.

Although the new regulations are now in effect, according to a police spokesman, Maryland residents have until the end of 1983 to comply.
